Description:

Business event contents:
Jugendliche eignen sich Geschlecht - hier spezifisch Männlichkeit - auf unterschiedliche Weise an. Dementsprechend kann von verschiedenen Männlichkeitskonstruktionen gesprochen werden. Manche Aneignungsformen und -prozesse werden dabei gesellschaftlich problematisiert, wodurch entsprechende Männlichkeitskonstruktionen marginalisiert werden. Die Übung setzt hier an und fragt: Wie eignen sich Jugendliche Männlichkeit an? Wie wird Männlichkeit unter Jugendlichen ausgehandelt und sichtbar gemacht? Welche Bedingungen prägen diese Prozesse? Ausgehend von zentralen theoretischen Ansätzen der Männlichkeitsforschung werden Ansätze zu männlich vergeschlechtlichten Sozialisationsprozessen in der Jugend beleuchtet. Zugleich thematisieren wir, wie Männlichkeit empirisch erforscht werden kann, welche methodischen Zugänge und Entscheidungen sich anbieten und inwiefern Forschung bestimmte Konstruktionen (mit)reproduzieren kann. Betrachtet werden in der Übung unterschiedliche Felder und Praktiken, die gesellschaftlich eher problematisiert werden, in denen Jugendliche Männlichkeit hervorbringen und verhandeln.

Description:

Business event contents:
In der heutigen Zeit wachsen Kinder in den unterschiedlichsten Lebenssituationen auf, woraus sich vielfältige und ungleiche Kindheiten ergeben. Die Ungleichheitsforschung zeigt, dass die Kategorien Geschlecht, Klasse und Generation hierbei besonders prägend sind und dazu führen, dass Kinder ungleich aufwachsen. In der Übung werden wir uns zunächst mit dem Begriff der sozialen Ungleichheit auseinandersetzen und erörtern, was er für Kinder bedeutet. Anschliessend betrachten wir die theoretischen Diskussionen der sozialwissenschaftlichen Kindheitsforschung und beschäftigen uns mit den Kategorien Geschlecht, Klasse und Generation und gehen dabei folgenden Fragen nach: Wie prägen Geschlechterrollen die Kindheit? Wie bestimmt die soziale Klasse das Aufwachsen von Kindern? Inwiefern sind Kinder als Generation den Erwachsenen in einem Machtverhältnis unterworfen? In der Übung setzen wir uns kritisch mit Ungleichheitsverhältnissen in der Kindheit auseinander, diskutieren die gesellschaftlichen Dimensionen dahinter und erörtern gemeinsam Chancen und Herausforderungen für das einzelne Kind. Anhand von theoretischen Texten, empirischen Beispielen, ausgesuchten Videos und verschiedenen Diskussionsformaten setzen sich die Studierenden damit auseinander, wie Kindheit in sozialer Ungleichheit aussehen kann. Dabei bearbeiten die Studierenden ein für sie relevantes Thema individuell und evaluieren, wie Ungleichheiten Kindheiten prägen.

Der Ausdruck «Jugendliche mit Migrationshintergrund» fungiert sowohl in medial-politischen, wie auch wissenschaftlichen Diskursen als zentraler Bezugspunkt. Dabei lassen sich sowohl problematisierende als auch vulnerabilisierende Perspektiven beobachten. In diesen werden Differenzierungsprozesse sichtbar, durch die migrationsgesellschaftliche Zugehörigkeitsordnungen erzeugt und fortgeschrieben werden. Doch auf wen beziehen sich diese Diskurse eigentlich? Implizit sind damit häufig auch jene Jugendlichen gemeint, die unter dem Begriff der «Zweiten Generation» firmieren - also junge Menschen, die im sogenannten «Ankunftsland» geboren und aufgewachsen sind und dennoch oftmals keine gesicherte Zugehörigkeit erfahren. In der Übung beschäftigen wir uns einerseits mit Diskursen: Wie und worüber wird gesprochen, wenn über die «Zweite Generation» gesprochen wird? Andererseits tasten wir uns an das empirische Phänomen heran: Wer ist die sogenannte «Zweite Generation»? Welche spezifischen Lebensrealitäten teilen Jugendliche der zweiten Generation? Von welchen Differenzierungsprozessen sind sie betroffen, und welche Thematisierungs- und Bearbeitungsweisen der Jugendlichen selbst lassen sich in diesem Zusammenhang beobachten? Mit diesen Fragen setzen wir uns in der Übung entlang verschiedener Schwerpunkte anhand theoretischer Konzeptionen, empirischer Arbeiten und Beispiele auseinander. Ziel ist es, eine differenzierte sozialwissenschaftliche Perspektive auf das Phänomen zu entwickeln und dabei ein Verständnis für migrationsgesellschaftliche Verhältnisse zu vertiefen.

Event Fachdidaktik Deutsch III: Schreibdidaktik und Leistungsbeurteilung
06SE090De3a / Seminar / 968

Description:

Business event contents:
Schreiben ist im gymnasialen Deutschunterricht sowohl Unterrichtsgegenstand als auch Lernmethode. Entsprechend wird in diesem Seminar das Schreiben aus unterschiedlichsten Perspektiven thematisiert: Wie können Portfolios und Schreibjournale im Unterricht eingesetzt werden? Welche Bedeutung kann wissenschaftliches oder kreatives Schreiben in der Sekundarstufe haben? In diesem Kontext muss auch immer wieder der Blick auf die Leistungsbeurteilung gerichtet werden. Es gilt zu reflektieren, wie mit den Texten der Lernenden umgegangen wird. In diesem Rahmen werden schliesslich Entwürfe für eigene Unterrichtsprojekte entwickelt, in denen die verschiedenen Funktionen von Schreiben und Überlegungen zur Bewertung der Schreibprodukte im Mittelpunkt stehen.

Notes:
Der Kurs verlangt von den Studierenden die Bereitschaft, Unterrichtseinheiten zu entwickeln und zu reflektieren. Entsprechend werden ein beendetes Fachstudium und erste Lehrerfahrungen empfohlen.

Event Fachdidaktik Physik II: Motivierender und lernwirksamer Unterricht
06SE090Phy2 / Seminar / 991

Description:

Business event contents:
Lernziele:

Die Studierenden sind in der Lage, zu einem vorgegebenen Thema eine Unterrichtssequenz mittels Backward Design nach fachdidaktischen Gesichtspunkten zu erstellen und zu evaluieren.
Dazu gehört, dass sie die zentralen Konzepte und essentiellen Fragen der Unterrichtsinhalte identifizieren und die angestrebte Wissensstruktur in einer Concept Map veranschaulichen können. Sie berücksichtigen zentrale Prinzipien des Lernens (z.B. Vorwissen, Lernschwierigkeiten, Motivation) in ihrer Unterrichtsentwicklung und können Aktivitäten für Schülerinnen und Schüler designen, die das Lernen sichtbar machen (z.B. Clicker Sessions, Hands-on-Experimente, POE-Experimente, Applets, White Boards).
Den Lernerfolg können die Studierenden mit Hilfe verschiedener Instrumente beurteilen.

Inhalte:

In der Veranstaltung werden die Grundlagen zum Backward Design, wichtige Prinzipien des Lernens (Aufbau einer Wissensstruktur, Vorwissen und Lernschwierigkeiten, Motivation, Peer-Learning, Formatives Assessment, Mastery und Selbststeuerung) und eine Auswahl verschiedener Unterrichtsmethoden erarbeitet. Darauf aufbauend werden Unterrichtseinheiten zu vorgegebenen Themen der Physik für die Gymnasialstufe entwickelt und mittels Review- und Präsentationssequenzen evaluiert. Das Design und die Unterlagen der Unterrichtseinheiten werden in Portfolios festgehalten und erläutert.

Notes:
Der erfolgreiche Abschluss der Fachdidaktik I ist Voraussetzung für den Besuch dieser Vorlesung.

Event Methodenlehre und Rechtstheorie
02VL60PM3-1 / Course / 4,318

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Lehrveranstaltung führt in die Grundlagen der Methodenlehre sowie der Rechtstheorie ein. Thematisiert werden dabei die juristischen Auslegungs- und Argumentationsmethoden, die Beziehung zwischen Recht und Sprache, Probleme der juristischen Begründung sowie die ideengeschichtliche Einordnung der Methodenlehre in theoretische Diskurse. Die Verbindung von juristischer Auslegung und Begründung mit normativen Theorien wird untersucht und wesentliche Probleme normativer Theoriebildung werden erörtert. Ein Überblick über Form und Kerninhalte von Rechtsordnungen aus theoretischer Perspektive soll verschafft werden, um die Frage nach dem Gehalt und der Legitimation der Leitideen moderner Rechtsordnungen und ihrer Rolle in der Rechtsanwendung zu beantworten. Welche Bedeutung haben Gerechtigkeit, Freiheit, Gleichheit und Würde von Personen in der konkreten Rechtsanwendung und juristischen Argumentation? Welche anderen normativen Prinzipien sind relevant? Weiter wird untersucht, welchen Grad an Gewissheit die Auslegung und Begründung von Recht gewinnen kann. Welche Rationalitätsansprüche können in einer Rechtskultur eingelöst werden? Welche sind für einen demokratischen Rechtsstaat unverzichtbar? Die Reflexion der Methoden der Rechtsanwendung, so wird sich zeigen, führt zwangsläufig zu einer ideengeschichtlich orientierte Theorie von Demokratie, Menschenrechten und rechtlicher Gerechtigkeit.

Event Rechtsphilosophie
02VL120GL1-1 / Course / 4,319

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Vorlesung führt in Grundfragen der Rechtsphilosophie ein. Sie klärt, warum Rechtsphilosophie ein ebenso zentraler wie faszinierender Teil der Rechtswissenschaften ist. Anhand verschiedener Beispiele aus der Ideengeschichte werden die grundlegenden normativen Leitideen moderner demokratischer Verfassungsstaaten und der internationalen Rechtsordnung wie Menschenwürde und Menschenrechte, Freiheit, Gleichheit, soziale Solidarität, Demokratie, Gerechtigkeit, Schuld und Verantwortung entwickelt. Die Vorlesung untersucht zudem den erkenntnistheoretischen Grad der Begründetheit von normativen Prinzipien. Ist die Idee der Menschenwürde beispielsweise eine zeit- und kulturgebundene, schnell vergehende, flüchtige Vorstellung oder ein tief und dauerhaft begründetes Rechtsprinzip? Auch die Frage, ob Menschen tatsächlich Willensfreiheit geniessen, wird im Lichte der kognitionswissenschaftlichen Forschung der Gegenwart diskutiert. Ist Autonomie vielleicht nur eine selbstverliebte Illusion der Menschen? Durchwegs werden die philosophischen Fragen auf praktische Probleme des Rechts der Gegenwart bezogen und an ihnen in ihrem Gehalt erprobt. Die Theorie, um die es geht, hat unmittelbar praktische Bedeutung.

Event Geography of Sustainability Transitions
07BLGEO835.1 / Seminar / 1,262

Description:

Business event contents:
The course is organized in two phases. First, a set of theoretical background papers will be discussed in class in four consecutive 2h seminar sessions. Then, a speaker from the city of Zurich will be invited to introduce the city's strategy for establishing a 2000W society. Students will pick an empirical topic related to this ongoing transition process and prepare a seminar paper that analyzes either the emerging innovation system structures around radical environmental innovations, or the multi-scalar regime structures that hinder rapid change. In a final session, the conceptual and empirical insights will be brought together to a synthesized view on how local transition processes are conditioned by multi-scalar actor structures, institutional arrangement and innovation processes.
The course will put particular emphasis on active student involvement and provide ample space for discussion in groups and in the whole class.
Each seminar session includes self-directed student work, both individually and in groups, discussion in the class, and brief lecture inputs.
As the seminar depends on the active participation of all students, it is required that they prepare the course material and are present in the sessions. Students are required to

- have read the background papers (ca. 8 papers) and be prepared to discuss them in class. Please prepare in a way that you are able to understand the readings and to briefly summarize the text's key arguments as well as your answers to specific questions to the readings.
You should expect a weekly reading assignment of approximately 20 pages.
- prepare one seminar paper in relation to the seminar theme (team of 2)
- present the seminar paper's main results to the rest of the group (teams of 2, 15 min.)
.Any written work handed-in throughout the seminar needs to be in line with the standards of good scholarly practice, particularly regarding citations, in-text references and bibliography. If you are in doubt, please consult our Online Guidelines for Academic Research and Writing (http://www.geo.uzh.ch/microsite/olwa/olwa/en/html/index.html; there is also a German version)

Notes:
Since this course is a discussion seminar and relies on group work, we expect that students do not miss more than two seminar sessions and would appreciate if absences were communicated in advance to the lecturers when possible.

Event Seminar: Ethics and Religion
01SE53LM002d / Seminar / 2,870

Description:

Business event contents:
Kaum jemand würde bezweifeln, dass Begriffe wie «Moral», «Ethik», «Werte» und «Normen» mit etwas zu tun haben, das religionswissenschaftlich höchst relevant ist. Sie verweisen darauf, dass sowohl religiöse wie auch nicht-religiöse Menschen ihr Handeln an bestimmten Wertorientierungen und Normsetzungen ausrichten, in Situationen normativer Unsicherheit aber auch abwägen und situativ pragmatische Entscheidungen treffen, die andere womöglich als unmoralisch ansehen. Welchen Stellenwert nimmt demzufolge Moral in der Gesellschaft ein? Welche Funktion hat sie? Wie lassen sich «Werte» religionswissenschaftlich erklären und wie gelangen Menschen zu ihren Werturteilen? Wie lässt sich Ethik aus religionswissenschaftlicher Perspektive verstehen? Die Lehrveranstaltung strebt an, mehr Klarheit in diese gleichermassen zentralen wie unterbestimmten Begriffe und die mit ihnen verknüpften Fragestellungen zu bringen.

Event HE: Advanced Course Hermeneutics: Hermeneutics and/as Critique
01SE23LB020 / Seminar / 1,479

Description:

Business event contents:
Als Methodenlehre des Verstehens und Interpretierens hat die Hermeneutik zwingend eine normative Dimension. Sie zielt nicht nur darauf, Verstehensprozesse zu beschreiben, sie evaluiert sie auch und will zu besserem Verstehen anleiten. Die Hermeneutik hat, anders gesagt, eine kritische Funktion. Sie schärft begründet ein, dass man etwas nicht nur anders verstehen könnte, sondern sollte. Versteht und untersucht man die Hermeneutik "als Kritik", tritt ihr normativer Zug besonders deutlich hervor. Zugleich ruft die Formel "Hermeneutik und Kritik" historische Debatten auf: Sie erinnert etwa an die Kritik als Arbeitsschritt philologischer Texthermeneutik (Schleiermacher), sie verweist aber auch auf die Frontstellung zwischen der hermeneutischen Philosophie (Gadamer) und der Ideologiekritik (Habermas et al.). Schliesslich kommt der Kritik, in Begriff und Sache, aber auch in der jüngeren Forschungsdiskussion zwischen Sozialphilosophie, Hermeneutik und Epistemologie eine prominente Rolle zu (u. a. Butler, Fricker, Jaeggi, Vogelmann). Das gibt Anlass, die Beziehungen von Hermeneutik und Kritik eigens zu thematisieren, historisch wie gegenwärtig. Der Kurs lädt besonders dazu ein, das Verstehen und das Kritisieren anhand von Fallbeispielen praxeologisch zu erschliessen: Was zeichnet ihr Zusammenspiel im Vollzug aus? Was tut eine kritische Hermeneutik auf ihren jeweiligen Anwendungsfeldern konkret? Wo gibt sie vielleicht auch Anlass zur Kritik ihrer Kritik?

Ausgewählte Unterrichtsinhalte und Unterrichtssituationen im Fach Religion.
Die Vorlesung Fachdidaktik Religion II baut auf jener der Fachdidaktik Religion I auf. Auf der Basis reflektierter Praxiserfahrung und unter Einbezug von fach- und erziehungswissenschaftlicher Forschung werden praxisrelevante Fragestellungen vertieft. Einerseits werden weitere ausgewählte Unterrichtsinhalte und deren mögliche Umsetzungen thematisiert und - wo möglich - mit den Unterrichtserfahrungen der Studierenden in den Übungslektionen in Verbindung gebracht. Andererseits werden spezielle Unterrichtssituationen wie das Konzipieren und Bewerten von Prüfungen oder das Einholen von Feedback auf fachspezifischem Hintergrund reflektiert.

Event Hindi-Seminar: Gender und Liminalität im Roman Tyāgpatr von Jainendra Kumar
06SE330o026a / Seminar / 1,495

Description:

Business event contents:
In diesem Hindi-Seminar werden Auszüge aus dem 1937 erschienenen Roman Tyāgpatr ("Abschiedsbrief") von Jainendra Kumar (1905-1988) gelesen. Mit viel psychologischem Feingefühl schildert er die Lebensgeschichte einer Frau, deren Verhalten den gesellschaftlichen Konventionen widerspricht, und die trotz (und wegen) ihrer Bemühungen um Anpassung und Integration immer tiefer in die soziale Verelendung gerät.

Notes:
Da der Originaltext übersetzt und interpretiert wird, sind Hindi-Kenntnisse für die Teilnahme unerlässlich.

Description:

Business event contents:
In der Ringvorlesung werden Denkerinnen und Denker vorgestellt, deren literaturtheoretische Konzeptionen heute von Bedeutung für den wissenschaftlichen Umgang mit Literatur sind. Dazu gehören z.B. Event Kunst-Diplomatie. Netzwerke karolingischer Kunst
06SE640-501a / Seminar / 1,779

Description:

Business event contents:
Macht und Herrschaft im frühmittelalterlichen Europa waren geprägt durch persönliche Netzwerke der politischen Akteure. Künstler:innen waren dabei wichtige Agenten im Austausch von Luxusgütern, deren Schenkung bei der Anbahnung von Beziehungen, ihrer Aufrechterhaltung und ihrem Ausbau eine ebenso bedeutende Rolle zukam, wie beim Abbruch und der Neuformierung der Beziehungsgeflechte Plünderung und Raub. Am Beispiel der karolingischen Eliten werden die Funktionsweisen frühmittelalterlicher Kunst-Diplomatie bei der Etablierung des Herrschaftsgefüges der Karolinger untersucht. Die im Seminar behandelten Themenblöcke stellen Fragen nach der Anwendbarkeit kunsthistorischer Grundbegriffe wie Raum, Schule und Stil, die in der jüngeren Literatur auf Grundlage der Netzwerktheorie eine tiefgreifende Neubewertung erfahren haben. Welche Rolle spielt geographische Distanz im Kontrast zu lokal verfügbaren Ressourcen und Materialien für den Wissenstransfer, der mit der Geschenks-Diplomatie einherging? Wie spiegelt sich das über Geschenke etablierte Beziehungsnetzwerk in der stilistischen Affinität einzelner Kunstwerke in weit voneinander entfernten geographischen Räumen wider? Welche Bedeutung kommt geschenkten und geraubten Kunstwerken in diesen Prozessen zu? Anhand einer Vielzahl unterschiedlicher Quellen - von der Klosterchronik, der anekdotischen Vita zur Briefliteratur - und Kunstwerken mannigfaltiger Materialität - wie z. B. Steinepitaphien, Elfenbeinen, Textilien und mit Goldschrift geschriebenen Prachthandschriften - wird im Seminar versucht die Netzwerke karolingischer Kunst-Diplomatie und ihrer Akteure zu rekonstruieren.

Event Schatten im Film: Ästhetik und Technologie
06SE255o012a / Seminar / 4,923

Description:

Business event contents:
In diesem Aufbauseminar werden Schatten als wesentlicher Bestandteil filmischer Gestaltung behandelt. Obwohl Schatten im Kino allgegenwärtig sind, werden sie in der Filmanalyse oft nur am Rande berücksichtigt. Das Seminar setzt hier an und untersucht, wie man Schatten filmisch gestaltet, wie man sie wahrnimmt und welche ästhetischen Wirkungen sie entfalten. Das Ziel besteht darin, Schatten nicht als blosse Begleiterscheinung von Licht, sondern als bewusst eingesetztes Ausdrucksmittel des Mediums Film zu betrachten.
Ausgehend vom Stummfilm werden in diesem Seminar verschiedene historische Phasen bis zum Gegenwartskino betrachtet. Dabei wird analysiert, wie sich die jeweiligen visuellen Konzepte von Schatten auf die Filmästhetik auswirken und inwiefern diesbezügliche Veränderungen mit technologischen bzw. technischen Entwicklungen verbunden sind. Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt liegt auf dem Vergleich von Live-Action-Film und Zeichentrickfilm. Die jeweils unterschiedlichen gestalterischen und technologischen Voraussetzungen führen zu eigenen ästhetischen Erscheinungsformen, die im Seminar vergleichend untersucht werden.
Methodisch arbeitet das Seminar mit der formalen Filmanalyse der historischen Poetik, insbesondere in Anlehnung an Bordwell und Thompson (1985). Anhand ausgewählter Filmausschnitte werden Schattendarstellungen im Seminar genau beobachtet und in ihren technologischen und historischen Zusammenhängen analysiert. Die Lernziele bestehen darin, die filmische Beobachtungsfähigkeit zu schärfen, ein vertieftes Verständnis für die ästhetischen Besonderheiten, insbesondere von Zeichentrickfilmen, zu entwickeln und die Beziehung zwischen technologischen Voraussetzungen, ästhetischer Gestaltung und filmischer Wirkung differenziert zu erfassen.

Event Staat und Gewalt. Problem und Lösungsansätze
06SE615-BAk / Seminar / 2,959

Description:

Business event contents:
Der Philosoph Thomas Hobbes sah den Staat als das zentrale Instrument zur Eindämmung von Gewalt. Daraus leitet sich das Gewaltmonopol moderner Staaten ab. Aber in allen Staaten gibt es nichtstaatliche Gruppierungen und Individuen, die Gewalt für ihre Zwecke nutzen und damit das Gewaltmonopol untergraben. Aussserdem üben staatliche Akteure Gewalt in anderen Staaten aus. Warum? Diese Frage steht im Zentrum des Seminars "Staat und Gewalt - Problem und Lösungsansätze".

Um sie zu beantworten, analysieren wir zuerst die Ursachen verschiedener Formen von Gewalt. Dabei betrachten wir politische Gewalt im Kontext von Kriegen und Terrorismus, kriminelle Gewalt durch Banden, transnationale Mafias und Kleinkriminelle, sowie soziale Gewalt wie Lynchjustiz und Ausschreitungen. Im Fokus steht dabei die Rolle des Staates und die Frage, wie Gewalt verhindert und Frieden gestiftet werden kann. Das Seminar verfolgt also einen lösungsorientierten Ansatz.

Dies ist das zweite Semester des Spezialisierungsseminars zu "Staat und Gewalt". Das Seminar bietet Inhalte, die den Studierenden in der Ausarbeitung der Bachelorarbeit helfen sollen.

Event Network Analysis
06SN683o001a / Sonstiges / 2,170

Description:

Business event contents:
The course will present an introduction to Network Analysis and its application to archaeology. Network analysis consists in the application of mathematical graph theory to practical case studies, such as the study of human social interactions ("Social Network Analysis"). It also finds interesting applications in archaeology, where networks can represent connexions between archeological sites, or artifacts (among others). The study of such archaeological networks can reveal interesting patterns of diffusion, as well as exclusion patterns. The course will not require any prior knowledge in mathematics, graph theory, or programming. The main reference for the course will be the book "Network Science in Archaeology", by Tom Brughmans and Matthew Peeples (Cambridge, 2023).

Event Hybrid landscapes: Water Infrastructures Beyond Nature and Culture
06SE600-054a / Seminar / 3,437

Description:

Business event contents:
The development of infrastructures - roads, bridges, canals, power lines, or telegraphs, all the way up to 21st century server networks - is one the most important factors for the development of the modern world and society as we know it today.
However, infrastructures are (still) often conceived of purely as technological artifacts, made by humans to subjugate and harness natural forces to put the project of modernity into practice. Unleashing human freedom, in this view, is intimately tied to the control and appropriation of nature. By contrast, in the last 20 years scholars interested in the relationship of technology and the environment have developed useful conceptual tools to understand infrastructures rather as hybrid socio-ecological systems or "envirotechnical systems"; in other words: nature and culture fused.

While infrastructures surely are means to control nature, they remain deeply embedded in non-human environments and often create new environmental contexts. In this sense, they are neither superimposed on nature, nor completely naturalized. Rather, infrastructures meld environments and technologies and form new "manufactured landscapes" which need to be understood in their own terms. More recently, scholars such as Dolly Jørgensen have expanded on this approach to account for the agency of non-human actors in shaping "anthropogenic" environments - animals and plants colonize and appropriate human-made structures and use them for their own ends. Not only can a river be made into infrastructure, but every canal turns into a river in no time.

Therefore, in this course, we will study the history of modern infrastructures as highly dynamic hybrid landscapes which are a result of an interplay of humans, animals, plants, technology, climate, water, soil, and much more. Focusing on water infrastructures - dams, canals, pumps, etc. -, in this course, we will investigate these interactions beyond the dichotomy of nature and culture.

Event "Nu ist daz bat so manigvalde": Bäderarchitektur von der Antike bis heute
06SE640-006a / Seminar / 3,405

Description:

Business event contents:
Von antiken Thermen über mittelalterliche Schwitz- und Wildbäder bis hin zu frühneuzeitlichen Kurbädern oder modernen Flussbadis: Die Bäderarchitektur ist so vielseitig wie die Badekultur selbst und über die Epochen hinweg integraler Bestandteil gesellschaftlicher Praxis. Im Seminar werden wir anhand ausgewählter Fallbeispiele nicht nur die Architekturgeschichte des Bades in typologisch-formaler Hinsicht behandeln, sondern die Bauten auch aus kulturhistorischer Perspektive in Beziehung zueinander setzen: Wie waren sie in den urbanen/ländlichen Raum und damit in den Lebensalltag eingebunden? Wie vermittelt die Architektur zwischen Privatheit und Öffentlichkeit? Welche räumlichen Trennungen existieren hinsichtlich Geschlecht, sozialem Status oder gesellschaftlicher Funktion?
Ziel des Seminars ist es, Bäder nicht nur als architektonische Objekte, sondern auch als Orte kultureller Praktiken und sozialer Strukturen zu verstehen.

Notes:
Grundkenntnisse der architektonischen Terminologie sind für die Teilnahme von Vorteil.
Bei Interesse kann eine Tagesexkursion nach Baden (AG) durchgeführt werden, Details werden in der ersten Sitzung besprochen.

Event Farbenspiele: Einführung zur Ikonographie der Farben in der Kunst des Mittelalters und der frühen Neuzeit
06SE640-022a / Seminar / 1,020

Description:

Business event contents:
Bedingt durch die vielfach schwarz-weisse Reproduktion von Kunstwerken war die Beschäftigung mit der Kunst des Mittelalters und der frühen Neuzeit häufig entweder farbenblind oder von theoretischen Prämissen geprägt, die der Vielfalt der unterschiedlichen Erscheinungsweisen von Farben und den durch sie vermittelten Bedeutungen kaum gerecht werden. Das Seminar rückt das «Changieren» von Farben und Bedeutungen ins Zentrum und stellt in vier grossen Themenblöcken die methodischen Herausforderungen vor, die mit dem Farbenspiel mittelalterlicher und frühneuzeitlicher Kunstwerke verbunden sind. Welche visuellen Eigenschaften prägen die Farbwahrnehmung zwischen Antike und Renaissance und inwieweit ist die Kategorisierung dieser visuellen Eigenschaften historischen Veränderungen unterworfen. Welche Bedeutungen sind mit den Materialien verknüpft, die Künstlerinnen und Künstler zur Farbdarstellung verwendeten? In welchem Verhältnis stehen Farbstoffe und Pigmente zur sprachlichen Beschreibung und Auslegung einzelner Farben in den oft theologischen Schriftquellen? Welche Rückschlüsse auf die Netzwerke sozialer Interaktion und die sich wandelnden gesellschaftlichen Bedeutungen von Farben und Farbkategorien lassen sich aus der Analyse von Bildern und Schriftquellen gewinnen? Das Seminar lädt ein, Ikonographie jenseits von Schwarz und Weiss zu erkunden, mit schillernden Pfauenfedern und Purpurschattierungen, die in allen Farben des Regenbogens glänzen.

Description:

Business event contents:
Wer benennt, wen, wann und wie? Diese vier W-Fragen zielen in den Kern historischer Auseinandersetzung mit gesellschaftlichen Kategorisierungspraktiken. Dabei fragen wir uns einerseits, wie sich die bisherige sozial-, politik- und geschlechtergeschichtliche Forschung mit solchen Phänomenen auseinandersetzte. Andererseits erforschen wir anhand verschiedener Quellen/Beispielen aus der spätmittelalterlichen Eidgenossenschaft und der Neuzeit (Kolonialismus bis postkoloniale Staatenbildung), wie sich dieses "Herrschen durch Begriffe" erfassen und historisieren lässt: Wie wurden Menschen unterschiedlich markiert, konnotiert und sanktioniert (bspw. durch Geschlecht, Religion, und gesellschaftliche Schicht etc.)? Wie wurden Debatten gesellschaftlich, politisch und administrativ geführt? Welche Machtverhältnisse führten zu einem Verlangen nach Kontrolle von und Einordnung in bestimmte Kategorien? Inwiefern bilden diese Einordnungen gesellschaftliche Realitäten tatsächlich ab? Anhand erarbeiteter Antworten auf diese Leitfragen reflektieren wir gemeinsam über Kontinuitäten und Unterschiede zwischen Spätmittelalter und Neuzeit.
Neben inhaltlichen Schwerpunkten vermittelt das Seminar grundlegende geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeitstechniken wie Recherche- und Lesemethoden, korrektes Zitieren sowie den Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten und historischen Quellen.

Event Politik und Demokratie in der Stadt
06VL615-035a / Course / 2,320

Description:

Business event contents:
Diese Veranstaltung bietet eine Einführung in politikwissenschaftliche Perspektiven zu urbanen Themen und Anliegen. Unsere zentrale Frage wird dabei sein, wie sich Städte (demokratisch) steuern lassen.
Entsprechend wird ein erster unserer Schwerpunkte die politische Steuerung sein (engl., governance). Wie wird Macht angewandt? Wie und warum wirken politische Programme (policies)? Wie kann Politik inklusiver und effektiver gestaltet werden? Ein zweiter Schwerpunkt wird dann die 'Stadt' als politikwissenschaftlicher Untersuchungsgegenstand sein, insbesondere bezogen auf die politische Steuerung von Ballungsräumen, die sich über mehrere Gebietskörperschaften erstrecken. Die Herausforderungen und Möglichkeiten einer solchen Steuerung werden wir anhand verschiedener Theorien und Beispiele besprechen. Schon heute leben mehr als 50 % aller Menschen in Städten. Und die politische, wirtschaftliche und kulturelle Bedeutung von Städten wird, allen Prognosen nach, weiter zunehmen. Gleichzeitig sehen sich Städte auch immer grösseren Herausforderungen gegenüber, wie etwa Verkehr, Klimawandel oder Gentrifizierung. Eine vertiefte Auseinandersetzung mit dieser faszinierenden 'Umwelt' ist daher nicht nur höchst aktuell, sondern auch sehr nützlich in Wissenschaft, Wirtschaft, Journalismus und natürlich der Praxis.

Event Affluence, wealth concentration and inequality, 1880-2020
06VL600o003a / Course / 235

Description:

Business event contents:
Battered by world wars, economic crises and the rise of progressive taxation, extreme wealth seemed on the wane during the 20thcentury in most capitalist societies. Yet, during the last generation, the return of wealth concentration on a global and unheard scale has attracted renewed scholarly interest, intense public scrutiny as well as heated political controversies.

Are we witnessing the return of wealth concentration levels unseen since the 1890s Belle Époque? How did the social profiles and public perceptions of top wealth evolve during the 20th century? And what are the social, political, economic, and cultural factors that drove both the de-concentration and the re-concentration of wealth?

This lecture course aims to provide answers to these questions by surveying the evolution, structure, and dynamics of top wealth in a centennial perspective. The core capitalist countries, where private wealth has been (and is still) mostly concentrated, will be the focus of this lecture.

The case studies and evolutions presented during the semester will also give students the opportunity to familiarize themselves with classical scholarship on top wealth and inequality as well as new research perspectives.

This lecture course will be based on historical scholarship and source materials. We will however also discuss top wealth from an interdisciplinary perspective, including neighboring social sciences such as sociology, economics, or political science.

Notes:
This lecture course will not be recorded and/or made available online.

Course Materials:	Materials presented and discussed during weekly sessions as well as weekly readings (available on https://www.olat.uzh.ch) will form the basis for the written exam.

Event Kolonialismus, Imperialismus: die Schweiz und die «Überseegebiete»
06KO600o017a / Colloquium / 3,550

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Beteiligung der Schweiz an der kolonialen Herrschaft und an imperialistischen Strukturen ist heute Gegenstand oft hitziger Debatten und steht im Mittelpunkt zahlreicher gedenkhistorischer, wissenschaftlicher und politischer Initiativen. Im Rahmen dieses Kolloquiums werden wir Quellen und Studien zur kolonialen und imperialen Vergangenheit der modernen Schweiz, d. h. seit der Gründung des Bundesstaates im Jahr 1848, untersuchen. Aus dieser Perspektive können wir hervorheben, dass die Debatten über den Kolonialismus - sei er als wünschenswert und gewinnbringend angesehen oder im Gegenteil als unerträgliche und rassistische Form der Herrschaft kritisiert und angeprangert - nicht erst mit dem Aufkommen der sogenannten «postkolonialen» Studien zu Beginn des 21. Jahrhunderts begonnen haben, sondern ein fester Bestandteil der Geschichte unserer Gesellschaft sind.

Event Politik und Demokratie in den Gemeinden erforschen
06SE615o533a / Seminar / 3,551

Description:

Business event contents:
Veranstaltungstitel: Politik und Demokratie in den Gemeinden erforschen: Blended Intensive Program in Zusammenarbeit mit Universitäten in Abo (FIN), Darmstadt (DE), Madrid (SP) und Warschau (PL)
Veranstaltungsinhalt: Dieses Forschungsmodul findet im Rahmen des Blended Intensive Programmes (BIP) der EU statt, durch das im Rahmen von ERASMUS bzw. SEMP gemeinsame Lehrveranstaltungen von Universitäten verschiedener Länder gefördert werden.
Das Seminar besteht entsprechend der Regelungen des Programms aus drei Teilen.
In einem ersten Teil beschäftigen sich die Teilnehmerinnen und Teilnehmer in Veranstaltungen, die an den beteiligten Universitäten durchgeführt werden, mit den Aufgaben und den internen Strukturen von Gemeinden in ihren Ländern sowie deren Veränderungen in den letzten Jahren und Jahrzehnten und der Stellung von Gemeinden gegenüber übergeordneten Regierungsebenen. Dabei erstellen Sie eigene Forschungsarbeiten, für welche Sie auf bestehende Datensätze des internationalen Forschungsverbunds 'Political Leaders in Europe' benutzen können. In einem zweiten Teil treffen sich die Teilnehmenden virtuell, um vor allem zu klären, was sie an der kommunalen Ebene in den anderen Ländern interessiert. Ein dritter Teil besteht aus einer gemeinsamen Veranstaltung ("summer school"), die vom 23. bis 27. Juni 2025 an der Technischen Universität Darmstadt stattfinden wird. Auf dieser Veranstaltung stellen die beteiligten Studierenden ihre im ersten Teil des Seminars erarbeiteten Befunde vor - zugespitzt auf die im virtuellen Teil des Seminars geäusserten besonderen Interessen der Studierenden aus den anderen Ländern.

Event «ferro magis quam auri pretio»; Eisen als Werkstoff durch die Epochen; Gewinnung – Verarbeitung – Verwendung
06UE640o201a / Exercise Group / 4,081

Description:

Business event contents:
Eisen ist seit etwa 800 v. Chr. - regional bereits ab 3300 v. Chr. - ein wichtiger Werkstoff. Von der Hallstattzeit bis in die Neuzeit war es der wichtigste Rohstoff für die Funktionskanten von Werkzeugen und hoch belastete Bauteile aller Art, teilweise auch für Prestigeobjekte, Amulette, Schmuck und mehr. Entsprechend gross war auch die Nachfrage und in Folge der wirtschaftliche Stellenwert des Eisenbergbaus, der Eisenverarbeitung und die Bedeutung von Eisen als Handelsgut.
In der Übung werden die Gewinnung, Verarbeitung und Verwendung von Eisen epochenübergreifend betrachtet und dabei der Bogen von den ersten Gegenständen aus meteoritischem Eisen bis zur (semi-) industriellen Serienfertigung von überregional vertriebener Massenware ab dem Hochmittelalter geschlagen. Erzabbau und Verhüttung werden ebenso thematisiert wie der Berufsstand der Schmiede, deren soziale Stellung und Rolle in der Mythologie, Schmiedemarken und deren Imitation, Schmiedewerkzeug und Schmiedetechniken, die Produktpalette mit besonderem Fokus auf Schweissverbundstoffe (laminierte, damaszierte und wurmbunte Klingen, Tauschierungen...), der Handel mit Rohmaterial und Fertigprodukten, Wertschätzung und Verwendung der Fertigprodukte und Recycling von Eisengegenständen. Dabei wird einerseits der Umgang mit Originalen aus archäologischen Fundkomplexen, andererseits mit funktional erhaltenen Beispielen und schliesslich mit archäometrischen Daten eingeübt. Mehrere Exkursionen runden das Übungsprogramm ab.

Event Jüdische Studien Seminar: What Does Scripture Mean? Reading Medieval Jewish Exegesis
01SE14SS054 / Seminar / 1,681

Description:

Business event contents:
In this course, we will examine the historical context, exegetical approaches, and methodologies of leading medieval Jewish biblical commentators. We will analyze their introductory writings and carefully examine their key interpretive principles. The course focuses primarily on three major scholars: Rabbi Solomon ben Isaac (Rashi), Rabbi Samuel ben Meir (Rashbam), and Rabbi Abraham Ibn Ezra. Through their commentaries, we will explore fundamental issues including: the tension between rabbinic legal midrash and peshat (the plain meaning of the biblical text), the distinctions between Eastern and Western European hermeneutical traditions, the influence of Jewish-Christian polemics, Jewish-Muslim discourse, and the Rabbinic-Karaite debate on these exegetes. We will also investigate their views on biblical authorship, their awareness of literary devices and techniques, and evaluate their lasting contribution to and significance in the history of biblical interpretation.

Event Jewish Studies Seminar: Judaism in Zurich
01SE14SS055 / Seminar / 1,680

Description:

Business event contents:
Wer durch die Brunngasse spaziert, auf Stolpersteine trifft oder am jüdischen Friedhof vorbeigeht, ahnt: Zürichs jüdische Geschichte ist allgegenwärtig – oft jedoch übersehen. Dieses Seminar macht sichtbar, was die Stadt über Jahrhunderte hinweg geprägt hat und bis heute prägt: jüdisches Leben in seiner ganzen Vielfalt.
Gemeinsam erkunden wir, wie sich das Judentum in Zürich entwickelt hat – religiös, kulturell, gesell-schaftlich. Theoretische Zugänge, historische Quellen und Gespräche mit Fachpersonen verbinden sich mit Exkursionen zu Zürcher Orten jüdischer Geschichte und Gegenwart: Wie wurde jüdisches Leben im Mittelalter möglich – und wie bedroht? Wie gestaltete sich jüdische Identität im 19. und 20. Jahrhun-dert? Wie erleben jüdische Menschen heute ihre Stadt? Diesen Fragen nähern wir uns forschend und erzählend.
Als Leistungsnachweis ist ein Blogbeitrag zu einem selbstgewählten jüdischen Ort in Zürich zu verfassen. Dieser wird gemäss der theos-Richtlinien erstellt und auf der gleichnamigen Plattform veröffentlicht (www.theos.unibe.ch). Die Beiträge werden anschliessend auf der Website der Sigi Feigel-Gastprofessur für Jüdische Studien an der UZH verlinkt. Die Teilnehmenden erlernen und erproben auf diese Weise Fertigkeiten des Science to public-Bereichs und schliessen das Seminar mit einem konkreten Produkt ab.

Event OT Seminar: (Im)mortality
01SE14SS053 / Seminar / 199

Description:

Business event contents:
Abseits antiker Mythen, religiöser Vorstellungen und literarischer Fantasien weckt die Frage des Zusammenhangs zwischen Sterblichkeit und Unsterblichkeit zunehmend auch das Interesse der Wissenschaften und Technik wie auch der Investoren an den Finanzmärkten. Während einerseits intensiv und konkret an der Gesundheit einer stets älter werdenden Gesellschaft geforscht und gearbeitet wird, nähren transhumanistische Visionen die Hoffnung oder auch Furcht, dass die Sterblichkeit für den Homo Deus überwindbar werden könnte, wie Harari diesen neuen Menschen nennt. Gleichzeitig denkt man darüber nach, ob extreme Langlebigkeit überhaupt ein wünschbares Ziel menschlicher Existenz sein kann. Das Seminar diskutiert die Frage von Sterblichkeit und Unsterblichkeit aus interdisziplinärer Perspektive von Theologie und Kulturwissenschaften, Biowissenschaften und Technologie. Dazu werden auch Expertinnen und Experten aus diesen Bereichen für einzelne Seminarsitzungen eingeladen.

Beyond classical myths, religious beliefs, and literary imaginaries, the relationship between mortality and immortality is increasingly arousing the interest of science and technology as well as the attention of investors in the financial markets. While, on the one hand, healthy longevity for ageing societies is the object of intense interdisciplinary academic research and professional work, transhumanist visions nurture the hope or fear that immortality can be created by Homo Deus, as Harari calls this new human being. At the same time people are wondering if extreme longevity can be a desirable goal of human existence at all. The course discusses questions of mortality and immortality from the interdisciplinary perspectives of theology and cultural studies, life sciences and technology. Additional experts from these fields will be invited to join specific sessions.

Event OT Reading Course: Qohelet
01UE14SU046 / Exercise Group / 198

Description:

Business event contents:
This course (taught in English) will engage in a close reading of the Hebrew text of the book of Qohelet. The class will cover on average a chapter per week, and the students will be expected to prepare their translations beforehand and be able tow ork through and explain their grammatical interpretation. Experience with biblical Hebrew is therefore required, although intermediate students ought to be able to keep pace. The book of Qohelet presents numerous literary and theological problems, and the course will pay careful attention to these as we develop exegetical skills and utilise different interpretive approaches to make our way through this complicated text.

Notes:
Previous experience with biblical Hebrew is required.

Course Materials:	In addition to the biblical Hebrew text, some short additional reading materials may be assigned or recommended in either English or German, although the classes themselves will only be in English.

Event NT Seminar: Apocalypticism in Ancient Judaism and Early Christianity
01SE15SS047 / Seminar / 2,153

Description:

Business event contents:
Das Studium des apokalyptischen Denkens und insbesondere das Verständnis seiner historischen Gebundenheiten und Kontexte ist ein zentraler Schlüssel zum Verständnis der Kulturgeschichte der vergangenen zwei Jahrtausende. Gleichzeitig steht die Apokalyptik selbst in einem wichtigen Diskursfeld in ihrem historischen Kontext, innerhalb der breiteren theologischen, historischen und literarischen Dynamik der Antike.
Dieses Seminar behandelt eine breite Reihe von Aspekten der jüdischen und christlichen Apokalyptik. Anhand des Studiums der wichtigsten Quellen, Themen, Entwicklungsstränge und Wirkungen apokalyptischen Denkens in der Antike wird in diesem Seminar erarbeitet, wie apokalyptisches Denken verstanden werden kann, warum sich antike Autoren diesem Thema annahmen und wie es in grösseren geistesgeschichtlichen Zusammenhängen eingebunden war.
Dieses Vorgehen erlaubt es die teils fremde Welt des frühen apokalyptischen Denkens in der heutigen Zeit zu verstehen sowie Parallelen und Unterschiede zu apokalyptischem Denken im 21. Jahrhundert herauszuarbeiten.

Notes:
Die Veranstaltung findet in deutscher Sprache statt. Primär- und Sekundärquellen werden, soweit in sinnvoller Edition vorhanden, auf Deutsch oder Englisch zur Verfügung gestellt.

Course Materials:	Literaturhinweise und weitere Unterlagen werden zu gegebener Zeit zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event IE/ST Lecture: Introduction to Islamic Medical Ethics and Bioethics
01VL27SV001 / Course / 1,527

Description:

Business event contents:
Weltweit gibt es nach wie vor nur wenige Gesundheitsdebatten von und für Muslime. Einzelne muslimische Ärzt:innen und Theolog:innen sowie internationale islamische Institutionen auf der ganzen Welt engagieren sich in diesem Bereich. Entscheidend ist jedoch eine Verflechtung von Praxis und islamischer Theologie mit dem Ziel, Wissen an die Gesellschaft weiterzugeben. Diese ergeben sich insbesondere aus technologischen Entwicklungen in der Intensivmedizin, wie künstlicher Beatmung und Organtransplantation. Es besteht Bedarf an einer ethischen Diskussion darüber, welche Prinzipien das Handeln leiten, wenn Entscheidungen am Lebensende getroffen werden müssen.
Diese Vorlesung führt in das Feld der islamischen Medizin- und Bioethik ein und beantwortet die folgenden Fragen: Was macht islamische Bioethik aus? Was macht islamische Bioethik „islamisch"? Wer sind die wichtigsten Akteure in diesem Bereich? Welche Themen dominieren?
Studierende erarbeiten wesentliche Inhalte eigenständig oder in Gruppen anhand von Texten oder Videos und diskutieren sie später in der Vorlesung interaktiv an praxisnahen Beispielen.

Event Curating East Asian Art: Approaches and Practices
06UE642o004a / Exercise Group / 4,775

Description:

Business event contents:
How do curatorial decisions about selection, arrangement, interpretation, and display of objects create meaning and construct narratives? In what ways do exhibitions function as both aesthetic experiences and sites of knowledge production? What are the ethical responsibilities involved in exhibiting objects from cultures different from one's own?
This course addresses these questions by exploring different curatorial practices with a focus on East Asian art and transcultural curating strategies. Through case studies ranging from key past exhibitions of East Asian art to contemporary examples (e.g. participatory and community-based exhibitions, digital and interactive displays, seasonal and relational installations), students examine diverse concepts, methods, and theoretical frameworks that shape how objects are collected, interpreted, and displayed. The course also investigates the multifaceted role of the curator, as caretaker, storyteller, mediator, and producer of knowledge. Drawing on critical theories from semiotics to postcolonial studies, students critically engage with both established conventions and innovative approaches to curating East Asian art.
The course combines theoretical readings and case study analysis with hands-on examination of exhibitions during small excursions to nearby exhibition venues. Through discussions, presentations, and exercises, students will develop skills to critically analyze curatorial processes and gain practical competencies for ethically informed curatorial practice in a transcultural context.

Notes:
The languages of instruction are English and German; all course assignments may be completed in either language.

Event Political Communication and the American Public Sphere
06SE254o102a / Seminar / 4,751

Description:

Business event contents:
This course offers a comprehensive introduction to political communication in the United States, and as a field of academic study.
Students enrolled in this course will learn about the history of political communication and information systems in the United States, classical media effects theories, and the cognitive and psychological mechanisms behind political preferences. They will also be introduced to campaign rhetoric and strategy, populist communication, and the evolving role of digital technologies in US elections.

Underlying these issues is the structure and function of the US media ecosystem.
Particular attention will be given to the growing influence of partisan propaganda and political polarization in shaping political discourse. Finally, the course will address the convergence of partisan acrimony and broader threats to information integrity declining trust in institutions, the proliferation of conspiracy theories and disinformation, and the troubling rise of political violence.

By the end of the semester, students will have developed a strong foundation in classical political communication research and should have the necessary tools to engage in informed discussions about the crisis of the American public sphere.

Event Disorder in Materials
07VUKRI306.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 706

Description:

Business event contents:
Part 1 focuses on the synthesis and processing of amorphous materials using physical routes. The resulting structure is discussed, as well as their thermodynamics and kinetics. The course focuses in particular on the relationships between the structure of glassy metals and other disordered materials and their resulting mechanical, thermophysical, biomedical and electronic properties. As to processing, new manufacturing routes such as 3D printing of metals are also introduced.

Part 2 focuses on materials that contain both ordered and disordered aspects. Examples are magnetic spin ices and chemically disordered crystals.

Notes:
Together with ETH Zürich (Lerneinheit Nr. 327-2209-00L) Takes place at ETH!
Further information in the lecture catalog of the ETHZ!

Course Materials:	Lecture material is presented in the form of slides and assignments, with the aim that the students develop their own, critical perspective on the subject. This also results in an adoption of the lecture content with respect to the feedback given by the students. A script is not delivered as it would just promote a "read, memorize, and reproduce" learning perspective, which is not the intention of this course. Instead, references to original articles and reviews will be provided

Event History of the English Language 2: Focus on Middle English (Group 1: Medicine and Medical Texts in Medieval England)
06SE440-110d / Seminar / 1,212

Description:

Business event contents:
This module introduces students to the history of English and to English historical linguistics. It is intended for Bachelor students in their second year and consists of two parts: a lecture and a seminar. The lecture provides an overview on the history of the English language from the Norman Conquest of 1066 to the present today. The seminar introduces the students to Middle English (the language spoken and written in England between AD 1150-1500). The module gives an insight into the early forms of English and provides guidance on how to read original texts in Middle English with the help of glossaries. It also introduces some basic principles of English historical linguistics and of the study of medieval English literature.

Course Materials:	Students are required to get their own copy of the course book by the beginning of the term: - Brinton, Laurel J. and Leslie K. Arnovick. 2016. The English Language: A Linguistic History. Third edition. Oxford: Oxford University Press. Note that you should get the third edition of this book. It can be bought at KLIO Buchhandlung (Zähringerstrasse 45, 8021 Zürich). Additional reading assignments will be announced in the respective seminars/ the lecture.

Event 'Universities in the Public Eye: Strategic Communication and Reputation Management
06SE254o112a / Seminar / 3,195

Description:

Business event contents:
Universities are key actors in today's knowledge society, and their communication plays an increasingly vital role in our democracy. This seminar offers a practice-oriented exploration of strategic university communication at the intersection of science, politics, and civil society - with a special focus on Switzerland. Topics of the seminar include strategic reputation management, media relations and crisis communication. We will use recent data, analyze real case studies, and invite guest speakers to develop an understanding of the main stakeholders, objectives, and current challenges in university communication. As a graded outcome, students will (1) develop a written communication strategy for a Swiss university of their choice and (2) present the strategy in an oral presentation.

Notes:
The teaching language is English. The course work can be submitted in English, Italian, German or French.

Event Introduction to Surveillance Studies
06SE615o551a / Seminar / 4,847

Description:

Business event contents:
Surveillance is everywhere: in workplaces monitoring the performance of employees, social media sites tracking clicks and uploads, financial institutions logging transactions, advertisers amassing fine-grained data on customers, and security agencies siphoning up everyone's telecommunications activities. As a part of our everyday lives, it now shapes the way we see ourselves and the way we relate to others. In this seminar, students will critically examine the ethical, legal, and societal challenges posed by a wide range of surveillance technologies, from smartphones and fertility trackers to CCTV systems and drones, as well as reflect on their dual roles as both subjects and objects of surveillance. Highlighting how experiences of surveillance differ across race, class, gender, the course cultivates a nuanced understanding of its implications for individual rights, social justice, and collective privacy. Assessment will consist of a presentation and an end-of-term paper.

Event Switzerland in the Modern World: More than Cheese and Chocolate
06SE615o006a / Seminar / 3,025

Description:

Business event contents:
Switzerland today seems to have achieved many things other countries find desirable but very difficult to do: remain neutral and independent internationally (it is not a member of the EU, for example), address and resolve conflicts among domestic groups and regions that differ in significant ways, have a thriving economy and little poverty, and give its citizens sweeping forms of political self-determination. Many would like to copy its success, but to do that, the sources of Switzerland's success also need to be understood.
This course provides an overview of key aspects of the country's history, politics, society, culture, and current role in the world.

Event Yemeni Civil War: Arab Spring, State Formation and Internal Instability
06SE615o505a / Seminar / 3,283

Description:

Business event contents:
Countries that experienced popular uprisings in the 2011 Arab Spring had a range of sobering political outcomes. Tunisia experienced a fragile (now shattered) democratisation process, while Egypt reverted to a form of military authoritarianism. In these two cases, the state remained intact, albeit shaken.
Other countries, such as Yemen, Syria, and Libya, experienced a meltdown of the political order, along with civil war and fragmentation. The state was torn between competing factions and groups, in the process exposing its ethnic character.

Why?

This course suggests a framework of analysis using Yemeni Civil War as an example. It argues that the interaction between different types of state formation and regional context can explain, respectively, the disintegration of countries such as Yemen, Syria and Libya, as well as the preservation of the Bahraini system, despite its ethnic nature. Egypt and Tunisia provide further variants in their well-developed statehood and sense of national identity. Yemen will be used as a case study for examining this complexity among the countries that experienced the Arab spring. This course will focus on the state formation dimension.

Event Realistic Utopias
06SE160o017a / Seminar / 2,640

Description:

Business event contents:
What does it mean for a utopian vision to be realistic? A classic claim made against utopian visions is that they are only good in theory but not in practice. Is it possible to have an desirable vision that is also practicable? And if so, should we want that? This course delves into the role of utopian thinking in political philosophy. The aim is to use analytic philosophical methods to rigorously engage with utopian thinking, what types of considerations can make them be considered 'realistic' by reasonable people, and in what ways social science can be considered emancipatory.

Event Hexen. Populäre Imaginationen und Narrative
06SE506o004a / Seminar / 1,489

Description:

Business event contents:
Was ist eine Hexe? Antworten reichen von der Märchenhexe, die als hässliche Frau mit einer schwarzen Katze erscheint, über die als Hexen verunglimpften Personen - nicht nur weiblichen Geschlechts -, die sich in den frühneuzeitlichen Hexenprozessen beschuldigt sahen, über romantisch angehauchte Bilder der Hexen als Angehörige eines vorchristlichen Kultes hin zur Hexe als positives Rollenmodell für Frauen. Ikonographisch reicht der Bezug an frühneuzeitlichen Bildern im Stile Hans Baldung Griens über viktimisierende Hexenverfolgungsdarstellung des 19. Jahrhunderts bis hin zu auf Glamour gestylten Hexen auf WitchTok.
Die Veranstaltung will diesen unterschiedlichen Hexenbildern und ihrer jeweiligen Genese anhand wissenschaftlicher Texte, fiktionalen Bearbeitungen, Filmen, Serien und Social Media nachgehen.

Event Das römische Nordafrika: Gesellschaft, Wirtschaft und Verwaltung
06SE600-034a / Seminar / 619

Description:

Business event contents:
Nordafrika erstreckt sich vom Atlantik bis zum Roten Meer und vom Mittelmeer bis zur Sahara. Durch diese vergleichsweise klaren geographischen Bedingungen wird der Raum eingegrenzt, der im Zentrum dieses Seminars steht. Topographie, Klima und historische Entwicklung untergliedern ihn in weitere Teile. Die geographische Nähe des grossen Rivalen Karthago verwickelte Rom schon sehr früh in die nordafrikanische Geschichte, und es war lange nicht sicher, wer am Ende die Oberhand gewinnen würde. Zwar siegte schliesslich Rom, doch bedeutete dies keineswegs das Ende der Punier, Numider, Baquaten, Mauren, Garamanten, Aegypter, Griechen, Nubier und anderer Bewohner Nordafrikas. Freilich dominierte jetzt vielerorts die römische Kultur: römische Städte und Siedlungen, Wirtschaftsformen und Verwaltungseinheiten prägten jetzt den Alltag von Millionen (Zugezogener und Einheimischer) in Nordafrika, das nun auch in den Sog der inneren Geschichte Roms geriet. Die Agrarwirtschaft und der Handel (teils durch die Sahara) mit Gold, Elfenbein, Salz, Marmor, exotischen Tieren, sowie Sklaven machten Nordafrika aber während weitgehend friedlicher Jahrhunderte zu einer der wohlhabendsten Gegenden des Römischen Reiches, aus der selbst römische Kaiser hervorgingen. Das Christentum, das hier eine besondere Blüte erlebte, sowie die Wandalen und die Byzantiner prägten die letzten Jahrhunderte der römischen Herrschaft in Nordafrika.

Event Linksterrorismus in den Medien
06SE600-051a / Seminar / 1,868

Description:

Business event contents:
Was passiert in modernen Gesellschaften, wenn ihre rechtlich-moralischen, ökonomisch-sozialen und ästhetisch-kulturellen Normen und Alltagsroutinen mit gewaltsamen Mitteln infrage gestellt werden? Wie werden solche Infragestellungen in den Medien verarbeitet? Im BA-Seminar werden wir untersuchen, wie die Massen- und Alternativmedien auf die Konfrontation zwischen der "Roten Armee Fraktion" (RAF) und den staatlichen Behörden in Deutschland zwischen 1970 und 1998 reagierten und wie sie selbst auf den Konflikt einwirkten. Sowohl die RAF als auch der Staat waren auf Medien angewiesen, um ihre Ziele und Handlungsweisen der Öffentlichkeit zu vermitteln. Die RAF verfügte über diverse Kommunikationsstrategien, um ihre Aktionen gegenüber den jeweiligen Adressatenkreisen - direktes Umfeld, ausserparlamentarische Opposition (APO), bürgerliche Öffentlichkeit, Staat - zu legitimieren.
Umso gewalttätiger die RAF im Laufe der Zeit vorging, desto weniger gelang es ihr, Zuspruch für ihr Handeln zu gewinnen. Für die Regierung und Strafverfolgungsbehörden war es ebenfalls unverzichtbar, mit der Bevölkerung zu kommunizieren, etwa um sich gegen den Vorwurf zu verteidigen, Mitglieder der RAF würden im Gefängnis gefoltert ("Vernichtungshaft"), oder um umstrittene Massnahmen wie die "Rasterfahnung" zu rechtfertigen. Wir werden verschiedene Text- und Bildquellen heranziehen: Bekennerschreiben, Artikel und Fotografien in Tageszeitungen, Publikationen der APO, Nachrichtensendungen im Fernsehen und Dokumentarfilme. Wir werden auch darauf eingehen, welchen Einfluss künstlerische Interventionen (Gedichte, Spielfilme, Gemälde) auf die Auseinandersetzung zwischen RAF und Staat hatten. Es ist geplant, Gäste in die Lehrveranstaltung einzuladen.

Event Fostering 21st Century Skills: Learning for School, Work, and Society
06SE226o546a / Seminar / 1,120

Description:

Business event contents:
In this module, students engage with theoretical concepts and models of competence that can be applied across vocational education and training as well as business education. The course introduces different definitions and taxonomies of 21st-century skills, explores how they can be understood as competencies, and examines their relevance for school, the workplace, and society. Further sessions address approaches to developing and measuring these competencies and include a deeper examination of performance assessments. As a final project, students develop a small curriculum unit to foster transversal competencies, together with the corresponding assessment tasks, for a vocational education program or job profile. The instruction language is English. The course aims to provide a safe environment to practice and strengthen English written and oral communication skills. If this creates challenges, we can work together to find solutions. For example, in class, when necessary, you may provide input in German, and we will translate it together while maintaining a positive, supportive learning environment. Learning objectives: Describe what competence is and different approaches to its measurement. Recognize and classify 21st-century skills or transversal competencies. Apply this understanding by designing a small curriculum unit to foster transversal competencies, and the corresponding assessment tasks, for a vocational education program or job profile.

Event (Zu)Hören – historisch-anthropologische Perspektiven auf auditive Wahrnehmung
06SE760o002a / Seminar / 186

Description:

Business event contents:
Auf eine der Kernfragen der Anthropologie des 18. Jahrhunderts, jene nach dem Zusammenspiel von Leib und Seele, antwortet Johann Georg Sulzers «Allgemeine Theorie der schönen Künste» anhand einer Gegenüberstellung von auditiver und visueller Wahrnehmung. Das Ohr sei weit tauglicher als das Auge, Leidenschaft zu erwecken. Aus welchem Grund? Die Luft, welche die Nerven des Gehörs anrege, sei als Element sehr viel gröber als das Licht, das auf das Auge wirke. «Daher können die Nerven des Gehörs, wegen der Gewalt der Stöße, die sie bekommen, ihre Würkung auf das ganze System aller Nerven verbreiten»; und so werde begreiflich, «wie man durch Töne gewaltige Kraft auf den ganzen Körper, und folglich» - nämlich mittels Resonanz - «auch auf die Seele ausüben» könne (Sulzer, Zweyter Theil, Leipzig 1774, Artikel «Musik», S. 781). Dieses Beispiel, aber auch Johann Gottfried Herders Überlegungen zu Wesen und Bedeutung des Hörsinns bilden den historischen Ausgangspunkt des Seminars, in dem es im Grundsatz darum geht, eine Geschichte der Ausei5nandersetzung mit menschlichem Hören - und zwar in erster Linie dem Hören von Musik oder musikalischen Parametern - anhand ausgewählter Stationen nachzuzeichnen. Hierzu greifen wir auf Quellentexte zurück, die sich unterschiedlichen Disziplinen zuordnen lassen: insbesondere der anthropologisch akzentuierten Ästhetik und Philosophie, aber auch der Sinnesphysiologie, Musikpsychologie oder -soziologie. Dabei spannen wir den Bogen bis in die zweite Hälfte des 20. Jahrhunderts, wo wir uns ausgehend von Raymond Murray Schafers Klassiker «The tuning of the world» (1977) mit dem Menschen in seiner akustischen Umwelt bzw. seiner Beziehung zu verschiedenen «Soundscapes» und dem Verhältnis von «Hören» und «Zuhören» befassen. In diesem Kontext widmen wir uns auch verschiedenen Konzepten einer «Ambient Music».

Event Flashback und Trauma: Zur Poetik der Rückblende
06SE255o004a / Seminar / 1,044

Description:

Business event contents:
Obwohl die filmische Rückblende eines der gängigsten erzählerischen Mittel darstellt, ist sie verhältnismässig wenig erforscht. Seit Maureen Turims
1989 veröffentlichter Monografie Flashbacks in Film ist keine umfassende Studie mehr zum Thema erschienen. Dies ist nicht zuletzt deshalb erstaunlich, als die Rückblende seither insbesondere im seriellen Erzählen an Wichtigkeit gewonnen hat. Wohlverstanden: Flashbacks und Flashforwards unterschiedlichster Art werden in Film und Fernsehen seit Jahrzehnten eingesetzt. Ausgangspunkt des Vertiefungsseminar Seminars ist die Beobachtung, dass sich insbesondere in jüngeren Streamingserien neue Formen etabliert haben, denen andere Funktionen zukommen als «klassischen» Rückblenden.
ZweiBeispiele seien hier stellvertretend angeführt: In der ersten Staffel von DAMAGES (Idee: Todd A. Kessler, Glenn Kessler, Daniel Zelman, US 2007-2012) wird bereits in der ersten Folge der Anfang eines Flashforwards gezeigt, das offensichtlich die Lösung des zentralen Rätsels der Serie - die Identität des Mörders - enthält. Über die insgesamt
13 Folgen der Staffel hinweg wird diese Sequenz immer ausführlicher gezeigt, bis sie am Ende vollständig zu sehen ist. Bemerkenswert an dieser Erzählanordnung ist, dass die verzögerte Enthüllung einzig dramaturgischen Zwecken dient und dies offen ausstellt.
Ganz anderer Art sind die Flashbacks in A HANDMAID'S TALE (Idee: Bruce Miller, US 2017-). Während viele Formen der Rückblende entscheidende Plot-Elemente enthalten und somit dazu dienen, die Handlung zu vervollständigen respektive überhaupt erst verständlich machen, besitzen viele der ausgedehnten Rückblenden in A HANDMAID'S TALE keine im engeren Sinne erzählerische Notwendigkeit, sondern dienen primär der Ausstaffierung der Handlungswelt.
So unterschiedlich die beiden Beispiele gelagert sind, was sie verbindet, ist, dass im Zentrum der Rück- bzw. Vorblenden jeweils traumatische Ereignisse stehen. Auch dies ist freilich nichts Neues, sondern findet sich bereits in klassischen Beispielen wie etwa SPELLBOUND (Alfred Hitchcock, US 1945). Der Unterschied ist, dass das traumatische Ereignis bei Hitchcock als grosse Enthüllung inszeniert wird, die das mysteriöse Verhalten der Hauptfigur erklärt. Im jüngeren Mainstreamkino sind Traumata dagegen Teil des erzählerischen Standardinventars geworden. Das Trauma ist keine Überraschung mehr, sondern wird als Teil der üblichen Charakterisierung der Figuren regelrecht erwartet.
In den neuen Formen der Rückblende verbinden sich - so die Arbeitsthese des Vertiefungsseminars - zwei unterschiedliche Entwicklungen: Zum einen ein gesamtgesellschaftlicher Diskurs, der Traumata immer mehr ins Zentrum rückt («post-traumatic stress disorder» wird seit 1980 von der APA offiziell als Diagnose anerkannt), zum anderen das Aufkommen «komplexer» erzählerischer Formen (Jason Mittell), bei denenWorldbuilding immer wichtiger wird.

Event I dialetti delle Marche, una regione ad almeno tre facce
06SE410o530a / Seminar / 1,524

Description:

Business event contents:
Le Marche costituiscono un'unità amministrativa cui, come spesso accade, non corrisponde un'unità linguistica. Ma se è frequente il caso di regioni bipartite fra due raggruppamenti dialettali, sul territorio delle Marche sono rappresentati tre tipo di varietà, o quattro, se si considerano distinte l'area mediana propriamente detta (caratterizzata dal conservare l'opposizione fra cinque vocali finali atone, inclusa quella fra -o e -u: canto ≠ vónu 'buono' ad es. a Macerata) e la perimediana (tra la linea Roma-Ancona e il confine toscano) che condivide col toscano molti tratti. La regione ospita anche dialetti alto-meridionali a sud - come mostra ad es. ad Ascoli P. la confluenza delle atone finali (tranne -a) in schwa (v. ad es. delóre/delúre 'dolore, -i' [dove le <e> atone indicano schwa]) e dialetti gallo-italici a nord, dove nel Pesarese si parla romagnolo.

Il seminario introdurrà a questo panorama linguistico variegato, che costituisce un'ottima palestra di esercizio dello strumentario di analisi linguistico. Chi vorrà potrà poi in luglio conoscere dal vivo il nostro oggetto di studio partecipando a un'escursione (facoltativa) che ci porterà a visitare alcune località delle Marche per raccogliere dati dialettali odierni, in base allo stesso questionario registrato un secolo fa per l'AIS.

Course Materials: Bibliografia:
Per un primo accostamento ai dialetti delle Marche si richiede la lettura di F. Parrino, Per una carta dei dialetti delle Marche, «Bollettino della Carta dei Dialetti Italiani» 2 (1967), 5-37, S. Balducci, Le Marche, in M. Cortelazzo et al. (eds.), I dialetti italiani. Storia struttura uso. Torino, UTET 2002, 452-84 nonché del cap. 4 (limitatamente ai §§4.1, 4.2.6 e 4.5) di M. Loporcaro, M. Loporcaro, Profilo linguistico dei dialetti italiani, Roma-Bari, Laterza, 2^ edizione 2013. Da tener presenti per riferimento S. Balducci, Marche, Pisa, Pacini 2000 e, per il tipo marchigiano centrale, T. Paciaroni, I dialetti del Maceratese: fonetica e morfologia, tesi di abilitazione, UZH 2017. Ulteriore bibliografia, in relazione ai singoli temi di esercitazione, sarà indicata nel primo incontro del seminario.

Event El cuento medieval: análisis de los exempla del Libro del Conde Lucanor
06SE427-501a / Seminar / 836

Description:

Business event contents:
Nieto de Fernando III y sobrino de Alfonso X el Sabio, Don Juan Manuel, el "príncipe escritor", formó parte de una nueva aristocracia letrada y cortesana que en el siglo XIV comenzó a sustituir, en los hábitos y en la ideología, a la antigua aristocracia rural, tratando de aunar política y literatura, y marcando así el inicio de la transición hacia las corrientes de pensamiento que se estaban inaugurando en Europa. En las primeras sesiones del Seminario estudiaremos la macroestructura de El conde Lucanor, su obra más conocida, mientras que, en las ponencias, los alumnos analizarán discursivamente algunos de los relatos más significativos de la que se considera obra maestra de la prosa medieval española

Notes:
En la redacción del trabajo se admite el empleo de la inteligencia artificial SOLO para la corrección idiomática (una vez redactado), pero NO para la elaboración de su contenido y, menos aún, para el análisis de los poemas, que ha de elaborarse bajo la supervisión de la tutora, por lo que se aconseja fervientemente tomar parte en la tutoría que acompaña al Seminario.

Event Einführung in die Ältere deutsche Literaturwissenschaft (Gruppe 1)
06SE360-103a / Seminar / 819

Description:

Business event contents:
Die mittelhochdeutsche Literatur ist ebenso vielgestaltig wie faszinierend: Geschichten von Rittern und Heiligen, Liebeslyrik und politische Dichtung sind aber nicht aus sich selbst heraus verständlich. Nicht nur die Sprachstufe des Mittelhochdeutschen, sondern auch die besonderen medialen Verhältnisse einer oftmals vor Anwesenden vorgetragenen und handschriftlich überlieferten Literatur sind Voraussetzungen der wissenschaftlichen Beschäftigung mit der deutschen Literatur des Mittelalters. Anhand von konkreten Beispielen führt eine Vorlesung in die komplexen literarhistorischen, medialen, ästhetischen und soziokulturellen Besonderheiten der mittelhochdeutschen Literatur ein. In einem begleitenden Seminar werden ausgehend von der Lektüre eines Texts bzw. Textcorpus die Grammatik des Mittelhochdeutschen behandelt und die Übersetzung mittelhochdeutscher Texte ins Neuhochdeutsche eingeübt.

Event Jahre am Rande der Zeit
06KO600o500a / Colloquium / 1,656

Description:

Business event contents:
1913? 1977? Die meisten Jahreszahlen lösen weder in der breiten Bevölkerung noch bei Historiker:innen Assoziationen aus. Seit der Jahrtausendwende sind jedoch solche "unspektakulären" Jahre in den Fokus des Interesses geraten. Bücher, Filme und Ausstellungen widmen sich Jahren, die nicht zu den bekannten kalendarischen Bruchstellen zählen - teilweise mit grossem Erfolg. Florian Illies' Bestseller "1913. Der Sommer des Jahrhunderts" und Philipp Sarasins "1977. Eine kurze Geschichte der Gegenwart" sind nur zwei Beispiele.
Das Kolloquium beschäftigt sich mit Werken, die ein scheinbar unscheinbares Jahr des 20. Jahrhunderts in den Blick nehmen. Wir fragen, welche Vorstellungen von Zeit, Geschichte, Geschichtsschreibung und Geschichtsvermittlung diesen Werken zugrunde liegen, und diskutieren auf dieser Basis über unterschiedliche Konzepte von Geschichtswissenschaft.

Event Specialisation: Citizens democratic commitment in times of crisis
06SE615o002a / Seminar / 2,925

Description:

Business event contents:
How committed are contemporary citizens to democracy and what does "democracy" even mean to them? Do these attitudes matter for the stability and structure of political systems? And how resilient are these attitudes to crises and external pressure?
We will engage with literature from political psychology, political sociology and democratic theory to first understand various democratic attitudes such as commitment to democratic norms, populist or authoritarian attitudes. Specific attention will be paid to the role of electoral losers and winners in a democracy. Afterwards, we will turn to democratic crisis moments: circumstances that put pressure on democracy such as climate change, terrorism, polarization or right wing extremism. How can such challenges affect democratic attitudes? And what role can and will citizens play in protecting, shaping or even eroding democracy in times of crisis?

Event Sprachvertiefung Tschechisch Lektüre: Tschechische politische Literatur von heute
06SK480o006a / Sprachkurs / 2,958

Description:

Business event contents:
In der Lehrveranstaltung werden wir Texte der zeitgenössischen tschechischen Literatur lesen und analysieren, bei denen die politischen Fragestellungen, politische Agenda und politischen Akteure im Vordergrund stehen. Während die Literatur der Wende vom 20. zum 21. Jahrhundert auf die literarische Darstellung des Regimewechsels von 1989 und die literarische Aufarbeitung der kommunistischen Vergangenheit wartete (Třešňák, Topol, Platzová, Rudiš, Viewegh, Hůlová), versteht die jüngere zeitgenössische Literaturproduktion politische Themen weitaus allgemeiner und vielfältiger. Welche Arten des Schreibens und welche Inhalte sind dabei besonders relevant?

Notes:
Findet gleichzeitig mit Tschechisch Mittelstufe 2 statt.

Event Poetiken der Sehnsucht
06KO360o008a / Colloquium / 2,313

Description:

Business event contents:
'Sehnsucht' (mhd. sensuht) kann in der mittelalterlichen Literatur als Krankheit, schmerzliches und inniges Verlangen nach Personen, Sachen, Zuständen oder Zeitspannen aufgefasst werden. Sie deutet auf eine Lücke hin, die gefüllt werden will und verweist zugleich auf eine unwiderstehliche Anziehungskraft von etwas, das vermisst wird. Sie ist damit Teil der Minnediskurse oder auch der christlichen Spiritualität. In der Veranstaltung fragen wir deshalb nach den mittelalterlichen Definitionen, Formen und Graden solcher literarischen Sehnsucht im Hinblick auf ihre Objekte, Gendertypologien, Räume und Zeiten etc. Das nicht erreichbare Objekt oder Ziel, der Wunsch, die Hoffnung und die Suche nach Erfüllung treiben lyrische und narrative Texte immer wieder neu an. Welche lyrischen und narrativen Effekte hat 'Sehnsucht' also genau und inwiefern darf ihr eine poetologische Funktion zugeschrieben werden?

Course Materials:	Wir arbeiten in dieser Veranstaltung mit einer Auswahl an exemplarischen Texten und Textauszügen des 13. und 14. Jahrhunderts. Eine Bibliografie und ein Reader werden rechtzeitig auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Diffraction Physics in Materials Science
07VUKRI209.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 683

Description:

Business event contents:
The lecture focuses on diffraction and scattering phenomena in materials science beyond basic Bragg diffraction. Introducing the Born approximation and Kirchhoff's theory, diffraction from ideal and non- ideal crystals is treated including, e.g., temperature and size effects, ordering phenomena, small-angle scattering and dynamical diffraction theories for both electron and X-ray diffraction.
The course provides a general introduction to advanced diffraction phenomena in materials science. The lecture series covers the following topics: derivation of a general scattering theory based on Green's function as basis for the introduction of the first-order Born approximation; Kirchhoff's diffraction theory with its integral theorem and the specific cases of Fresnel and Fraunhofer diffraction; diffraction from ideal crystals and diffraction from real crystals considering temperature effects expressed by the temperature Debye- Waller factor and by thermal diffuse scattering, atomic size effects expressed by the static Debye-Waller factor and diffuse scattering due to the modulation of the Laue monotonic scattering as a consequence of local order or clustering; the basics of small-angle scattering; and finally approaches used to treat dynamical diffraction are introduced. In addition, the specifics of X-ray, electron and neutron scattering are being discussed. The course is complemented by a lab visit, selected exercises and short topical presentations given by the participants.

Event Synthesis and Assembly of Building Blocks
07VUKRI305.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 3,032

Description:

Business event contents:
Introduction to commonly used wet chemistry methods for the synthesis of inorganic and polymeric particles of defined sizes and shapes, and concepts for assembling these building blocks into larger structures of varying complexity over multiple length scales.

The course is divided into two parts: I) synthesis of 0-, 1-, 2-, and 3-dimensional building blocks with a length scale from nm to µm, and II) assembly of these building blocks into 1-, 2- and 3-dimensional structures over several length scales up to cm.
In part I, various methodologies for the synthesis of the building blocks will be discussed, including Turkevich and Brust-Schiffrin-method for gold nanoparticles, hot-injection for semiconducting quantum dots, aqueous and nonaqueous sol-gel chemistry for metal oxides, or gas-and liquid-phase routes to carbon nanostructures.
Part II is focused on self- and directed assembly methods that can be used to create higher order architectures from those building blocks connecting the microscopic with the macroscopic world. Examples include photonic crystals, nanocrystal solids, colloidal molecules, mesocrystals or particle-based foams and aerogels.

Event A: Parts of speech in English
06SE440-120c / Seminar / 192

Description:

Business event contents:
Ever wondered about the part of speech of sleeping in sleeping bag, sleeping baby and sleeping? Genius is a noun, but how can we nowadays comment 'That is absolutely genius!', where it behaves like an adjective? Can stone also be an adjective if stone bridge is parallel to wooden bridge?

This seminar provides an overview of the topic of parts of speech, including different approaches to defining parts of speech. The questions that will be covered in the seminars are: What are the grammatical properties of major parts of speech, and are they as clear-cut as presented in textbook grammars? We will look at the criteria of lexical categorisation, the distinction between word classes and the boundaries between them, for which we will analyse the syntactic distribution, semantic denotation, and morphological features of words. We will discuss the prototypicality of word classes and category-internal differences between subcategories of a word class.
We will attempt to tackle the problems that arise in lexical categorisation, such as when a word lacks properties associated with the category to which it has been assigned ('subsective gradience'), when a word possesses properties associated with a category to which it is not assigned ('intersective gradience'), etc.

Students will beoffered the opportunity to take a hands-on approach to the issues introduced in class.

Notes:
For the written paper, students will carry out a research project on a topic of the seminar and write a paper (4,000-5,000 words).
Deadline:
6. October

Course Materials:	A full list of readings will be available on OLAT at the beginning of the course. No preparatory reading is required for the first session, but students who want to get a basic view on parts of speech beforehand can read Chapter 3. 'The parts of speech' from Huddleston, Rodney. 1984. Introduction to the Grammar of English. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. The paper copies of the book are available in the university libraries and there is also online access via Swisscovery. The related chapters will be made available on OLAT.

Event A: Discourse on, by and for women in Medieval English
06SE440-121b / Seminar / 188

Description:

Business event contents:
In the Middle Ages, as today, women played important roles in the economy and society. The majority of them, however, especially outside the privileged classes, were illiterate. Hence the discourses about and for women were generally created by men. At the same time, there were also moments of female emancipation, as some women gained authority within religious communities, managed estates, or expressed their own voices through visionary and autobiographical writings.
These instances, though limited, remind us that women were not only the subjects of discourse but could also be its agents. In this course, we will find out how women were constructed linguistically and discursively by studying primary texts in Middle English (e.g. Hali Meiðhad, Chaucer, The Book of Margery Kempe) and applying analytical tools from historical sociolinguistics and historical pragmatics.

Notes:
This course is not suitable for first-year students; participants must have successfully completed HotEL; French and/or (medieval) Latin will be an advantage.

Event (Re)Imagining the American West
06SE440-221b / Seminar / 179

Description:

Business event contents:
Cowboys and 'Indians;' pioneers and covered wagons; ghost towns and tumbleweeds -these are just some of the iconic images associated with the American West. Since the United States was founded in the late eighteenth century, conceptions of the West have played a fundamental role in the nation's broader cultural imaginary and have indeed shaped (and continue to shape) American national identity. From the nineteenth century, intensified Euro-American settlement both east and west of the Mississippi River was accompanied by a boom in literary and cultural production thematizing westward expansion and so-called national progress.

Students will explore how texts from this period have influenced the origins and enduring afterlives of foundational American mythologies such as "manifest destiny," "the frontier," and "the vanishing Indian." Engaging with other forms of media-paintings, film, video games-in addition to works of literature, we will also investigate how images of the nineteenth century American West have been and continue to be (re)negotiated, complicated, and/or challenged in the time since western migration reached its peak.

How was the West, despite the undeniable presence of Indigenous Peoples on their ancestral territories, transformed into an 'empty' wilderness in needof civilization? Was it an agrarian paradise, a veritable Garden of Eden for the humble yeoman farmer? Or a haven for outlaws, a true 'Wild' West? Geographically, where does the West even begin? These areall questions we will explore together in this seminar as we engage with a diverse range of texts by Willa Cather, Frederick Jackson Turner, Walt Whitman, and Zitkála-Šá, among many others.

Event The Gothic Canon and Its Haunting Legacy
06SE440-226b / Seminar / 3,062

Description:

Business event contents:
"A negative aesthetics informs gothic texts" - Fred Botting, Gothic

The binary notion of a negative aestheticism marks the opening of Fred Botting's seminal volume Gothic which also lies at the heart of this seminar, designed to explore the plentiful legacy of the gothic genre. From its origination in the late 18th century to the many (re)figurations that span until the 21st century, the gothic has been a recurring trope for the illustration of an emerging ideological malaise.

Composed alongside a thematic chronology of the gothic genre we will approach a diverse selection of gothic texts through different lenses, circling around Lenora Ledwon's assertion that the gothic "seems particularly difficult to define. Part of the difficulty lies in the fact that, rather than speaking of one monolithic category of "Gothic", it is more appropriate to recognize that there are many Gothics" ultimately contending that "[t]he Gothic is easy to recognize but hard to define" (261). Taking this allegedly easy categorization but challenging classification as its starting point, this course examines the way in which the gothic has developed, was shaped by and has been mediating said negative aesthetics through the ages and remains ever popular and relevant in contemporary literature and media.

Event "America's Storyteller": Colson Whitehead on Page and Screen
06SE440-227b / Seminar / 2

Description:

Business event contents:
Colson Whitehead is one of the most prolific and prominent voices in contemporary US-American literature. His books are widely read and translated, have earned him critical accolades and awards, and cover a range of topics, genres, and styles - from his early postmodern works to his more realist writing. Two of his novels, Underground Railroad (2016) and The Nickel Boys (2019), have been turned into a mini-series and a film respectively.

In this class, we will read selected literary texts by Whitehead, discuss them in detail, and analyze their screen adaptations (or lack thereof). Participants will not only gain an overview of this seminal author's œuvre and its significance in US literary and cultural history but will also be introduced to the field of adaptation studies as we explore which factors contribute to a literary text's 'adaptability,' how the process of adaptation works,and what affordances the different media provide.

Notes:
Research papers are due on October 30th, 2026.

Course Materials:	Please acquire a copy of Colson Whitehead's debut novel The Intuitionist (1999) and of his book The Nickel Boys (2019) as well as streaming access to The Underground Railroad (2021) and Nickel Boys (2024).

Event Word classes and word formation
06SE440o510a / Seminar / 3,270

Description:

Business event contents:
Derivation via affix is not the only way of changing word classes in English. Nouns easily convert to verbs and vice versa.

Cringe starts off as a verb, as in I cringed at the sight of my dad dancing, and it coverts easily to a noun, as in It was a total cringe. The same form also is used as an adjective more recently, as in It would be so cringe! How does the word class shift happen?
The suffix
-ist derives abstract from more concrete nouns, as in artist, scientist, linguist, morphologist, journalist. Many
-ist nouns then also have adjectival use, for instance, I do not take an unduly alarmist view of the situation; It is very elitist and narrow, and comes from a sloppy concensus that I abhor; The Statement is rather minimalist and deliberately short on details. For systematic N>A shifts, can we consider
-ist also an adjective-forming suffix?

In this seminar, we are looking at word formation processes and word classes. Students are welcome to work on any word class and/or word formation process for their own project.

Event Sprache und Gewalt
06SE360-545a / Seminar / 2,936

Description:

Business event contents:
Mit Sprache handeln wir, wie die linguistische Pragmatik bereits seit längerem postuliert. Wir können loben, motivieren, eine freudige oder lustige Atmosphäre schaffen, aber eben auch Gewalt ausüben: beschimpfen, ängstigen, verleumden und vieles mehr. Doch wie genau funktioniert dies mit sprachlichen Mitteln? Muss ein Schimpfwort von der empfangenden Person verstanden werden, um seine Wirkung zu entfalten? Was unterscheidet physische von sprachlicher Gewalt? Und können sprachliche Strukturen, z.B. zur Beschreibung von Gender, eine Form von struktureller Gewalt darstellen, wenn verschiedene Genderidentitäten nicht gleichwertig dargestellt werden?

Im Seminar nähern wir uns dem Thema Sprache und Gewalt aus sprachtheoretischer, aber auch von angewandter Seite. Von Schimpfvokabular, diffamierenden Bezeichnungen z.B. in der Politik oder in Liedtexten bis hin zu Kriegserklärungen gibt es eine breite Palette von Phänomenen, die unter der Perspektive von sprachlicher Gewalt betrachtet werden können.

Lektüre nach Ankündigung.

Event Laws of Nature
06SE164o501a / Seminar / 1,826

Description:

Business event contents:
The concept of a law of nature plays a central role in the philosophy of science and metaphysics. Philosophical analysis of this concept raises fundamental questions about modality, causation, and explanation. One influential tradition begins with the idea that laws of nature describe regularities in the world, while another interprets them as involving some form of natural necessitation.
The regularity theory faces the immediate problem of distinguishing genuine laws from merely accidental generalisations, such as "No diamond weighs more than one tonne". One strategy attempts to avoid any appeal to natural necessity by holding that laws are those generalisations that, taken together, provide the simplest and most powerful description of the world.
The necessitarian, by contrast, can readily explain why accidental generalisations lack the status of laws: while it may be true that no diamond exceeds a tonne in weight, this is a contingent fact, not a matter of natural necessity. Yet this approach faces its own challenge: to explain what such natural necessitation amounts to and in what sense, if any, laws of nature "govern" the behaviour of the world.
By engaging with classic and contemporary texts, we will explore competing accounts of the laws of nature and examine related questions about their function in science, their modal status, and their connection to explanation and prediction.

Event Was sind Werte?
06SE163o503a / Seminar / 3,236

Description:

Business event contents:
Das Gute ist ein zentraler Begriff der Philosophie und auch unseres alltäglichen Denkens. Bei genauerem Hinsehen sind allerdings Dinge (zum Beispiel Handlungen, Sachverhalte, Charaktereigenschaften) nicht nur «einfach» gut (oder schlecht), sondern sie sind es in vielen unterschiedlichen - und nicht immer miteinander vereinbaren - Hinsichten: schön, angenehm, interessant, gerecht, effizient, kreativ, lukrativ und so weiter. Deshalb ist anstatt von «dem Guten» häufig von «Werten» die Rede. In unserem Urteilen, Handeln und Empfinden reagieren wir Menschen auf - und orientieren uns an - Werten, also an Hinsichten, in denen Dinge gut sein können.

In der philosophischen Diskussion über das Wesen und die Rolle von Werten treffen sich Ethik, Metaethik und Handlungstheorie. In diesem Seminar beschäftigen wir uns anhand wichtiger Texte der Gegenwartsphilosophie mit zentrale Fragen, die sich in Bezug auf die Begriffe des Guten und des Wertes stellen. Dazu gehören insbesondere die folgenden: Gibt es fundamental unterschiedliche Arten des Gutseins (zum Beispiel intrinsisch und extrinsisch, als Zweck und als Mittel, für eine Person und an sich)? Inwieweit lassen sich unterschiedliche Arten des Gutseins miteinander vergleichen und auf begründete Weise gegeneinander abwägen? Was heißt es, sich an Werten zu orientieren? Lässt sich die Existenz von Werten durch Einstellungen und Praktiken des Wertschätzens erklären? Zu den Autorinnen und Autoren, deren Beiträge wir diskutieren werden, gehören u.a. Christine Korsgaard, Judith Thomson, Thomas Nagel, Samuel Scheffler, Joseph Raz, Ruth Chang und andere.

Einen Überblick über einige der Themen des Seminars liefert der folgende ausführliche Artikel in der Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy: Mark Schroeder, "Value Theory" (https://plato.stanford.edu/entries/value-theory/).

Course Materials:	Die philosophischen Texte, die in diesem Seminar gelesen werden, sind grösstenteils auf Englisch verfasst. Von TeilnehmerInnen des Seminars wird die Fähigkeit und die Bereitschaft erwartet, anspruchsvolle englischsprachige Texte zu lesen und zu diskutieren

Event Formen philosophischer Texte – Vom Dialog zum Journal Paper
06SE160o013a / Seminar / 1,053

Description:

Business event contents:
Philosophische Gedanken und Argumente entfalten sich stets in konkreten sprachlichen Formen. Ob Platons Dialoge, Montaignes Essays, Kants Kritiken oder zeitgenössische philosophische Fachartikel - jede Textform beeinflusst entscheidend, wie philosophische Gedanken gedacht, präsentiert, diskutiert und rezipiert werden. Werner Stegmeiers Übersicht zählt 50 verschiedene Formen auf. Von dieser Vielfalt ist heute nicht mehr viel übrig. Mit Blick auf den gegenwärtigen akademischen Betrieb scheint es fast so, als hätte die Philosophie im Paper zu ihrer definitive Gestalt gefunden - und dies obwohl innovative Gedanken immer wieder auch mit formalen Innovationen einher gingen.
Das Artensterben ist vor allem dann Anlass zur Sorge, wenn man die Form als etwas versteht, was der Argumentation und dem Denken nicht äusserlich ist. Wenn also formale Besonderheiten nicht einfach der Rhetorik zugeschlagen werden können, für die die Literaturwissenschaften zuständig wären, sondern vielfältige, wenn auch komplizierte Bezüge zu den Wahrheitsansprüchen des Textes unterhalten.

Im Seminar setzen wir uns intensiv mit verschiedenen historischen und modernen Formen philosophischer Texte auseinander. Ziel ist es, die enge Verbindung zwischen Form und Inhalt zu analysieren und deren jeweilige methodischen, argumentativen und stilistischen Eigenheiten zu verstehen. Die Arbeit im Seminar wird sich auf drei Ebenen ab-spielen. Zum einen geht es darum, einen gewissen Einblick in die Artenvielfalt zu be-kommen. Zum anderen geht es darum, die Effekte der Form zu beschreiben und deren Bezüge zu den Argumentationen zu thematisieren. Und drittens geht es um metaphilosophische Thematisierungen dieses Themenkomplexes.

Notes:
Im Seminar arbeiten wir exemplarisch und textnah. Die Studierenden werden methodisch angeleitet, Form und Funktion von Textarten selbständig zu analysieren. Zugleich sollen sie Kompetenzen erwerben, eigene philosophische Texte reflektiert und formbewusst zu verfassen, indem wir mit unterschiedlichen Textformen experimentieren.

Course Materials:	Zur Einführung empfohlen: Werner Stegmeier: Formen philosophischer Schriften (Hamburg 2021).

Event Thomas Nagels: Letzte Fragen
06SE160o001a / Seminar / 3,109

Description:

Business event contents:
Thomas Nagels Buch "Mortal Questions" - auf Deutsch "Letzte Fragen" - ist eine Sammlung von 14 Essays sowohl zu fundamentalen Lebensfragen als auch zu grundlegenden Begriffen und methodologischen Themen der analytischen praktischen Philosophie. Deshalb verspricht eine Auseinandersetzung mit dieser inspiriert und einladend verfassten Lektüre nicht nur gedankliche Anschlussmöglichkeiten für ein breit interessiertes Publikum, sondern bietet auch hilfreiche Werkzeuge für das weitere Studium der Philosophie. Die textbasierten Diskussionen zu Lektürethemen wie Tod, der (allfälligen?) Absurdität des Lebens, Sexueller Perversion, Gleichheit oder Krieg finden in einem geschützten Seminarrahmen statt. Wir lesen die englischen Originaltexte. Hörer sind willkommen.

Course Materials:	Die digitalisierten Artikel werden auf OLAT bereitgestellt. Die Studierenden bringen diese ausgedruckt und bearbeitet mit in die Sitzung zur Diskussion. OLAT-Forum zur Teilung von und Reaktion auf Diskussionsfragen.

Event Wie polarisiert ist die Schweiz?
06SE615-013b / Seminar / 4,522

Description:

Business event contents:
Warum verhärten sich politische Fronten? Und wo finden wir dafür Evidenz in der Schweiz?

In diesem Seminar spüren wir der Polarisierung nach: von der klaren Links-Rechts-Trennlinie (ideologische Polarisierung) bis zum "Wir vs. die anderen"-Gefühl (affektive Polarisierung). Dabei geht es nicht nur um Parteien: Bewegungen wie Impfpflicht oder Klimaschutz können gesellschaftliche und politische Gräben vertiefen. Wir untersuchen, wie man Polarisierung misst und welche Faktoren sie beeinflussen. Dabei verwenden wir Datensätzen aus dem Schweizer Parlament und aus der Schweizer Bevölkerung. Im Seminar lernt ihr, aktuelle Forschung einzuordnen und eigene Analysen in R umzusetzen.

Das Seminar verbindet Literaturarbeit mit praktischen Programmierübungen, um methodische Kompetenzen aufzubauen und zu vertiefen.
Ziel ist es, am Ende nicht nur zu beschreiben, was Polarisierung ist, sondern auch zu zeigen, wo sie in den Daten sichtbar wird.

Notes:
Leistungsnachweise:
Insgesamt fünf Einzelabgaben (je 20% der Note) über das Semester.
Für jede Abgabe wählen Sie eine der beiden Optionen:
A) Fragen zu Texten beantworten (Reading Response / Diskussionszusammenfassung, max. halbe Seite) oder
B) Empirische R-Übung (inkl. Interpretation).
Mindestanforderung:
Mindestens 1× Option A und mindestens 1× Option B müssen eingereicht werden.
Die übrigen 3 Abgaben sind frei wählbar (A oder B).
Formales:
Option A wird individuell eingereicht.
Option B kann individuell oder im Zweierteam eingereicht werden (gleiche Note für beide).

Die Teilnahme an Gruppenpräsentationen ist verpflichtend; zudem wird erwartet, dass die Studierenden den Kurs durch zusätzliche Lektüre begleiten.
Die empirischen Übungen werden gründlich eingeführt (mit erläutertem Code) und können einzeln oder im Zweierteam abgegeben werden.

Course Materials:
- Ausgewählte Literatur zur politischen Polarisierung, inkl. Diskussionsanregungen
- Leitfäden zum Lesen und Verstehen wissenschaftlicher Artikel
- Einführungsmaterialien zur Programmierung in R
- R-Übungen für praxisnahe empirische Analysen (inkl. Daten und Code)
- Richtlinien für Leistungsnachweise

Event Basic course: Qualitative interviews
01GK57LB007 / Course / 1,418

Description:

Business event contents:
Der Grundkurs führt theoretisch in die Grundlagen qualitativer Sozialforschung ein, legt den Fokus jedoch auf die verschiedenen Formen des qualitativen Interviews (z.B. narratives Interview, problemzentriertes Interview). Im Kurs werden deren methodologische Voraussetzungen, Vorteile und Nachteile für die Religionswissenschaft reflektiert und diskutiert. Zugleich dient der Grundkurs des ersten praktischen Erprobens qualitativer Sozialforschung. Die TeilnehmerInnen werden anhand eines eigenen Forschungsbeispiels die verschiedenen Schritte des Forschungsprozesses durchlaufen: Entwicklung der Fragestellung, Herstellen des Feldzugangs, Datenerhebung, Transkription und Auswertung des Datenmaterials.

Event Statistik II, Tutorat Gruppe 4
06TT240-007d / Tutorat / 3,535

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Regressionsanalyse ist ein Verfahren für metrische Variablen und die wichtigste Analysetechnik der quantitativen Sozialforschung. Ein Verständnis ihrer Potentiale, Probleme und Anwendungsbezüge ist Voraussetzung zur erfolgreichen Absolvierung eines quantitativ orientierten Soziologiestudiums. Gleichfalls ist sie Schlüssel zur Bewährung in der empirisch geprägten sozialwissenschaftlichen Berufspraxis und Brücke in die Data Sciences. Nach Vorstellung der Grundlagen und Diskussion wichtiger Probleme der Regressionsanalyse (Ausreisser, fehlende Linearität) widmet sich die Vorlesung vertieft (a) der Integration kategorialer Variablen sowie (b) der simultanen Analyse mehrerer unabhängiger Variablen (Multiple Regression). Letzteres dient entweder der Kontrolle von Drittmerkmalen oder der Erhöhung der statistischen Erklärungskraft. Die multiple Regression erfüllt somit wichtig Funktionen bei der kausalen Absicherung von Zusammenhängen sowie der Etablierung statistischer Prognosemodelle.

Notes:
Die Veranstaltungsinhalte bauen auf die Themen der grundlegenden Statistikveranstaltung (Statistik I) auf. Die Absolvierung der beiden Veranstaltungen in der vorgesehenen Reihenfolge ist daher dringend angeraten.

Event Globalisierung und Multinationale Unternehmen (V) (Globalization and Multinational Enterprises)
03VL22BO0097 / Course / 1,373

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Vorlesung beschäftigt sich mit der Rolle der Multinationalen Unternehmen (MNU) in einer globalisierten Wirtschaft. Die Globalisierung führt zu einer Verengung der Handlungsspielräume nationalstaatlicher Politik. Die wirtschaftlichen Austauschprozesse entwachsen der Regelungsgewalt nationalstaatlicher Ordnungen. Zugleich sind die supranationalen Institutionen noch nicht in der Lage, der entgrenzten Wirtschaft einen neuen Ordnungsrahmen zu geben, der die wirtschaftlichen Handlungen in friedensdienliche Bahnen lenkt.

Insbesondere die Multinationalen Unternehmen sind der nationalstaatlichen Rechtsordnung nicht mehr unterworfen, sondern können unter alternativen Rahmenbedingungen nach ökonomischen Gesichtspunkten auswählen. Diese Entwicklungen erfordern eine Neubestimmung der Rolle der multinationalen Unternehmung. In der globalisierten Wirtschaft haben die MNU - wie die Diskussion zeigt - nicht nur eine ökonomische, sondern auch eine gesellschaftliche und politische Aufgabe (CSR) zu erfüllen.

Description:

Business event contents:
The lecture introduces two methods for the structure determination of biological macromolecules and cellular components: X-ray crystallography and electron microscopy (EM). The lecture provides students with the main concepts of protein structure determination by X-ray crystallography (protein crystallization, crystal symmetry and diffraction, data collection, phasing methods, refinement). The second part of the lecture will deal with electron microscopy. The topics include Transmission EM, Scanning EM, sample preparation, data acquisition, 3D reconstruction, aberration, detectors.

Teilnehmer:innen des Seminars erhalten einen umfassenden Einblick in den Bereich der Währungsforschung. Sie verstehen den Entstehungs-, Begründungs- und Verwertungszusammenhang der Währungsforschung und kennen ihre Funktionen, Zwänge und Limitationen. Am Beispiel ausgewählter Währungsstudien des Schweizer Medienmarktes lernen sie sowohl deren jeweilige methodische Ansätze zur Datenerhebung als auch die entsprechenden Tools zur Datenauswertung kennen und erarbeiten sich auf dieser Basis selbstständig neues Wissen zu vorhandenen Währungsstudien über die Grenzen der Schweiz hinaus. Abgeschlossen wird das Seminar mit einer kritischen Beurteilung aktueller Entwicklungen in der Währungsforschung und einem Ausblick auf die künftige Entwicklung dieses Forschungsbereiches.

Event Merleau-Ponty: The Phenomenology of Perception and other early writings
06SE160o016a / Seminar / 2,076

Description:

Business event contents:
How does our direct, bodily engagement with the world shape the very possibility of thought?
Maurice Merleau-Ponty's early philosophy offers a distinctive account of perception, embodiment, and the relation between humans and their environment. This course provides an in-depth study of Phenomenology of Perception (1945) alongside selections from his earlier work, The Structure of Behaviour (1942).
We will examine Merleau-Ponty's attempt to move beyond traditional divisions between mind and body, subject and object, and to replace them with an account of lived experience informed by phenomenology and psychology. The course will explore his critical engagement with Descartes, empiricism, behaviourism, Gestalt theory, Husserl and Sartre, and consider how these influences shape his philosophical method and arguments.
Classes will involve careful analysis of selected passages, attention to key concepts such as embodiment, intentionality, and perception, and discussion of the philosophical problems that arise from his work. We will also address the historical context in which Merleau-Ponty was writing, and assess how his ideas can be applied to contemporary issues in philosophy, cognitive science, and related fields.
Students will engage with the primary texts in detail, participate in structured discussion, and reflect critically on the strengths and weaknesses of Merleau-Ponty's positions. The course aims to provide a clear understanding of his early philosophical project, its coherence, and its continuing relevance.

Event Historische Inschriften
06KO600o004a / Colloquium / 1,498

Description:

Business event contents:
Inschriften sind schriftliche Zeugnisse, die in Stein gemeisselt oder auf anderen Trägermaterialien (Bronze, Keramik, Wandputz etc.) aufgetragen wurden. Sie bestechen einerseits durch diese Materialität und andererseits durch ihre Authentizität, d.h. in der Regel sind sie direkt überlieferte Zeitzeugnisse. Darüber hinaus liefern sie zahlreiche historisch, politisch, gesellschaftlich und wirtschaftlich relevante Informationen, welche die literarische Überlieferung entweder überhaupt nicht oder nur teilweise liefert. Diese Einblicke soll das Seminar bieten, indem ausgewählte Texte in ihrem jeweiligen historischen Kontext zu diskutieren sind.

Event Cicero Digital: Automatische Analyse antiker Briefe
06KO600o501a / Colloquium / 537

Description:

Business event contents:
Ciceros umfangreiche Briefkorrespondenz bietet einzigartige Einblicke in die politische, soziale und persönliche Welt der späten Römischen Republik. In diesem Kurs verbinden wir klassische Quellenarbeit mit digitalen Methoden und zeigen, wie moderne Werkzeuge der Textanalyse neue Perspektiven auf altbekannte Texte eröffnen können.

Im Zentrum stehen Verfahren der automatischen Textverarbeitung, etwa zur Erkennung von Themen, Netzwerken, Orten und Personen, zur stilometrischen Analyse oder zur Sentiment-Erkennung. Die Teilnehmenden lernen, mit frei zugänglichen digitalen Textkorpora zu arbeiten, Texte in der Programmiersprache Python vorzubereiten und unterschiedliche Analyseverfahren kritisch anzuwenden und historisch zu interpretieren.

Der Kurs richtet sich an Studierende der Geschichtswissenschaft und der Altertumswissenschaften mit Interesse an digitalen Methoden. Grundkenntnisse in Programmierung (z. B. im Umfang des Kurses "Von der Pythia zu Python" aus dem HS 2025) sind hilfreich und erwünscht, aber nicht zwingend erforderlich der Kurs führt Schritt für Schritt in die notwendigen Techniken ein. Es ist auch möglich, sich die Grundlagen während de vorlesungsfreien Zei anzueignen. Dazu bitte die Dozenten frühzeitig kontaktieren.

Allgemeine Beschreibung: Korruption und Fehlverhalten von und in Organisationen ist ein vielschichtiges Phänomen, das verschiedene Formen von Governance und Regulierung vor Probleme stellt. Im Kurs werden zentrale theoretische Konzepte und empirische Studien zu Korruption, Devianz, Fehlverhalten auf der Problemseite und Governance, Regulation und Compliance in und durch Organisationen auf der Lösungsseite diskutiert. Dabei wird eine eine Perspektive der Mehrebenen (Staat, Organisation, Individuen) und multipler Akteure (Staat, Industrie, soziale Bewegungen, Verbände, Organisation, Medien) auf verschiedene Governance- und Compliance-Ansätze in der Organisationsforschung eingenommen, um organisationales Fehlverhalten und Korruption einerseits zu verstehen und andererseits, normativ einzuordnen. Ein besonderer Fokus liegt dabei auf der Frage organisationaler Verantwortung, die empirisch am Beispiel internationaler Sportverbände diskutiert wird und dadurchdie Theoretisierung von Problemen der Verantwortungsdiffusion in Metaorganisationen ermöglicht. Die Teilnehmenden lernen, sich mit den Theorien kritisch auseinanderzusetzen und über aktuelle Themen der Multilevel-Governancesowie der Korruptionsbekämpfung zu diskutieren. Parallel dazu werden im Kurs Anleitungen und Hilfestellungen bereitgestellt, um Studenten bei ihrer Seminararbeit zu unterstützen. Die Seminararbeiten bieten eine gute Vorbereitung für eine spätere Bachelorarbeit.

Notes:
Der Kurs findet vor Ort statt und ist auf 25 Teilnehmer begrenzt. Die Teilnehmenden können sich im Voraus und spätestens bis zum 2. Februar 2026 per E-Mail an roman.gibel@business.uzh.ch bewerben und ihr Interesse an dem Kurs in einem kurzen Motivationsbeschrieb schildern, um einen Platz zu erhalten.

Event Data and Computing in Historical Research: Methodology and Methods
06UE598-503a / Exercise Group / 624

Description:

Business event contents:
Rooted in the history of science and technology, this seminar places equal emphasis on methodology and methods for conducting historical research in digitalized environments. The seminar begins with historiographical perspectives, focusing on the construction of data and computing histories in relation to knowledge production. It then introduces quantitative methods for historical analysis through accessible online tools, using as a case study a database of Rockefeller fellowships from 1914 to 1970. We next turn to the "Open History" approach based on large language models (LLMs). Through readings and in-class activities, students will critically examine both the possibilities of analyzing digitized historical materials and the challenges posed by their absence in certain contexts.

Event Organic Chemistry II: Navigating the Molecular Matrix
07VUCHE204.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 2,217

Description:

Business event contents:
The course "Organic Chemistry: Navigating the Molecular Matrix (CHE 204)" offers an in-depth exploration of organic chemistry, focusing on the intricate details of molecular structure and reactivity. The curriculum delves into stereochemistry and stereoselectivity, particularly in cyclic molecules, and examines the role of saturated heterocycles and stereoelectronics in organic compounds. A significant portion of the course is dedicated to the study of biomolecules, including carbohydrates, lipids, nucleic acids, amino acids, peptides, and proteins, highlighting their structures, functions, and biochemical roles. Additionally, the course covers the chemistry of sulfur, silicon, and phosphorus, and provides a comprehensive understanding of aromatic heterocycles through a two-part series on their reactions and synthesis.
Catalysis principles and a detailed analysis of organic reaction mechanisms, including additions, eliminations, and substitutions, are integral parts of the curriculum. The course also introduces organotransition metal reaction mechanisms and catalysis, enhancing students' understanding of the application of transition metals in organic reactions. This comprehensive program is designed to equip students with a profound understanding of the fundamental principles and applications in organic chemistry.
A detailed, living syllabus will be developed during class and published on OLAT.

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Motivationspsychologie befasst sich mit zielgerichtetem Verhalten und dessen zentralen charakterisierenden Merkmalen der Ausrichtung, Intensität und Ausdauer. Die Regulation des Zielstrebens mit seinen in der Person und der Umwelt liegenden vorauslaufenden Bedingungen sowie seinen Konsequenzen auf Wohlbefinden und Leistung wird sowohl unter einer allgemein- wie auch differentialpsychologischen Perspektive analysiert. In der Vorlesung werden folgende Inhalte vermittelt: Definitionen und Grundbegriffe der Motivationspsychologie; Überblick über die historischen Vorläufer der aktuellen Motivationsforschung; Leistungs-, Anschluss-, Machtmotivation; implizite und explizite Motive; Annäherungs- und Vermeidungsmotivation; intrinsische Motivation; Ziele, Volition und Handlungskontrolle.

Notes:

Bitte suchen Sie sich in diesem Fall bereits VOR der ersten Veranstaltung einen Laptop-Partner/eine Laptop-Partnerin. Das Installieren der benötigten Software wird in der ersten Vorlesung besprochen und / oder vorab per Email erklärt.

Event BIO 212 Language evolution: insights from animal communication
07VLBIO212 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,806

Description:

Business event contents:
This module examines the extent to which cognitive and communicative components of human language exist in non-human animal species.
Comparative studies of both wild and captive, as well as closely and distantly related animal species are summarized and placed in a broad framework to examine the phylogenetic age of human language abilities and the socio-ecological conditions underlying the emergence of language.

Event Primate origins of human sociality, cognition and mind
07VLBIO216 / Course / 2,382

Description:

Business event contents:
This course aims at exploring the current state of the art of research in primate cognition. To do so, we will first provide an overview over the fastly growing field of comparative psychology, identifying cognitive capacities across primates in various social and non-social domains, with data from both the wild and captivity. Based on the comparative approach, we will then discuss various hypotheses of primate cognitive evolution that have been proposed to explain this pattern, and ultimately ask whether and how this approach can help us to understand the evolutionary pathways that have led to our own cognitive capacities, but also more complex features of the human mind including general intelligence, language, normativity and morality.

Event Orizzonti e relazioni: un’introduzione all’antropologia culturale
06VL410o035a / Course / 2,221

Description:

Business event contents:
In questo corso il prof. Adriano Favole (Università di Torino) si propone di fornire un'introduzione ai metodi e ai principali temi dell'antropologia contemporanea. Il docente farà riferimento alle sue ricerche etnografiche in varie isole dell'Europa d'Oltremare (la Nuova Caledonia, Wallis e Futuna nel Pacifico, la Rèunion nell'Oceano indiano) e imposterà ogni lezione a partire da una parola chiave. "Relazione", "identità", "ambiente", "patrimonio", "creatività" saranno alcuni dei temi affrontati nel Corso. A partire dalla sua esperienza di disseminazione dell'antropologia e di sperimentazione di nuovi linguaggi, il docente lavorerà con gli studenti anche nella prospettiva della comunicazione scientifica. L'obiettivo generale del corso è quello di mostrare che la diversità culturale delle società umane e le loro forme di relazione con l'ambiente forniscono uno straordinario strumento per ripensare il futuro in una chiave decoloniale e sostenibile.

Event Land Grab, State Grab: Post-War Capitalism and Decolonisation
06KO600o009a / Colloquium / 1,803

Description:

Business event contents:
Land Grab, State Grab: Post-War Capitalism and Decolonisation
Economic relations after World War II were shaped by the U.S.-led Bretton Woods multilateral financial system, and also by a transformative wave of decolonisation that saw the number of U.N. member-states rise sharply to 127 by 1970.
Launched at the meeting of the United Nations Monetary and Financial Conference held at Bretton Woods, New Hampshire in July 1944, the Bretton Woods system was undersigned by Britain as part of a multi-billion dollar loan from the United States in 1945. The Anglo-American negotiations, starring John Maynard Keynes, were complex, riven by diverging views over the future of Britain's colonial dependencies.
Along with theories of the 'economy', studentswill be introduced to monetary history through archival documents relating to post-War financial history. The decolonisation of British India in 1947 through the creation of two post-colonial nations, will serve as the links to post-War histories of capitalism, Britain's inability to restore sterling's convertibility in 1947 and the dollar's role as the world's main reserve currency. The course will also examine decolonisation and the competition for primary resources.

Event Machtmittel? Altruismus? Geschichte der Entwicklungszusammenarbeit
06SE600-047a / Seminar / 1,913

Description:

Business event contents:
Spätestens seit dem zweiten Amtsantritt von Donald Trump und dem Rückbau von US AID, der United States Agency for International Development, steht die Entwicklungszusammenarbeit global unter Druck.
Trotz zahlreichen Krisen und Kriegen kürzen die meisten Staaten, darunter auch die Schweiz, ihre Ausgaben in diesem Bereich. Angesichts des globalen Abbaus der Entwicklungszusammenarbeit fragen wir in diesem Seminar, wie die Bilanz der Entwicklungszusammenarbeit seit ihrem Aufkommen nach dem Zweiten Weltkrieg ausfällt? Wer hat von ihr profitiert? Welche Ziele konnten erreicht werden, und welche nicht? War sie ein Machtmittel von wirtschaftlich mächtigen Staaten, altruistische Hilfe für sogenannt "unterentwickelte Staaten," eine win-win Kooperation, oder nichts davon? Im Seminar nähern wir uns diesen Fragen von verschiedenen Perspektiven an und beschäftigen uns mit der allgemeinen Geschichte der Entwicklungszusammenarbeit sowie konkreten Beispielen aus unterschiedlichen Kontexten. Es geht dabei nicht zuletzt um das Verhältnis zwischen Akteur*innen und Staaten des sogenannten Globalen Südens und solchen des Globalen Nordens.

Event Political Mobilization and Violence
06SE615-BAd / Seminar / 2,316

Description:

Business event contents:
This is the second part of the Specialization seminar "Political Mobilization and Violence". We focus on the development of your BA Thesis. The second part of the Spezialisierung is organized around three project milestones: (1) theoretical argument, causal mechanisms, and hypotheses; (2) research designs and data analysis; and (3) empirical findings and the discussion of the main results. We use these milestones to push your BA Thesis project towards the finish line. For each milestone, you will have two types of meetings. First, we will have five group meetings distributed across the semester. Each of these sessions provide you with the opportunity to present key parts of your thesis project, gain insights from other projects, and collect peer feedback to further improve your BA Thesis. Second, following each group meeting, you will have an individual meeting with the lecturer to get personalized feedback on your BA Thesis project. Note that depending on the size of the cohort, the frequency of these personal meetings may change.

Event El Discurso Poético (grupo 1)
06SE427-001a / Seminar / 1,383

Description:

Business event contents:
Este curso tiene el objetivo de introducir y familiarizar a sus participantes con el análisis de los textos literarios y, en esta segunda parte, nos centraremos en el análisis discursivo de textos pertenecientes al género lírico. Teniendo en cuenta que una de las características fundamentales de la poesía es su hipercodificación, en las primeras lecciones estudiaremos nociones fundamentales de métrica y de retórica. Más adelante, aprovechando los conocimientos de narratología aprendidos en el semestre anterior, nos centraremos en la interacción entre el plano de la expresión y el plano del contenido a la hora de construir el significado poético. Por tal motivo, la parte central del semestre la dedicaremos a analizar multitud de textos poéticos de Federico García Lorca. Por último, en la recta final del semestre, las alumnas y alumnos trabajarán y discutirán en clase el poema que analizarán en su trabajo.

Notes:
En la redacción del trabajo se admite el empleo de la inteligencia artificial SOLO para la corrección idiomática (una vez redactado), pero NO para la elaboración de su contenido y, menos aún, para el análisis de los poemas, que ha de elaborarse bajo la supervisión de la tutora, por lo que se aconseja fervientemente tomar parte en la tutoría que acompaña al Seminario.

Course Materials:	Todos los materiales se colgarán en OLAT poco antes del inicio del semestre.

Business event contents:
Alors que notre temps est de plus en plus morcelé, il peut être pertinent de se tourner vers des textes brefs : fables, nouvelles, poèmes en prose ou en vers, essais, lettres.
Les formes brèves facilitent le partage de la lecture et permettent d'aller en profondeur. Bien choisis, ils offrent la possibilité de saisir l'essentiel d'un univers poétique, ou, tout au moins, d'y ouvrir un accès privilégié.
Du point de vue de l'analyse, ils mettent en évidence, de manière condensée, les mécanismes à l'œuvre dans la production de la signification.
Enfin, les textes courts se prêtent aussi bien à l'enseignement qu'à la communication de nos recherches vers l'extérieur, offrant ainsi de multiples possibilités de transfert didactique.

Notes:
Le module comporte deux volets : dans le premier (avec Dagmar Wieser), seront abordés des textes courts issus de l'espace européen à travers les siècles ; dans le second (avec Ursula Bähler), le travail portera sur des textes extra-européens de différentes périodes.
Thématiquement, on s'intéressera à des sujets variés : héritage colonial, écologie et, de manière plus générale, la connaissance de soi et le rapport à autrui. Le but est de montrer comment la littérature participe aux débats des sociétés à travers le temps et l'espace.

Description:

Business event contents:
Wir sind es gewohnt, Literatur zu lesen. Darüber hinaus gibt es aber eine ganze Tradition gesprochener Literatur, die entweder gar nie dazu bestimmt war, in schriftliche Texte einzugehen, oder die vor oder nach dem Moment der Verschriftlichung akustisch und somit hörbar zum Ausdruck gelangt. Bereits Aristoteles schreibt in seiner Poetik, dass "die hierfür besonders Begabten von den Anfängen an allmählich Fortschritte gemacht und so aus den Improvisationen die Dichtung hervorgebracht" haben. Es ist davon auszugehen, dass es sich dabei um mündliche Improvisationen handelte. Mit der Erfindung des Radios hat gesprochene Literatur einen weiteren Radius erreicht. Zugleich wurde durch den Einsatz akustischer Aufzeichnungstechniken ein zeitversetztes Hören ermöglicht. Quer dazu wiederum haben sich mündliche Formate der Literatur etabliert oder weiterentwickelt, die - wie schon bei der klassischen Autor:innen-Lesung - auf den Moment der Kopräsenz von Sprecher:innen und Hörer:innen setzen. Dabei kann sowohl weiterhin improvisiert als auch bereits Vorformuliertes vorgetragen werden. Im Mastersemi-nar verfolgen wir unterschiedliche Stationen der Lautpoesie von Dada (1916) bis zur Gegenwart, von Hugo Ball bis zu Amanda Gorman und Kae Tempest. Wir konzentrieren uns auf Beispiele aus dem 20. und dem frühen 21. Jahrhundert und fragen dabei immer auch nach den Medien, in denen hörbare Literatur ihre Spuren hinterlässt (oder auch nicht). Wir beschäftigen uns dabei mit 'Spoken Word' im weiteren Sinne all jener Erfindungs- und Vortragsformen von Literatur, die auf das gesprochene Wort rekurrieren und oder darin ihren Anfang nehmen.

Event Mediendidaktik für den Fremdsprachenunterricht
06SE090MFU / Seminar / 2,064

Description:

Business event contents:
Ein interessantes Überschneidungsfeld ergibt sich, wenn digitale Medien im Fremdsprachenunterricht zum Einsatz kommen: Fachdidaktik Englisch, Französisch, Italienisch oder Spanisch trifft auf Mediendidaktik. In diesem Seminar erhalten Sie einen Überblick über das Thema, indem Sie mehr als 100 Ressourcen entdecken und ausprobieren. Einige sind bereits didaktisiert, andere können als Lehr- und Lernressourcen entfremdet werden. Wir werden gemeinsam überlegen, unter welchen Bedingungen mit digitalen Medien effektive Lernszenarien entstehen und welche Lernziele des Sprachunterrichts wir damit besonders gut erreichen können. Oder ergeben sich durch digitale Innovationen sogar neue Lernziele im Fremdsprachenunterricht? Auch dieser Frage gehen wir nach, indem wir das Potenzial von maschinellen Übersetzungstools und Textgeneratoren im Hinblick auf die Entwicklung kommunikativer Kompetenz ausloten. Dabei entwerfen Sie eigene Unterrichtsszenarien - z.B. für eine BYOD-Klasse - und setzen sich auch mit Fragen der Chancengleichheit und der Nachhaltigkeit auseinander.

Event Comparative Administrative Law
02VL90CL1-1 / Course / 4,379

Description:

Business event contents:
Many countries struggle with the amount of regulation that administrative authorities must implement. Although the subject areas of such regulation are quite di-verse, the implementation is usually guided by some general rules, often unwritten. These rules form what is called "Administrative Law" (or "General Administrative Law").
The course looks into these rules from a comparative perspective. Common problems that may arise in the administrative context are illustrated by cases and other materials. Students are asked to comment on these cases and compare them - if possible - to their own legal background.
The course is divided in two parts. At the beginning of the semester, students will be introduced to the typical topics of administrative law and discuss cases. In the second part, they will present a case from their home country (or from elsewhere) and discuss it in class (likewise the earlier cases). This will be the exam. Active participation in class will be mandatory and be taken into account for the final mark (33 %).

Notes:
The number of participants may be limited.

Event Obtaining data from the internet: Data crawling for research in business and economics (S)
03SEDOEC0915 / Doktorandenseminar / 2,202

Description:

Business event contents:
The increasing availability of semistructured data on the Internet is becoming an important data source for research in economics and management. However, much of the data cannot be readily downloaded but can only be accessed through websites. The manual extraction of content from websites is burdensome and becomes with increasing size of the underlying data quickly unfeasible. One solution is to systematically extract this data with automated programs written for this purpose, so- called web crawling or web scraping.
This active learning workshop introduces participants to some of the key tools, frequent complications, and tips and tricks of web crawling. The goal of this course is to provide a good understanding about the possibilities of crawling, while also giving enough time for participants to work on their own project in a hands-on approach where participants actively solve exercises that are directly connected to their own research interests.
In addition to teaching the basic skills needed for web crawling, the workshop will also cover more advanced topics such as accessing websites through APIs and Selenium, extracting text using HTML and CSS, scaling web-scrapers using cloud-based solutions and using Machine-Learning- based methods to filter and combine resulting large-scale data-sets.

Notes:
The seminar is limited to a maximum of 20 participants. Please apply via e-mail to entrepreneurship@business.uzh.ch. It is not allowed to attend the seminar without confirmation.

Event Design Thinking in der SchuleDesign Thinking in der Schule
06SE090DT / Seminar / 649

Description:

Business event contents:
Unsere global vernetzte Welt wandelt sich ständig und stellt uns vor Herausforderungen, die mit herkömmlichen Methoden oft nicht zu bewältigen sind. Im Seminar steht das Konzept des Design Thinking (DT) im Vordergrund, welches einen wirkungsvollen Ansatz bietet, um systematisch neue Lösungen für komplexe Probleme zu entwickeln. DT bietet Lehrenden und Lernenden die Möglichkeit, in konstruktiver Teamarbeit Probleme kreativ und innovativ anzugehen und neue Ideen hervorzubringen. Sie entwickeln im Seminar Lernkonzepte entlang verschiedener Themen, um Schüler*innen auf einem innovativen, lösungsorientierten Umgang mit Herausforderungen der Zukunft vorzubereiten. Dabei wird der DT-Prozess durchlaufen, welcher Lehrende dabei unterstützen kann, neue Denkweisen, Perspektiven und Bedürfnisse in die Unterrichtsvorbereitung einzubringen.

Event Filmgeschichte in Theorie und Praxis
06UE255o008a / Exercise Group / 1,037

Description:

Business event contents:
Filmgeschichte wird nicht nur an Universitäten, sondern auch in anderen Bereichen der Filmkultur geschrieben: in Retrospektiven auf Festivals und in Programmkinos, in Texten spezialisierter Filmzeitschriften, durch Restaurierungs- und Kuratierungspraktiken in Archiven und Museen sowie durch Programme und Zugriffsmöglichkeiten im Fernsehen und im Internet.
Die Übung wird Gelegenheit geben, Akteure aus diesen Feldern in gemeinsamen Diskussionsrunden persönlich kennen zu lernen. Dabei soll es vor allem um die Frage gehen, welche Rolle die im Studium erworbenen filmhistorischen Kenntnisse in konkreten Berufen ausserhalb der universitären Forschung spielen können, etwa in der Zusammenstellung historischer Filmprogramme, in der Filmrestauration oder in filmbezogenen Ausstellungen in Museen. Zugleich soll diskutiert werden, welche filmhistorischen Grundannahmen den jeweiligen Praktiken zugrunde liegen. Zu diesem Zweck werden wir begleitend zu den Diskussionsrunden Texte zu Methoden der Filmhistoriografie lesen und in Bezug zur Praxis setzen.
Einerseits dient die Übung dazu, Methoden und Praktiken der Filmgeschichtsschreibung kritisch zu hinterfragen, andererseits soll sie Anregung für den eigenen praktischen Umgang mit Filmgeschichte, einschliesslich möglicher Berufsperspektiven, geben.

Notes:
Die Sitzungen finden in unregelmässigen Abständen statt.

Event Introduction to Molecular Design and Synthesis
07VUMDS101.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,607

Description:

Business event contents:
Subjects to be addressed will include:

Creativity and Solving Problems in Chemical Research: This part of the course will focus on creativity in chemical research. We will concentrate on the creative solving of problems that may arise in performing science. The knowledge gained shall be useful in many later job situations, in- and outside of academia.

Bioconjugation chemistry: This part of the course will explore a wide range of chemical and biochemical reactions that can be used for coupling small drug molecules to various biologicaly relevant vectors (proteins, etc). Synthetic approaches will cover standard chemical transformations as well as some of the advances in enzyme-mediated reactions and photochemistry. The utility of different bioconjugation chemistries will be illustrating in the context of antibody-drug conjugates and the synthesis of radioactive probes for nuclear imaging and/or molecularly targeted radiotherapy.
Students will also be challenged to 'design' their own novel conjugat routes.

Event Wissenschaftliches Schreiben
06SE360o011a / Seminar / 3,263

Description:

Business event contents:
Die schriftliche Arbeit ist der wichtigste Leistungsnachweis des Germanistikstudiums. Thematische Seminare bieten zwar Hilfestellungen.
Dennoch setzen sie Schreibkompetenz in der Regel eher voraus, als dass sie sie schulen. In diesem Seminar haben wir die Zeit, uns von Grund auf theoretisch und praktisch mit dem wissenschaftlichen Schreiben zu beschäftigen. Anhand von literarischen Texten (u. a. Musil), schreibdidaktischer Forschung und germanistischen Vorbildern vermittelt das Seminar das klassische Handwerk: etwa die systematische Ideenfindung, die optimale Planung der Arbeitsphasen, den logischen Aufbau von Forschungsvorhaben, die Absatzgestaltung, den fruchtbaren Umgang mit Zitaten oder einen guten Schreibstil. Das Zentrum des Seminars bildet dabei die praktische Erfahrung am Schreibtisch. Um Arbeitsschritte und -techniken zu reflektieren, entwerfen und verfassen wir kleinere Forschungsvorhaben, die wir gemeinsam diskutieren und weiterentwickeln. Wissenschaftliches Schreiben ist ein persönlicher, geselliger und kreativer Prozess. Und beinhaltet folglich weitaus mehr als ein bloßer - womöglich KI-frisierter - Leistungsnachweis.

Cet exercice demandé dans le cadre du DALF C1 possède de nombreuses qualités: il permet d'apprendre à dégager les idées essentielles des textes, de les résumer sous forme de points clés afin de comprendre les enjeux d'un sujet. Il oblige à être précis et neutre afin de rendre le plus fidèlement possible des idées énoncées par des tiers. La concision conduit également à la précision de la langue.

Event Fachdidaktik Italienisch II
06SE090Ita2 / Seminar / 986

Description:

Business event contents:
Nell'insegnamento dell'italiano al liceo non si mira solo allo sviluppo delle competenze comunicative, ma anche delle competenze parziali che permettono di raggiungere l'intraducibile «vertiefte Gesellschaftsreife». È questo, infatti, l'obiettivo ultimo delle scuole di maturità - dove la «maturità» implica anche sensibilità interculturale, capacità di capire e interpretare testi polisemici, pensiero critico e creatività. Il ruolo della letteratura è centrale, a questi fini, perché richiede di andare ben al di là della semplice comprensione del testo. Nel corso del semestre, avremo modo di conoscere metodi e tecniche per sviluppare la competenza analitica dell'apprendente e la sua capacità di interpretare il testo sia rispetto al contesto in cui nasce, sia rispetto all'attualità.
Scopriremo che non esiste un canone letterario predefinito: è l'insegnante (in virtù della «Lehrfreiheit») che propone una scelta dititoli, avvalendosi di criteri quali, per esempio, la variazione di tipologie testuali e di tematiche, la difficoltà linguistica e d'analisi, l'estensione del testo o la presenza di elementi culturali.
Creeremo insieme una raccolta di testi adatti ai vari livellilinguistici, ma anche unità didattiche che siano in grado di stimolare l'interesse, il coinvolgimento e la creatività nel lavoro sul testo.
Infine, ci chiederemo come valutare le competenze raggiunte e, abbracciando i contenuti dei due semestri di didattica dell'italiano, concluderemo vagliando possibili formati dell'esame di maturità - fino a costruirne uno insieme.

Event Law and Technology - a cross-continental perspective
02VL90WM15-1 / Course / 1,825

Description:

Business event contents:
This course will explore the interaction between law and modern technology. It will introduce students to the potentially problematic relationship between legal rules and technological change, and then begin to explore real substantive problems at the interface between them. This will require some understanding of particular legal doctrines and particular technologies, which the course itself will provide. It is the aim of the course to teach, encourageand nurture creative legal (and technological) thinking when contemplating questions such as the possible regulation and/or promotion (for example, through patents) of technology and technological change.

Notes:
The course will take place from 19 to 30 January 2026 in Sydney, Australia.

Event RWP Master course: Policy Paper: Religion in School
01SE020100 / Seminar / 2,071

Description:

Business event contents:
Der Meisterkurs macht mit den Grundlagen des Verfassens von Policy Papers vertraut. Die Teilnehmenden verfassen in Kleingruppen ein eigenes Policy Paper zum genannten Thema und stellen es am Schluss des Meisterkurses zusätzlich in einer mündlichen Präsentation vor.

Religionsunterricht ist auf unterschiedlichste Weise Teil des schulischen Unterrichts in der Schweiz. Einerseits als Teil des regulären Lehrplans, aber andererseits in vielen Kantonen auch als kirchlicher (häufig ökumenischer) Religionsunterricht organisiert. Aufgrund der veränderten Religionslandschaft stellt sich die Frage, inwiefern der schulische Religionsunterricht dieser Tatsache gerecht werden kann. Im Hintergrund spielen dabei verschiedene Konzepte und Regulierungen eine Rolle: Zwischen 'teaching about' und 'teaching in' (religion) und verschiedenen Zwischentönen bestehen ebensogrosse Unterschiede wie zwischen den kantonalen Regelungen für die (Nicht-)Beteiligung von Kirchen am Religionsunterricht in der Schule. Die Herausforderungen und möglichen Lösungsansätze einer möglichen Gleichstellung zeigen sich in der Debatte um die Zukunft des schulischen Religionsunterrichts. Sollen Schulen den Religionsunterricht gänzlich aus der Hand der Kirchen nehmen? Oder ist es sinnvoll, dem konfessionellen Religionsunterricht einen Platz einzuräumen? Welche Perspektive ist für die Behandlung von Religion im Regelunterricht sinnvoll und gerechtfertigt? Was kann und soll eine Lehrkraft zum Thema Religion beitragen, was für die gesamte Gesellschaft wichtig ist?

Diese und weitere Fragen werden wir im Rahmen des Meisterkurses behandeln. Ziel ist es in kleinen Gruppen kurze Policy-Paper zu verfassen, die Empfehlungen mit Blick auf diese Fragen abgeben und sich dadurch ein Grundwissen zum Thema "Religion in der Schule" zu erarbeiten.

07SEGEO411.1 / Praktikum / 1,032

Description:

Business event contents:
The preparatory seminar introduces through practicals the theoretical background and methods as well as related equipment for conducting field-studies on processes in high mountain areas. It includes topics such as geomorphological mapping, sampling and uncertainty considerations, quantification of geometry, glacier melt measurements and modelling, temperature-loggers (permafrost), ground penetrating radar as well as the development of a group project for the field course.

- For most practicals a small report has to be written which together count for 50% of the final module mark.

Notes:
Attendance of the preparatory seminars (GEO411.1) in FS is compulsory for the field course.

Costs for the field course are approx. CHF 380.00 per student, excluding train ticket and subject to small changes.
A general physical fitness and ability to hike and move around in mountainous terrain is required.

Note: field course, post-fieldcourse sessions are all compulsory - check your availability!

Event Basics in Flow Chemistry
07VUDSA102.3 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 431

Description:

Business event contents:
Flow chemistry is a technique in which reactions are performed in a continuous stream within tubing, as opposed to traditional batch processes in a flask. Due to its precise control over reaction parameters, flow chemistry is often employed to facilitate challenging reactions that are otherwise difficult to achieve. This lecture will introduce the fundamentals of flow chemistry, including microfluidics and specialized equipment, with a focus on applications in synthetic organic chemistry. Additionally, a brief overview of in-line analysis, automation, and feedback optimization will be provided.

Event Science and Technology in China
06SE280o608a / Seminar / 3,475

Description:

Business event contents:
Apart from the "gun," science and technology have long been regarded as essential pillars of the Chinese Party-state's project of national rejuvenation. From the Maoist emphasis on self-reliance and mass science, through the reform-era opening to global knowledge and markets, to the contemporary drive for technological sovereignty and "new quality productive forces," science and technology have functioned not merely as instruments of economic modernization but as tools of governance and legitimacy. This course traces the evolving place of science and technology in the Chinese political order: their role in state planning and industrial policy; the institutional architectures of research, education, and innovation; the entanglement of civilian and military agendas; and the ideological framing of technological progress. Students will also examine the actors who animate China's scientific and technological fields, including scientists and engineers, Party cadres, entrepreneurs, and global partners and competitors. Through this, the course provides a deeper understanding of how science and technology are imagined, organized, and mobilized in service of China's developmental and political goals.

Notes:
The first session of the course will take place on March 4, 2026. Omitted February sessions will take place at later dates yet to be coordinated with the students.

Course Materials:	Readings for each weak will be mainly in English and take the form of up to five academic articles/book chapters per week. 07VLESS842.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 4,904

Description:

Business event contents:
Teams will practice using techniques, and develop a project concept into a short research plan, including all steps from hypothesis statements through data collection to analysis, using an electronic notebook format and Python or R. They will then conduct 2-3 days of field work at the long-term observation site Lägeren (Baden) to perform measurements and collect plant and soil samples according to their project. In the following week, the obtained samples will be prepared and analyzed, followed by data evaluation and presentation of the results. Afterwards, students will submit a report. Projects will target current research topics and may be guided by the interest of the students. Examples of previous projects are: 'Nutrients in plants and soils as a function of tree age', 'Spatial variability of soil properties', or 'Mi of organic matter of fallen trees'.

They actively manage a portfolio, following an academic, fundamental or quantitative approach. Students provide regular performance updates in the form of monthly reporting sheets and regularly present on their portfolio holdings and performance to their peers, professors, and industry experts.
Participants in this module act as tutors, mentoring students in the "Portfolio Management Theory 2" course to prepare them for their upcoming portfolio management tasks and to ensure a smooth handover of the portfolio.

Notes:
The number of participants is limited. Only open to students who successfully completed Portfolio Management Theory 1 and 2.
The seminar will be held onsite at the scheduled times. Students are encouraged to ask questions and contribute to the class discussions.

Event Derivatives portfolio valuations: advanced computational methods for real world business applications
03VU22MO0111 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 647

Description:

Business event contents:
The standard fair value theory of pricing provides a direct recipe to value derivatives. In practice though its plain-vanilla usage is not enough to address many real world applications.

The challenge arises because of: i) adjustments to price that depend on portfolio level valuations; ii) large number of scenarios and/or valuations required for widely used business metrics; iii) complexity of the pay-off structure of some derivatives, specifically if to be valued repeatedly in simulation.

During the lectures, we will take a bottom-up "LEGO" approach and show how to use and implement different advanced computational methods to real world problems. Among others, we will tackle sophisticated business applications such as:

- XVA pricing: portfolio level adjustments to price are required to account for the costs of counterparty credit risk (CVA/DVA), funding (FVA/MVA) and capital (KVA). XVA metrics crunch a large number of simulated scenarios and valuations over the life of the portfolio and this is unfeasible with the standard pricing framework used for fair value P&L. Bespoke Monte Carlo based valuation methodologies are required, with an increasing focus on the usage of Machine Learning technics for exotic pay-offs.
- VAR and ES: VAR and ES metrics span multiple business use cases, e.g.
quantifying market risk, mandatory margin requirements for cleared and un-cleared derivatives (generally referred as Initial Margin (IM)) or regulatory capital (see next item). Their computation requires multiple portfolio valuations and/or sensitivities ("Greeks") w.r.t. large sets of risk factors. Bespoke numerical methods such as AAD should be adopted to perform the computation at scale.
- Regulatory capital: the Fundamental Review of the Trading Book (FRTB), on top of other Basel III reforms, have raised substantially the complexity of the valuation framework for regulatory capital. Similar technics as for XVA and VAR (Monte Carlo, AAD, Machine Learning) should therefore be leveraged to compute regulatory capital for derivatives in a compliant and cost-effective fashion.
To make all the above concrete, we will implement a manageable Monte Carlo framework with Python and we will use it to:
- Perform XVA pricing with industry standard models such as Hull-White for IR/FX asset classes.
- Compute risk sensitivities with AAD and calculate metrics such as VAR, IM and regulatory capital for example portfolios.
- Compute risk sensitivities and XVA for derivatives with complex pay-offs using supervised machine learning.
(For more technically inclined students, guidance will be provided on how to implement such framework in C++, the standard programming language for high performance software in the financial industry).

Notes:
There will be a 2-day block part (14h, 50%) before the official lecture start, continued by 2h lectures on a weekly basis (14h,50%). Weekly ZOOM catch-ups for questions regarding the homework will be offered.

Course Materials:	No text book is required for the course; provided material will be self-consistent. Additional references for people interested will be provided during lectures.

Business event contents:
Identifying, recruiting and retaining the "right" employees are among the most important task in the formative stages of a new business. At the same time these tasks are also among the most challenging. While the importance of the human capital endowment for the performance of a young firm is undisputed, the focus in the academic entrepreneurship literature has traditionally been on thehuman capital of the founders. This seminar provides an overview over recent academic literature that deals with the effects of the human capital of both founders and employees on new ventures' performance. Who founds successfulstart-ups? Whom do young firms employ? And how does this affect future start-upperformance as well as the careers of founders and employees?

Event Corporate Entrepreneurship (S)
03SE22BO0083 / Seminar / 577

Description:

Business event contents:
Corporate entrepreneurship refers to entrepreneurial activity that occurs in established firms, which compete in technologically sophisticated markets and search for entrepreneurial opportunities.
Innovation constitutes a major foundation for the discovery and exploitation of opportunities in those firms. Opportunities typically arise from market conditions and the firm's internal capabilities, resources and skills. In their search for opportunities, corporate entrepreneurs frequently explore technological frontiers within and outside a firm's current business domain. The seminar will focus particularly on corporate venturing, strategic renewal, and innovation, with an emphasis on how firms get access to knowledge from external sources that can be combined with internal capabilities. In the seminar, students will present and discuss selected academic journal articles on the topic.

Notes:
The seminar is limited to a maximum of 36 students. Beyond normal booking (Modulebooking), a second application to the chair is necessary by February, 1, 2026 by e-mail: entrepreneurship@business.uzh.ch.

Das spezialisierte Masterstudienprogramm "Christentum in der Gesellschaft"" dient einer wissenschaftlich differenzierten Reflexion des Christentums unter Berücksichtigung seiner biblischen Grundlagen und seiner Geschichte und fokussiert auf die Interaktion zwischen Christentum und Gesellschaft in Vergangenheit und Gegenwart.
Dieses Seminar führt von einer grundlegenden (praktisch-)theologischen Perspektive aus in (aktuelle und mediale) Phänomene des Christentums in der heutigen Gesellschaft ein, verdeutlicht die damit verbundenen Chancen und Herausforderungen (etwa für das Verhältnis von Kirche und Staat oder konkrete ethische und handlungspraktische Fragen) und liefert so zugleich eine Grundorientierung für die Ausrichtung des gesamten Studiengangs, auch im Zusammenhang mit den prinzipiellen Problemstellungen und Anforderungen des Pfarrberufs.

Notes:
Bei zu geringer Zahl (unter 6 Personen) wird dieses Veranstaltung wieder im FS 2027 durchgeführt. Ein Learning contract ist angesichts der interaktiven Ausrichtung der Veranstaltung prinzipiell nicht vorgesehen.
Auch wenn sich die Veranstaltung insbesondere an Studierende des Spez.Masters "Christentum in der Gesellschaft" richtet, kann sie ebenfalls von Studierenden anderer Studiengänge der Theologie belegt werden. Als Vorbereitung auf die Veranstaltung wird die aufmerksame Wahrnehmung der medialen Berichterstattung (analog und digital) zu Aspekten christlicher Religion und Kirche empfohlen. Neben der regelmässigen Mitarbeit wird die Ausarbeitung eines Essays sowie die schriftliche Anfertigung einer Recherche zur Thematik "Christentum in der Gesellschaft" (nach eigener Wahl) vorausgesetzt.

Event Christian Practices in Global Perspective
01SE65LB040 / Seminar / 536

Description:

Business event contents:
In this seminar course, we will use selected examples (and meet concrete persons!) from Europe, Africa, Asia, North America and South America to gain insights into the current situation of Christianity, the concrete practice and the challenges it faces, with a particular focus on public theology/theologies in the various religious, cultural, societal and political context. To this end, we will invite speakers / colleagues from international Practical Theology from the aforementioned contexts (presumably mainly digital) to discuss the tasks of Theology and the Church and its practice to, from there, reflect on a 'contextual public theology' and its consequences for Church development strategies.

Notes:
Students are expected to study the relevant contextual literature and to give a presentation to demonstrate their understanding of the context.

Event OT Seminar: One Story, Many Interpretations - Approaches to the Reception History of the Bible
01SE14SS052 / Seminar / 200

Description:

Business event contents:
Geht es im Buch Jona nur um "einen Typen in einem Wal"? Ist das Jonabuch eine Parodie oder geht es (auch) um grundlegende ethische und theologische Fragen: Haben Menschen, die falsch handeln und Reue zeigen, eine zweite Chance verdient? Wem gilt Gottes Barmherzigkeit: nur einer bestimmten Gruppe von Menschen oder allen Menschen und auch allen Tieren? Wie lasen die ersten Leser und Leserinnen das Jonabuch? Wie wurde und wird das Buch Jona von Christinnen und Christen gelesen? Und wie wurde und wird es aus jüdischer Sicht gelesen?

Das Seminar gibt Gelegenheit, sich anhand ausgewählter Texte der Hebräischen Bibel / des Alten Testaments mit der Frage auseinanderzusetzen, was ein Text bedeutet hat gegenüber dem, was ein Text bedeutet. Gefragt wird auch nach dem Verhältnis der "ursprünglichen" Bedeutung eines Textes und seiner Rezeptionsgeschichte (Wie wurde ein Text im Laufe der Zeit verstanden?). Grundlage für die gemeinsame Arbeit im Seminar bilden ausgewählte biblische Texte (nicht nur das Jonabuch!) sowie das in den Unterrichtsmaterialien angegebene Buch von Amy-Jill Levine und Mark Zvi Brettler.

Notes:
Die Veranstaltung findet am 19.02.26 nicht statt und am 26.02.26 eventuell Online. Die Dozentin wird sich per OLAT melden. Bei Fragen können Sie nina.beerli@uzh.ch direkt kontaktieren.

Event Introduction to Computational Materials Science and Quantum Chemistry
07VUCHE748.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 562

Description:

Business event contents:
This course aims at providing students fundamentals in materials science and quantum chemistry. The lectures deals with the theoretical background knowledge for state-of- the-art materials simulations at atomistic-level details and quantum chemical calculations.
Students will acquire knowledge of fundamental theories on which algorithms in computer simulation are based in the context of computational material science and more.
Students are expected to learn fundamentals of computational science simulations in modeling solid, liquid, and solid-liquid nanostructures acquiring the ability to apply these approaches to practical problems in materials science. This course will focus on multiple subjects related to up-to-date research topics. Attendees will acquire a critical thinking in evaluating the pros and cons in modeling solid structure, nanomaterials and surface via a detailed knowledge of main properties of these latter.
The lectures in the field of quantum chemistry will focus on basics from quantum mechanics and an introduction to the Hartree-Fock theory.

Event Dialektsyntax
06SE360-543b / Seminar / 669

Description:

Business event contents:
Traditionell war die (schweizerdeutsche und internationale) Dialektologie auf Lautung, Morphologie und Lexik konzentriert, aber die Syntax blieb lange Zeit ein «Stiefkind». Das Interesse an dialektaler Syntax begann erst vor ca.
25 Jahren schnell zu wachsen, nicht nur in dialektologischen, sondern auch in grammatiktheoretischen, sprachtypologischen und jüngst auch kontaktlinguistischen Kontexten. Ausgangspunkt für das Seminar ist das 2021 erschienene umfassende Grundlagenwerk Syntaktischer Atlas der deutschen Schweiz SADS (Glaser Hg. 2021). Wir verfolgen ein doppeltes Ziel: Einerseits arbeiten wir uns in ausgewählte, für die linguistische Analyse besonders interessante Phänomenbereiche ein. Andererseits vollziehen wir den Forschungsprozess selbständig nach (Entwicklung einer Fragestellung, Datenerhebung, Datenauswertung), sowohl mittels Befragung von Dialektsprecher:innen als auch mit Hilfe des ebenfalls kürzlich erschienenen interaktiven online-SADS (https://dialektsyntax.linguistik.uzh.ch/).

Notes:
Das Wissen aus der Einführung germanistische Linguistik A oder eine vergleichbare Qualifikation aus anderen linguistischen (Teil)fächern oder anderen Universitäten wird für dieses Seminar vorausgesetzt.

Event Vertiefung Sprachgeschichte: Morphologie
06SE360-106a / Seminar / 3,171

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Morphologie ist der Teilbereich der Linguistik, der sich mit dem Aufbau von Wortfor-men und ihrer grammatischen Funktion beschäftigt. Als Schnittstelle zur Phonologie, zur Syntax und zur Semantik nimmt die Morphologie eine ganz zentrale Position im Sprachsystem ein. In keiner Sprache ist die Morphologie vollkommen stabil; sie war und ist dauerndem Wandel unterworfen. Interessanterweise funktioniert morphologischer Wandel nach ganz bestimmten allgemeineren Prinzipien, die anhand der Entwicklungen im Deutschen sehr gut aufgezeigt werden können. Im Seminar werden wir einerseits wichtige morphologische Veränderungen in der deutschen Sprachgeschichte mit Ausblicken auf Dialekte genauer untersuchen. Andererseits soll gezeigt werden, wie Konzepte der morphologischen Theorie helfen können, diese Phänomene besser zu verstehen.

Notes:
Das Wissen aus der Einführung germanistische Linguistik A oder eine vergleichbare Qualifikation aus anderen linguistischen (Teil)fächern oder anderen Universitäten wird für dieses Seminar vorausgesetzt.

Event Qualitative Inhaltsanalyse: Grundlagen, praktische Umsetzung, Software und KI
06SEG80o116a / Seminar / 4,758

Description:

Business event contents:
Qualitative Inhaltsanalyse ist ein Verfahren zur methodisch kontrollierten Auswertung qualitativer Daten wie Interviews, Dokumente und Reports. Im Workshop fokussieren wir die inhaltlich-strukturierende Form der qualitativen Inhaltsanalyse, die in der Forschungspraxis am häufigsten angewendet wird. Wir durchlaufen Schritt für Schritt einen typischen Analyseablauf:

1. Datenexploration
2. Kategorien für die Basiscodierung entwickeln
3. Material codieren ("Basiscodierung")
4. Weiterentwicklung der Kategorien ("Feincodierung")
5. Analyse der codierten Daten
6. Berichterstellung, Dokumentation, Gütekriterien

Anhand der Projekte von Teilnehmenden diskutieren wir praktische Vorgehensweisen und Herausforderungen.

Hinweise und Übungen zur Umsetzung der qualitativen Inhaltsanalyse mit der Software MAXQDA sowie zur Verwendung von KI zur Unterstützung der Analyse runden den Workshop ab.

Teilnehmende erhalten nach Anmeldung Informationen zur Einreichung von Projekten.

Event Lizenzvertrags- und Lizenzkartellrecht
02VL90WM94-1 / Course / 4,407

Description:

Business event contents:
Der Lizenzvertrag ist die praktisch wichtigste Art der Vereinbarung, um immaterielle Güter - Patente, Marken, Urheberrechte, Design, Know-How - unter dauerhaftem Beizug eines Dritten zu nutzen. Mit Blick auf die wirtschaftliche Wertschöpfung gehört er zu den wichtigsten Vertragstypen überhaupt; dennoch ister gesetzlich nicht geregelt, sondern ein von der Doktrin und der Praxis punktuell entwickeltes rechtliches Gebilde an der Schnittstelle von Immaterialgüterrecht und Vertragsrecht, bei dem in der Praxis auch von ausländischen Parteien sehr oft schweizerisches Recht vereinbart wird. Die Reflexion des Lizenzvertrags im Kontext des geltenden schweizerischen Schuldrechts bildet Kernthema der ersten Modulhälfte, wobei auch die moderne Schuldrechtsentwicklung (europäisches Soft Law) und registerrechtliche Fragestellungen Beachtung finden.
Kartellrechtlich sind Lizenzverträge nicht ganz einfach zu beurteilen. Zum einen können sie - insbesondere im Rahmen sogenannter Technologietransfervereinbarungen - durchaus volkswirtschaftlich positive Wirkungen zeitigen, so etwa Doppelspurigkeiten bei Forschung und Entwicklung vermeiden und den Wettbewerb auf abgeleiteten Märkten intensivieren bzw.
überhaupt erst ermöglichen. Gleichzeitig verursachen die zugrunde liegenden Immaterialgüterrechte aber absolute Schutzpositionen, die - eine entsprechende Marktmacht vorausgesetzt - Missbrauch begünstigen. Dieser kann sich z.B. in derAbschottung von Märkten, in diskriminierenden Lizenzbedingungen oder in der gänzlichen Lizenzierungsverweigerung niederschlagen.
Vor diesem Hintergrund ist die zweite Hälfte des Moduls der Auseinandersetzung mit den Wettbewerbsordnungen der Schweiz und der EU gewidmet.

Event Cluny & Co.: Romanik im Burgund
06EX640o009a / Field Trip / 4,581

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Exkursion dient der vertieften Auseinandersetzung mit der romanischen Baukunst in Cluny und Umgebung und knüpft damit an die Thematik der Vorlesung an, deren Besuch für eine Teilnahme an der Exkursion Voraussetzung ist. Vor Ort soll in kleinen Gruppen beschreibend und zeichnend die in und aus Cluny überlieferte Architektur und Bauskulptur erfasst und vergleichend erforscht werden. Ziel ist es, durch Detailanalysen Bauvorgänge zu rekonstruieren sowie stilistische Unterschiede wahrzunehmen und zu interpretieren. Anders also als bei anderen Exkursionen wird es keine Referate geben, sondern aufbauend auf dem in der Vorlesung Vermittelten das Auge am Original geschult und auf diese Weise das Wissen um historische Zusammenhänge vertieft.

Notes:
Interessenten melden sich bitte bis 10. Februar 2026 mit einem kurzen Motivationsschreiben, aus dem der Studienstand (= in welchem Semester Sie sind) und die studierte Fächerkombination hervorgeht, bei carola.jaeggi@uzh.ch und lea.hirschfelder@uzh.ch

Zur Besprechung organisatorischer Fragen wird es am 30. 3., 16-18 Uhr, eine vorbereitende Sitzung geben; Raum wird noch bekannt gegeben.

Die Exkursion findet vom 30.6.-4.7.2026 statt

Event Summer School: International Sports Law
02VL90WM81-1 / Course / 4,367

Description:

Business event contents:
This Summer School offers unique insights into the legal context in which international sports organizations currently operate as well as into the limits to their autonomy. Participants will also explore the relevance of state law, more particularly of criminal law in sports- related matters. The focus is on one of the most heavily regulated matters in organised sport, namely the fight against doping.
The course will examine in particular

- the history of anti-doping
- the stakeholders and actors involved in anti-doping
- the legislative and procedural framework of the sports organisations in the fight against doping
- the role and the functioning of criminal and international law related to anti-doping and
- interdisciplinary aspects of anti-doping.

Participants will be able to put their knowledge into practice in a Moot Court designed specifically for this Summer School, allowing everyone to engage actively with a fictional case in the field of anti-doping. The Moot Court is a simulated arbitration procedure on a fictional sports law case, where participants will hold oral pleadings.
The Summer School will take place from 30th of June 2026 until 21st of July 2026, with 10 to 20 taught lessons per week, supplemented by self-study and a social program.
International students from around the world will join this summer school as well. UZH students participating in the module will be asked to actively engage with their international peers and to provide some support (i.e. group management on academic trips and social activities). For UZH students there are no participation fees.
If you have any questions related to this, get in touch with summer@int.uzh.ch or directly with your course leaders gunhild.godenzi@ius.uzh.ch and/or ulrich.haas@ius.uzh.ch.

Notes:
To participate in this module, students need to apply as soon as possible, not later than 10th March 2026, via email to summer@int.uzh.ch, submitting a short letter of motivation and current transcript of records. Admission status will be communicated as soon as possible, not later than by the end of March 2026. The number of participants is limited to 30-40 students in total (for UZH students 10 places are available). In case too few international participants register for the Summer School, the module will not be offered.

Event How to "narrate" object biographies of cultural artefacts in an academic collection
06UE682-504a / Exercise Group / 1,511

Description:

Business event contents:
Provenance research is on everyone's lips these days when it comes to cultural heritage held in museums. It is intended to draw attention to the provenance and changes of ownership, as well as to reveal possible injustices. In relation to the individual artefact, it reveals its 'path' through history by tracing individual stages and usages as well the people, who owned them, and their intentions.
Smaller collections such as university academic collections, whose holdings have grown over many years through various acquisitions, are particularly suitable for reflecting on the various paths taken by the artefacts before they finally came to the museum. A particular challenge here is the communication of such a "history of things", as a narration must also deal with gaps in knowledge.
In the course, we want to deal with the concept of object biography in the museum's field and, using examples from the Archaeological Collection of the University of Zurich, (1) explore the ancient contexts of production and usage as well as the post-antique changes of ownership of selected artefacts and (2) implement a suitable communication to museum visitors.
The event will be hybrid and in English, if there are English-speaking participants.

Event PT/AT interdisziplinäres Kolloquium: Helfen gehört zur Natur von Mensch und Tier: Schöpfung und Diakonie
01KO24SK001 / Colloquium / 2,230

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Ausgangsthese dieses Koloquiums lautet: Diakonie als Kunstlehre helfenden Handelns, aus jüdisch-christliche Sicht interpretiert, motiviert oder begründet, wird nicht nur, jedoch immer mehr durch den schöpfungstheologischen Ansatz in einer pluralen Gesellschaft sprachfähig. Neuer Forschungen haben gezeigt, dass der griechische Begriff diakonia in den biblischen Schriften kein terminus technicus für christlich gedeutetes helfendes Handeln ist. Weiter gibt es mit Blick auf helfendes Handeln keine Abgrenzungen zum Judentum und zur Umwelt. Dazu kommt, dass in den letzten 150 Jahren Diakoniegeschichte im westeuropäischen, deutschsprachigen Kontext der Diakonebegriff mit einem ideologischen Überbau christologischer Erschliessungen versehen wurde. Die Folge davon sind physische und psychische Überforderung bei helfenden Christinnen und Christen, genauso wie fehlende Sprachsemantiken mit Helfenden anderer Kultur und Religion in Heimen und Spitälern. In diesem Transformationsprozess religiöser Interpretation wird deutlich. dass es kein "diakonisches" Handeln gibt, sondern helfendes Handeln, das von Adressatinnen/Adressaten und unterschiedlichen Subjekten unterschiedlich religiös oder nicht religiöse gedeutet wird. Folgerichtig wird der Fokus auf die Theologie der Schöpfung, auf die Evolutionsbiologie prosozialen Naturell (Hrdy) und auf neuere diakoniewissenschaftliche Deutungsmuster gelegt.

Notes:
Die drei Kolloquien finden statt: a) Mittwoch, 4. März 2026, 16.15-19.00: Theologie der Schöpfung; b) Mittwoch, 15. April 2026, 16.15-19.00, Evolutionsbiologie helfenden Handelns; c) Mittwoch, 6. Mai 2026, 16.15-19.00 Uhr: Schöpfungstheologischer Ansatz der Diakonie. Bei allen drei Kolloquien sind Prof. Dr. Konrad Schmid, Prof. Dr. Carel van Schaik anwesend.

Course Materials:	Unterrichtsmaterialien werden kurz vor dem ersten Kolloquium ins OLAT gestellt und beim ersten Kolloquium vorgestellt. Zur Vorbereitung kann gelesen werden: K. Schmid (Hg.), Schöpfung, Themen der Theologie 4, Tübingen 2012; H.Rüegger/Ch.Sigrist, Diakonie - eine Einführung. Zur theologischen Begründung helfenden Handelns, Zürich, 2011, 115-188 (5. Event Sardinien in Moderne und Gegenwart. Kunst, Architektur und Fotografie
06EX640o011a / Field Trip / 4,635

Description:

Business event contents:
Sardinien ist kunst-, architektur- sowie fotohistorisch weitestgehend ein blinder Fleck in der Geschichtsschreibung. Erst im 20. Jahrhundert, und teils erst ab den 1950er Jahren, wurde Sardinien literarisch, fotografisch wie auch touristisch erschlossen, obwohl die Kunst- und Kulturgüter der zweitgrößten Insel des Mittelmeers bis in die Prähistorie zurückreichen. Anhand der Schwerpunkte Kunst (inkl. Kunsthandwerk), Industrie-Archäologie und Fotografie untersucht die Exkursion, wie durch Objekte, Räume und Orte Identitäten der Insel und ihrer Bewohner entstanden sind und welche Auswirkungen dies bis heute z.B. hinsichtlich des Stadt- und Landschaftsbildes und der Institutionalisierung der Museumslandschaft hat.
Die Exkursion bietet den Teilnehmenden Gelegenheit, die historischen und sozialen, kulturellen und architektonischen Dynamiken der Insel kennenzulernen, die seit Jahrhunderten von Isolierung, Mythisierung und Kolonialisierung geprägt sind. Die Teilnehmer*innen werden nicht nur eine tiefere Kenntnis in die Entwicklung der bildenden Künstler*innen Sardiniens erlangen, sondern ihr Verständnis für die koloniale Geschichte innerhalb Europas bis ins 20. Jahrhundert schärfen. Gemeinsam werden wir die Möglichkeiten einer interdisziplinären Erschließung eines geographischen Kulturraums an der Peripherie eruieren. Ein besonderes Augenmerk legen wir auf die Fotografie in Sardinien, die sich in einem Spannungsbogen vom Blick von außen zum Blick von innen entwickelt hat. Wir werden die Chance haben, im Dialog mit Expert*innen zu untersuchen, welche Ideen der Insel sich in Film und Fotografie niederschlagen.
Die Auseinandersetzung mit den facettenreichen künstlerischen Ausdrucksformen und deren Einbettung in die komplexe Geschichte der Insel wird uns auch zur Auseinandersetzung mit den Modalitäten von Schutz und Erhaltung des kulturellen Erbes führen. Wir sondieren die Koordinaten des Interessenkonflikts zwischen (Re)-konstruktion von Identität(en) und Wirtschaftsinteressen im Zuge der Nominierung von Stätten zur Aufnahme in die Unesco-Welterbeliste.

Notes:
Das erste Vorbereitungstreffen am 27.3.2026 ist eine Pflichtveranstaltung.

Exkursion: 1.-8.6.2026

Übernachtungen und Reisen vor Ort werden übernommen; An-/Abreise und Verkostung sowie teilweise die Eintrittskosten für einige der Museen und Institutionen tragen die Teilnehmer*innen selber. Zur An- und Abreise gibt es einen pauschalen Zuschuss von max. 200 CHF.

Description:

Business event contents:
Als Plattform für den Austausch unter Doktorierenden konzipiert, liegt der Schwerpunkt des Workshops auf der Präsentation und Diskussion des aktuellen Stands der Arbeiten der Teilnehmenden mit dem Fokus auf methodische und theoretische Reflexionen anstatt inhaltlicher Diskussionen. Um sich vollständig an den Diskussionen zu allen Präsentationen beteiligen zu können, sollten die Teilnehmenden sowohl Englisch als auch Deutsch verstehen können. Die Beiträge sollten sich darauf konzentrieren, wie Forschungsfragen, theoretische und methodische Voraussetzungen sowie Quellen und Forschungsliteratur miteinander in Beziehung stehen. Zudem sollen die Beiträge das verfolgte Forschungsinteresse sowie den Forschungskontext, in dem die erwarteten Ergebnisse verortet sind, deutlich machen. Die Dozierende geben die Rückmeldungen zu den Präsentationen, beteiligen sich an den Diskussionen und vermitteln Einblicke in ihre Forschungserfahrungen

Event Wissenschaftliches Schreiben in der qualitativen und historischen (Bildungs-)forschung
06SEG80o115a / Seminar / 4,759

Description:

Business event contents:
Doktorierende, die eine Arbeit mit historischem oder qualitativem Fokus verfassen, stehen immer wieder vor der Frage, wie mit den Quellen bzw. mit dem Material eine 'Geschichte erzählt' werden kann. Welche Interpretationen sind zulässig und wie stark kann / darf verallgemeinert werden? Es stellen sich aber auch Fragen nach der Relevanz des konkreten Beispiels bzw. danach, wie der eigene «Fall» zu einer Theoriebildung beitragen kann. Auf der Basis ausgewählter Literatur werden diese Fragen von Relevanz, Erzählstruktur und Anschlussfähigkeit an die Theoriebildung diskutiert. Zudem werden eigene Texte der Doktorierenden einer kritischen Reflexion unterzogen.

Beginn 23. Februar, Mo 16-18 Uhr. Die weiteren (max. 6) Termine werden in der ersten Sitzung festgelegt.

Event An Introduction to Bayesian Analysis with R
06SEG80o114a / Seminar / 4,756

Description:

Business event contents:
In a broad range of scientific disciplines, Bayesian statistics are gaining popularity. Yet the basic training of most researchers only introduces the frequentist framework for statistical inference. This workshop aims to introduce Bayesian statistics in a practical way, laying a foundation for crucial concepts in the Bayesian realm.
Participants will be introduced to a workflow for Bayesian analyses in the open-source environment R. The starting point will be the linear model (aka regression model) and we can extend this to linear mixed models. The central piece of software will be the brms package in R, that bridges the typical R modelling language with Stan, which is a probabilistic programming language built to estimate models within the Bayesian framework. Given that a workflow in R will be introduced, it is advised that participants have some experience working with R. Moreover, packages will be used from the tidyverse (e.g., dplyr, ggplot2, ...). Therefore, we advise participants to acknowledge themselves with these packages.

Notes:
Please book before the course no later than 2 February 2026. The maximum number of participants is 20.

Event Anti-, Post, and Decolonial Approaches to Art Practices and Institutions
06SE645-503a / Seminar / 4,776

Description:

Business event contents:
In this course we will focus on the specific anti-, post- and de-colonial approaches to making and understanding art. Discussing these overlapping yet different paths, we will zoom in on their key ideas and concepts and consider their historical and local contextuality and dynamics. What is the difference between decolonization and decoloniality? How colonial and imperial difference and inter-imperiality affect the sphere of aesthetics? Is the anticolonial art a thing of the past? Are the postcolonial and the decolonial discourses different mainly due to the dissimilarities of their imperial-colonial origins (British, French, Spanish, Portuguese) or there are deeper epistemic and aesthetic fissures between them? What is the difference between aesthetics and aesthesis, and between resistance and re-existence? Should non-Western empires and their former and current colonies (such as the Ottoman empire or the Russian empire) be regarded within this complex conceptual approach? Should we define artists as postcolonial or decolonial or this definition is too limiting and static? How does one relate to decoloniality if one`s participation in global or local colonial and imperial projects on any side was indirect, blurred, ambivalent or complicit? How imaginaries of the past and the future are (re)interpreted in anti-, post- and decolonial artistic framings? What are the most interesting overlaps between the enviro/climatic ecocritical artistic projects and post- and decolonial sensibilities? How coloniality of technologies forces its way into the post- and decolonial artistic agency? These are some of the questions that will be addressed in the course in theoretical and practical ways. We will specifically focus on the complex entanglements of anti-, post- and decolonial frames with other narratives at the cusp of several experiences and trajectories, such as the overlaps in the artistic reflections on ideological and colonial unfreedom in the case of postcolonial and postsocialist intersections. We will dwell on the analysis of most interesting examples of how artists, curators, museums and other art institutions do not merely apply the anti-, post- and de-colonial frames, but in fact, remake and considerably enrich these approaches in the process, turning art into a much more acute and insightful instrument for making sense of the world than most academic discourses can ever be. Specific examples we will analyze and discuss will include Central Asian and Caucasus, Middle Eastern, Central and South American, Afropean, Central/Eastern European and Nordic artists, curators and filmmakers as well as the recently emerging decolonially themed biennials, contemporary art centres, museums and residencies inside and outside the Global North (Tselinny Contemporary Culture Center, Van Abbe Museum, Lintas Benua: Crossing Continents/ Center for Art, Design and Social Research, etc.).

Notes:
The intro session will take place via Zoom on February 27th from 10:15 - 12:00. The link will be sent out by email in the weeks leading up to it. We will meet each other, discuss the main goals, methods and frames of the course, distribute the presentation topics. The grading requirements include an in-class individual presentation followed by discussion and a final paper which must be submitted by July 1, 2026.

Event Foreign aid and development
06SE615o547a / Seminar / 4,728

Description:

Business event contents:
In this seminar, we will examine how foreign aid is allocated and evaluate its effectiveness in promoting economic growth in recipient countries. We will analyze both bilateral and multilateral donors, considering how political, economic, and institutional factors shape aid allocation and impact. The course will also take into account major recent developments in the international context - including terrorist attacks, geopolitical shifts, financial crises, the COVID-19 pandemic, the war in Ukraine, and political changes such as the rise of Donald Trump - to better understand how such events have influenced foreign aid policies and their outcomes. The course will also examine the impact for developing countries of the recent cuts in aid, and investigate the potential implications of these cuts for the coming years.
This is primarily a literature-based and quantitative course that draws on econometric analyses to assess the determinants and effects of foreign aid. Methodological and empirical challenges in identifying causal relationships will be discussed in detail. In addition, selected case studies will be examined to illustrate how the general findings of the literature apply to specific country or regional contexts. Throughout the course, we will review the rich academic literature on these issues to identify the strengths and weaknesses of existing studies.

Event Genome modification in mammals
07VUBIO413 / Block Course / 1,261

Description:

Business event contents:
Modifying the genome of cells and organisms has become an important tool in biological research. The course will introduce you to different methods for making gene-modified animals. Topics will include random transgenesis and targeted insertions using homologous recombination: from ES cells and gene targeting to designer nucleases and homology- directed repair in the oocyte. You will plan an actual transgenic research program by writing a research grant SNF style and perform a weighing of interest/harm benefit analysis to assess whether you should perform the project.

Event Schreibwerkstatt für wissenschaftliches Arbeiten
06UE255o007a / Exercise Group / 2,792

Description:

Business event contents:
Beim Verfassen von Seminararbeiten und Abschlussarbeiten tauchen immer wieder Fragen auf: Wie finde ich ein Thema und eine spezifische filmwissenschaftliche Perspektive? Wie eng oder weit soll ich die Fragestellung der Arbeit anlegen? Welche Struktur ist die richtige für meine Untersuchung? Wie verknüpfe ich eigene Beobachtungen und Argumente sinnvoll mit der Forschungsliteratur? An welchen Beispielen kann ich mich orientieren? Wie strukturiere ich meinen Schreibprozess? Solche und andere Fragen sollen in der Übung praxisorientiert diskutiert werden. In konkreten Schreibübungen und anhand eigener und fremder Texte dient die Übung dem Training des Denkens, Argumentierens und Formulierens. Sie eignet sich insbesondere für Studierende, die kurz vor dem Bachelorabschluss in Filmwissenschaft stehen, kann aber auch von allen anderen belegt werden.

Notes:
Die Sitzungen finden in unregelmässigen Abständen statt. Nach einer einführenden Sitzung gibt es zwei Blöcke von jeweils drei Sitzungen, die von den beiden Dozierenden gestaltet werden. Die im Kontext der thematischen Blöcke zu lesenden Texte sind auf Olat verfügbar.

Event Fachdidaktik Deutsch III: Literaturdidaktik
06SE090De3b / Seminar / 967

Description:

Business event contents:
Wie kommt Literatur ins Gespräch?
Dieses Seminar lädt dazu ein, aktuelle Ideen und kreative Wege des Literaturunterrichts auf der Sekundarstufe I & II kennenzulernen und auszuprobieren. Besonders imFokus steht dabei das gesprochene Wort: Wie kann Mündlichkeit - Sprechen, Zuhören, Verstehen, Austauschen - zur Brücke zwischen Text und Lerngruppe werden?
Gemeinsam gehen wir Fragen nach wie:

- Wie erleben Schüler:innen literarische Texte - und wie können wir ihre Sicht ernst nehmen?
- Welche didaktischen Positionen inspirieren - und was taugen sie für den eigenen Unterricht?
- Wie plane ich eine Deutschstunde, in der Literatur nicht trocken analysiert, sondern lebendig erforscht wird?
- Wie blicke ich nach einer Stunde zurück - und führe auf dieser Basis den Unterricht sinnvoll weiter?
- Und nicht zuletzt: Welche Rolle spiele ich selbst im Literaturunterricht - als Moderator:in, Impulsgeber:in, Mitleser:in?

Ein Seminar für alle, die Literaturunterricht als Raum für echte Gespräche, neugieriges Fragen und gemeinsames Nachdenken begreifen wollen.

Notes:
Für dieses Seminar werden einerseits ein bereits beendetes Fachstudium, andererseits erste Lehrerfahrungen dringend empfohlen.

Event Flowers and Pollinators (Blüten und Bestäuber)
07VUEEE315 / Block Course / 1,046

Description:

Business event contents:
Flowers are extemely diverse and adapted in many ways to interact with pollinators. Pollinators also comprise a diverse group of animals, mostly of the hyper-diverse class of insects. The interaction between plants and polliantors is a textbook example of a mutualism, with both partners profiting from the interaction and of key importance for ecosystem functioning and crop production. In this course we will study flowers, especially focussing of the traits that function in pollination. We will also investigate the morphology and behavior of pollinating insects, and how they are adapted to use floral resources. We will further study functional aspects of flower visitation in insects and evolutionary phenomena such as pollinator-driven diversification in plants. In lectures, theoretical concepts will be communicated, and practical work in the form of microscopy studies and short research projects will give an introduction into scientific methodology.

Event Textkommunikation
06SE360-107b / Seminar / 3,059

Description:

Business event contents:
Unter Textkommunikation versteht man in der Regel schriftliche Kommunikation. Diese (strenge) Abgrenzung zur mündlichen Kommunikation basiert darauf, dass der Einsatz von Schrift ganz spezifische Charakteristika und Konsequenzen mit sich bringt: Kommunikation mit und durch Schrift ist dazu da, eine Kommunikation ganz ohne die Anwesenheit der Beteiligten zu ermöglichen. Es geht also um die fundamentalen Unterschiede, die Schriftliches von Mündlichem unterscheidet.
In diesem Seminar werden wir uns zunächst die grundlegende Literatur erarbeiten, um diese und weitere kommunikative Charakteristika von Texten zu verstehen. Bekannte Begriffe wie "Nähe", "Distanz", "konzeptionell/ medial mündlich/schriftlich" oder auch "Kohäsion" und "Kohärenz" werden wir dabei genauso (wieder-)kennenlernen und wie auch kritisch beleuchten. Ausserdem befassen wir uns mit aktuellen Textualitätsmodellen, die Aussagen darüber machen, was Texte zu Texten macht. Dies hilft uns, konkrete Textkommunikation beschreiben zu können. Was in diesem Seminar ausserdem eingehend analysiert und diskutiert werden soll, ist die Textkommunikation in digitalen Medien wie Games und Social Media. Gerade hier stellt sich die Frage, ob eine strenge Trennung von Schriftlichem von Mündlichem sinnvoll und sogar eine willkommene Hilfe ist, um die semiotisch komplexen Formen (z.B. Twitch-Streams mit Facecam, Video Content und live Chat) fassen und ordnen zu können. Die Themen des zweiten Teils des Semesterplans sind als Vorschläge zu verstehen und können je nach Interessen der Studierenden, insbesondere hinsichtlich der Semesterarbeitsthemen, angepasst werden.

Course Materials:	Die dem Seminar zugrundeliegende Lektüre: Bubenhofer, Noah et al. (2025): Studienbuch Linguistik. Band 1: Gegenwartssprache, De Gruyter, Berlin. 2025. Event Kunst der Gegenwart vor Ort: Geschichte und Praxis in der Kunstsammlung des Kantons Zürich
06SE640-522a / Seminar / 1,778

Description:

Business event contents:
Das Projektseminar ist 2-semestrig und bietet die Chance für Studierende, direkt mit einer Sammlung zu arbeiten. Die Kunstsammlung des Kantons Zürich hat eine über 100-jährige Geschichte von Förderankäufen von Kunstwerken der Gegenwart. Das Seminar führt in die Sammlung und die Sammlungsarbeit ein: Wie funktioniert eine Kunstsammlung hinter den Kulissen? Praxisorientiert erhalten Studierende Einblick in die vielfältigen Aufgaben der institutionellen Sammlungsarbeit (Einführung in das Arbeiten vor Ort im Depot, Art-Handling u. Datenbank. Anhand konkreter Objekte der Kunstsammlung des Kantons Zürich lernen sie Arbeitsschritte wie Registrierung, Inventarisierung, Restaurierung, Textarbeit und Vermittlungsformate kennen. Ziel ist es, ein grundlegendes Verständnis für konservatorische, dokumentarische und kommunikative Prozesse im Kontext einer Kunstsammlung zu entwickeln - "von der Pike" an.
Einige Bestände in der Sammlung sind nur in Teilen aufgearbeitet. Im Projektseminar werden konkrete kunsthistorische Recherchen zu einer Auswahl dieser Bestände im Archiv vorgenommen und mit ihnen eine Ausstellung konzipiert. Um diese Archivrecherchen vorzubereiten, werden die Teilnehmenden in die historische Kultur- und Förderpolitik eingeführt, Ankaufsprozesse; Entscheidungsprozesse werden erläutert. Die Recherche-Ergebnisse werden in gemeinsamen Sitzungen vorgestellt und diskutiert.
Für das zweite Semester (HS 26) wird anhand der bearbeiteten Sammlungsbestände eine dezentrale Ausstellung konzipiert.
Über den Sommer 2026 werden deshalb Aufgaben (auch in Gruppenarbeit) für die geplante Ausstellung notwendig, geplant für Oktober/November 2026.

Notes:
Dieses Projektseminar kann nur belegt werden, wenn die Teilnahme über beide Semester erfolgt. Interessierte Studierende senden bis zum 02.02.2026 ein kurzes Motivationsschreiben an mz@khist.uzh.ch

Selbständiges Arbeiten und die Entwicklung von Lösungsstrategien in der Gruppe der Teilnehmenden sind erforderlich.
Regelmässige Termine: 25.2.26, 11.3.26; 25.3. 26; 8. 4.26; 22.4.26.; 6.5.26; 20.5. 26

Event Fragen an den Teppich von Bayeux
06SE640-023a / Seminar / 3,474

Description:

Business event contents:
Der Teppich von Bayeux ist eines der bekanntesten und zugleich enigmatischsten Kunstwerke des Mittelalters. Es handelt sich um eine monumentale, über 68 Meter lange Stickerei, welche die Eroberung Englands durch die Normannen im Jahr 1066 in zahlreichen Szenen abbildet. Das Werk bietet einen vielschichtigen Einblick in viele Aspekte des Lebens im 11. Jahrhundert, von den herrschenden Schichten über das Militär bis hin zum einfachen Volk, sowie auch in die politische Aktualität mittelalterlicher Geschichte. Die im Juli 2025 angekündigte und kontrovers diskutierte Leihgabe des Teppichs aus der Normandie nach London für eine geplante Ausstellung im British Museum unterstreicht die Bedeutung dieser Textilarbeit fast 1000 Jahre nach ihrer Entstehung. Das Seminar bietet eine vertiefte Perspektive auf das Hochmittelalter und sein Nachleben anhand dieses herausragenden Werks, dessen Herkunft, Materialität und Funktion die Forschung seit über drei Jahrhunderten beschäftigt haben. Anhand ausgewählter Texte und einer genauen Betrachtung des Objekts nähern wir uns sowohl den Antworten, die Kunsthistoriker*innen mit unterschiedlichen Methoden und Herangehensweisen formuliert haben, als auch den offenen Fragen, die der Teppich von Bayeux bis heute aufwirft.

Event Law, Reproduction and Ethics: Fundamental Debates
02VL90WM93-1 / Course / 4,406

Description:

Business event contents:
Advancements in reproductive medicine have given rise to significant legal and ethical dilemmas. Legal frameworks governing this area are heterogenous and often lag behind the rapid pace of scientific progress and societal changes. This has led to legal gaps - often filled in by individual autonomy and practices - or to the imposition of ineffective legal prohibitions - often circumvented by crossing national borders in pursuit of (more) permissive legal regulations. These dynamics highlight the urgent need for deeper reflection on the ethical dimensions of reproductive technologies and practices.
In light of this context, this course adopts a transdisciplinary and interdisciplinary approach to critically examine some of the most pressing issues at the intersection of reproduction, law, and ethics. It begins with a lecture by a reproductive biologist and a visit to a research laboratory working in the field. The curriculum will then examine the legal frameworks governing reproductive medicine in Switzerland and abroad, alongside internationally relevant topics such as trans procreation, ectogestation, and gene editing.
This transdisciplinary approach is further reinforced by welcoming both law and biology students into the course, and by fostering open, interactive dialogue between lecturers and students.

Event Cell Signaling
07VUBIO245 / Block Course / 525

Description:

Business event contents:
Signaling is an integral part of cellular homeostasis and it allows cells to respond and adapt to a changing environment. Cell signaling is rarely a one-way street and cells employ feedback loops and molecular rheostats to tune their responses. Signaling cascades can be initiated both on the outer layer of a cell and on its innermost constituent, the chromatin, and deregulated signaling lies at the heart of many diseases.
In this course we introduce the basics of cell signaling, its physiological functions and its pathologic deviations in human disease.
Specifically, the course covers signal transduction in the context of cell differentiation, establishment of epigenetic signatures, energy balance and metabolic regulation, inflammation, gene regulation and genome integrity maintenance. In the practical part, we apply a variety of contemporary laboratory techniques to qualitatively and quantitatively assess signaling events in mammalian cells and study the biological outcomes.

Event Vermittlung und Verstrickung: Kuratorisches Arbeiten im Museum
06UE640o008a / Exercise Group / 3,165

Description:

Business event contents:
Wie vermittelt sich ein Museum? Welche Möglichkeiten hat ein Museum, sich zu verhalten - zu den verschiedenen und heterogenen Stadtgesellschaften, zur Lokalpolitik, zu seinem Förderkreis, zu seiner eigenen Entstehungsgeschichte und den darin enthaltenen Biografien von Sammler*innen? Diesen Aspekten wollen wir nachgehen und Vermittlung dabei nicht nur in Bezug auf die Kunstwerke, sondern als größeres Denkbild auf die Institution übertragen. Der grundlegende Gedanke dabei ist, Vermittlung nicht als ein museumsinhärentes Department zu betrachten, sondern das Vermitteln als kuratorisches und leitgebendes Grundprinzip durchzudenken. Museen sehen sich, u.a. durch den anhaltenden Aktivismus seit den 60er-Jahren, verstärkt mit der Verantwortung konfrontiert, die eigene Geschichte und die eigene Institution kritisch zu reflektieren und zu kommunizieren. Diesbezüglich wollen wir uns verschiedene Ansätze anschauen, wo und wie diese Reflexion (weniger gut) gelingt. Einen besonderen Fokus wollen wir dabei auf das Gefüge von privaten Sammler*innen, kommerziellen Galerien und staatlich geförderten Institutionen legen. Statt sie als voneinander getrennte Kosmen zu betrachten, wollen wir ihren komplexen Verstrickungen nachgehen. Schließlich sind Museen, historisch betrachtet, nicht nur aus privaten Sammlungen gewachsen, sondern bis heute auf Akquise von Drittmitteln aus Freundes- und Förderkreisen angewiesen, deren Betreuung Teil kuratorischer Arbeit darstellt. In der 14-täglichen Übung konfrontieren wir wissenschaftliche Texte mit konkreten, kuratorischen Beispielen. Dafür wollen wir dem Seminarraum hin und wieder verlassen: Bei Ausstellungsbesuchen und Gesprächen mit Kurator*innen widmen wir uns der kuratorischen Praxis aus der Perspektive der Vermittlung. Wie kann ein kuratorischer Umgang mit historischen Verstrickungen gelingen?

Event Inequality, Education, and Social Policy: Evidence from South Asia and Beyond
06SE615o015a / Seminar / 4,901

Description:

Business event contents:
This course examines key questions in inequality, education, and social policy using South Asia, especially India, as a central empirical setting, while drawing systematic comparisons with developed economies. The course is organised around influential and seminal papers in economics that study inequality, human capital formation, and policy interventions, including affirmative action, school quality, and social protection. Alongside conceptual discussions, the course introduces students to modern empirical tools and data sources used in this literature, such as large-scale surveys, administrative data, and geospatial information. Selected sessions include hands-on demonstrations in R or Python, focusing on interpretation and policy relevance rather than advanced econometric techniques.

Event Japan’s Energy and Climate Policy in International Context
06UE290o128a / Exercise Group / 4,902

Description:

Business event contents:
This seminar examines Japan's energy and climate policy at a pivotal moment: fifteen years after the Fukushima nuclear disaster and a decade following the historic Paris Agreement's adoption. We explore how Japan positions nuclear power as a cornerstone of its decarbonization strategy while grappling with renewed public anxieties about nuclear safety, and how the government is simultaneously pursuing renewable energy expansion and emerging technologies such as hydrogen and ammonia co-firing in coal plants. The module traces Japan's evolving role in international climate negotiations, from its leadership position during the Kyoto Protocol era to its more contentious stance under the Paris framework, analyzing how this diplomatic trajectory reflects and shapes domestic energy politics and policy outcomes. Throughout the course, we examine the crucial roles played by domestic and international civil society organizations in pushing Japan's decarbonization agenda, and we assess how Japan's ownenergy transition efforts carry implications for climate action across the broader Asian region. By situating Japan's climate and energy challenges within both global and regional contexts, students gain insight into the complex interplay between international commitments, domestic politics, technological innovation, and civil society mobilization in the climate transition.

Event Kolloqium für Bachelorarbeiten
06KO160o014a / Colloquium / 1,745

Description:

Business event contents:
Dieses Kolloquium bietet Studierenden die Möglichkeit, einen ausgearbeiteten Teil der Bachelorarbeit mit einem konstruktiv kritischen Publikum zu diskutieren. Die Diskussionsgrundlage für die einzelnen Sitzungen bieten jeweils die Texte von Studierenden (ca. 10-15 Seiten), die eine Woche vor der Sitzung über OLAT verfügbar gemacht werden. Im Rahmen eines einleitenden Kurzreferats (10 Min. mit Handout) führt die Autorin bzw. der Autor zu Beginn der Sitzung durch den Text, weist auf die zentralen Hypothesen und Argumente hin und bettet den vorbereiteten Text in den Kontext des gesamten Projekts ein. Im Anschluss präsentiert eine Kommilitonin bzw. ein Kommilitone im Rahmen eines Koreferats (15 Min. mit Handout) kritische Kommentare und Fragen zum Text, die zur Diskussion im Plenum überleiten. Alle Teilnehmenden müssen die Texte so vorbereiten, dass sie sich an der Diskussion aktiv und mit konstruktiven Vorschlägen beteiligen können. Zur Präsentation des eigenen Textes gehört auch ein initiales Inputreferat (in der zweiten Sitzung) zur Fragestellung, die in der Bachelorarbeit untersucht werden soll.

Notes:
Damit der Arbeitsprozess optimal unterstützt wird, findet das Kolloquium unregelmässig und in Doppelsitzungen statt. Je nach Teilnehmerzahl (und aufgrund des Abgabetermins für Bachelorarbeiten am 1. Juni bzw. 1. Dezember) werden jeweils bis zu zwei Texte pro Doppelsitzung besprochen.

Event Exkursion: Algier – Kunst und Architektur in der Postkolonie
06EX640o003a / Field Trip / 249

Description:

Business event contents:
Die Exkursion führt uns an die nordafrikanischen Mittelmeerküste in die algerische Hauptstadt Algier - eine Stadt, die nach 132 Jahren Siedlerkolonialismus und einem achtjährigen Unabhängigkeitskrieg im Jahr 1962 ihre politische Freiheit vom kolonialen Frankreich erlangte. Mit dieser politischen Befreiung verband sich unmittelbar auch das Streben nach kultureller und ästhetischer Selbstbestimmung. Im Zentrum unserer Untersuchung steht die Frage, wie sich Kolonisierung und koloniale Befreiung in Kunst, Architektur und urbanem Raum manifestieren. In Museen, an Bauwerken, Kunstprojekten und in öffentlichen Räumen erkunden wir die koloniale und postkoloniale Geschichte Algiers und fragen, wie sich Identität, Nation und Macht im Spannungsfeld zwischen kolonialem Erbe und postkolonialem Selbstentwurf formieren.
In den vorbereitenden Lektüren und Sitzungen eignen wir uns das dazu notwendige historische und politische Wissen an, das uns erlauben wird, die Phänomene vor Ort angemessen zu deuten.

Notes:
Bewerbung: Senden Sie ein kurzes Motivationsschreiben (nennen Sie darin auch Ihre Semesterzahl und Studienfächer) bis am 12. Januar 2026 an: dominique.laleg@uzh.ch

Die Exkursion findet vom 5.-12. Juni 2026 statt. Die Organisation der gemeinsamen Anreise, Unterkunft sowie der algerischen Einreisevisa werden übernommen. Die Teilnehmenden benötigen einen Reisepass, der bei Einreise noch mindestens 6 Monate gültig ist.

Lektüren und Teilnahme an den vorbereitenden Treffen sind obligatorisch. Die Termine sind:
Freitag 27. Februar 14.15-15.00h
Freitag 27. März 14.15-17.45h
Freitag 24. April 14.15-17.45h
Freitag 8. Mai 14.15-17.45h

Zudem findet am 5. und 6. März an der UZH der Workshop "Independent Algeria: Art, Architecture and Ideology" statt. Die online Teilnahme wird erwartet.

Das kunsthistorische Institut wird nach Möglichkeit einen Teil der Reisekosten finanzieren. Dies gilt nur für Sudierende der Kunstgeschichte. Ein Unkostenbeitrag sowie die (relativ günstigen) Kosten für die Verpflegung vor Ort muss von den Teilnehmenden getragen werden.

Event Archiv, Sprache, Widerstand, Imagination. Verfolgung von Kommunist:innen und (jüdischen) Osteuropäer:innen in d. Schwe
06SE480o003a / Exercise Group / 4,721

Description:

Business event contents:
Im Zürcher Archiv für Zeitgeschichte befindet sich der Nachlass von Eugen Bircher. Der Arzt Offizier, Politiker und Gründer der Aargauischen Vaterländischen Vereinigung war (unter anderem) ein prominenter Antikommunist; (jüdische) Menschen vornehmlich aus Osteuropa wurden bespitzelt, die «Informationen» leitete Bircher direkt an die Bundesbehörden weiter. Der einflussreiche Bircher verkörpert den bereits nach der Russischen Revolution von 1917 Fahrt aufnehmenden Anti-Kommunismus und wie sich höchste staatliche Stellen ohne gesetzliche Legitimation von privaten Spitzeldiensten beliefern liessen.
Wir suchen in Text- und Bildquellen, wie sich Bircher Antikommunismus manifestierte, analysieren unterschiedliches Quellenmaterial so genau wie möglich, denn: die Widerstandskraft der Sprache beginnt im präzisen Lesen; ich nenne es forensische Sprachanalyse. Die Imagination wiederum ist unabdingbar, um die analysierten Quellen zu transformieren, das latente Material zum Leben zu erwecken und eigene Texte zu schreiben.

Event Mexico: Cultures of Colonial Conversion
06EX645-507a / Field Trip / 927

Description:

Business event contents:
The 1521 conquest of Mexico-Tenochtitlán marked the beginning of roughly three centuries of European rule over vast areas of the American continents. These initial ruptures were followed by complex processes of cultural entanglement between Indigenous populations and Spanish colonizers. Much of the interactions of these groups hinged on the question of conversion, a capacious notion that might be taken to understand not only the imposition of new religious norms but also the transformation of forms of governance, collectivity, and ways of thinking. In these processes, objects played a central role.

This nine-day excursion to Mexico City and its surroundings tracks the violent attempts of subjugation of native populations under Spanish rule by investigating the ways that images, objects, materials, and spaces mediated between epistemic structures and belief systems, transforming Indigenous and European modes of representation and cultural practices. On-site visits of the cathedrals at urban centers of colonial power, mission complexes, rural churches, and sanctuaries of miracle-working images venerated to this day, as well as some of the most important museums in Latin America will provide insights into the ways in which architecture, painting, sculpture, and other forms and media of representation became sites of encounter and conflict. Paired with close visual analysis and attention to spaces and materials, our discussions will explore questions of colonial imposition, negotiation and resistance, and how material culture choreographed devotion and structured social life, memory, and power.

Event Morphosyntax der modernen germanischen Sprachen im Vergleich
06UE360o002a / Exercise Group / 2,129

Description:

Business event contents:
Morphologie und Syntax der modernen germanischen Sprachen gehen einerseits auf eine gemeinsame historische Grundlage zurück, haben sich aber andererseits in ganz unterschiedliche Richtungen auseinanderentwickelt. Sie demonstrieren daher wie ein Laboratorium die Möglichkeiten und Grenzen der Entwicklung grammatischer Systeme. Wie und warum eine Einzelsprache (z.B. Deutsch, oder jegliche andere germanische Sprache) eigentlich genau funktioniert
-- das können wir dank der sehr guten historischen und synchronen Beschreibungstiefe der germanischen Sprachen jeweils in einem dreifachen Vergleich herausarbeiten: im Vergleich mit früheren Sprachstufen, mit anderen eng verwandten Sprachen und im sprachtypologischen Kontext.
Wir werden uns im Seminar
u.a. mit folgenden Phänomenen vergleichend beschäftigen: Nominalflexion (Kasus, Genus, Numerus), Definitheit, Tempus, Wortstellung, Subordination.

Event Gruppe Autodidaktischer Fotograf:innen. Erkundung einer ausserinstitutionellen Ausbildungsform
06SE640-012a / Seminar / 1,470

Description:

Business event contents:
Die GAF charakterisiert sich selbst folgendermassen: «Die Gruppe Autodidaktischer FotografInnen wurde 1983 von Fotografen als Alternative zu herkömmlichen Schulen oder Bildungsinstituten gegründet. Schwerpunkt dieser Form der Weiterbildung ist die Mitbestimmung über Dauer, Inhalt, Lehrkräfte, Organisation und Aufnahmebedingungen.»
Durch dieses Bachelorseminar soll anhand von Methodiken wie Oral History und Leitfadeninterview eine erste Erkundung, Dokumentation und Kartographierung dieses spezifischen Kapitels schweizerischer Fotografiegeschichte erfolgen. Dies geschieht anhand von durch die Studierenden konzipierten und umgesetzten Audio-Interviews, welche anschliessend transkribiert und ausgewertet werden. Relevante Interviewpartner:innen werden durch eine Vorrecherche ermittelt und kontaktiert.
In diesem Prozess der Erforschung, erhalten zwar Individuen das Wort und doch wird diese kollektive Lernform als Geflecht von zwischenmenschlichen Relationen erkundet. Die GAF wird auch als Zeitphänomen etabliert und somit vergleichbar mit anderen Beispielen von alternativen Ausbildungsformen aus internationalen Kontexten, zu denen es bereits Fachliteratur gibt.
Diese sind z.B. der Market Photo Workshop in Südafrika, der 1989 vom Fotografen David Goldblatt gegründet wurde, oder das Kollektiv Kamoinge Workshop, der seit 1963 in New York operiert. Als weitere Referenzen könnten die feministischen Kollektive und Projekte wie die Feminist Photography Ovulars und The Blatant Image dienen. Relevant sind dabei Orte, Mechanismen und Ziele im Kontext der fotografischen Bildung (und Ent-/ Unbildung) und bringt damit Prozesse des Lernens und Lehrens, sowie des Formalen und Informellen ans Licht.

Event Advanced concepts of Physical Chemistry II: Statistical Mechanics and Molecular Simulations
07VUCHE327.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 232

Description:

Business event contents:
This course provides an introduction to statistical mechanics related to atomistic simulations.
We revisit the laws of thermodynamics and introduce the concepts of ensembles.
Molecular dynamics is introduced as an efficient method to calculate ensemble averages.
Using these concepts and methods we derive working equations for the calculation of macroscopic properties of molecular systems. The numerical description of interaction potentials and forces will be introduced and applied to simple atomic and complex chemical systems. We will use computer codes to calculate properties using sophisticated simulation protocols.

Event Market Microstructure (S)
03SE22MO0132 / Seminar / 1,949

Description:

Business event contents:
This course on Market Microstructure gives an introduction into the analysis of price determination and trading activities in financial markets. Starting out from perfect (efficient) markets, market microstructure theory introduces more realistic features that explain why prices converge to or diverge from a long-range equilibrium. These realistic features correspond to a number of ?frictions? such as order handling costs, inventory costs, asymmetric information, market power, search costs, or strategic behavior of market participants. We will discuss various approaches with a close connection to theoriginal research papers.

Notes:
Course contents: Market microstructure, in particular market liquidity, market design, and regulation of financial markets. The numbers of Students is limited to 15 students on a first-come, first-served basis. Students need to apply to participate in the seminar until 11.01.2026, at the latest to angelo.ranaldo@unibas.ch, including letter of motivation, CV, certificate of the Bachelor with Academic Record, all in one PDF file.

Business event contents:
Wer nach dem Studium der Geschichte nicht an der Universität bleiben, aber trotzdem weiterhin mit dem Fach zu tun haben möchte, für den ist die Arbeit als Lektor:in im Sachbuch eines Verlages eine attraktive Tätigkeit. Weil sich geschichtliche Bücher grosser Beliebtheit bei den Leser:innen erfreuen, gibt es auch zahlreiche Verlage, die ein Programm mit historischen Büchern anbieten.
Der Kurs führt direkt in die Arbeit als Lektor:in im Sachbuch ein. Die Teilnehmer:innen lernen praxisnah den Ablauf vom Begutachten von Manuskripten bis zum fertigen Buch kennen. Praktische Übungen wie Gutachten schreiben, Verfassen von Werbetexten, Redigat von Manuskripten vermitteln die Arbeit am Text.
Darüber hinaus wird Vertragsgestaltung, Kalkulation, die Arbeit mit den anderen Abteilungen eines Verlags, die Betreuung von Autor:innen usw. vermittelt. Alle Aspekte der Arbeit im Lektorat kommen zur Sprache und werden mit entsprechenden Übungen begleitet.
Bitte bringen Sie ein historisches Buch Ihrer Wahl mit, anhand dessen Sie verschiedene Übungen durchführen können. Bringen Sie bitte ebenfalls einen Computer zum Verfassen von Texten mit.

Notes:
Bitte bringen Sie ein historisches Buch Ihrer Wahl mit sowie einen Computer zum Schreiben von Texten.

Event Wasser. Stadt. Machen: Mehr-als-menschliche Aushandlungen urbaner Flusswelten am Platzspitz
06UE506o402a / Exercise Group / 3,238

Description:

Business event contents:
Anhand einer theoretisch-konzeptuellen Diskussion von Forschungsliteratur zu Mensch-Umwelt-Beziehungen und Stadtanthropologie (Tag 1) sowie einer immersiv-künstlerischen Auseinandersetzung mit der Baustelle am Platzspitz (Tag 1-3) beschäftigen wir uns in diesem Workshop mit der Frage, wie Stadt(-natur), wie Nachhaltigkeit, wie Sicherheit, wie Vielfalt, wie Zukunft heute in Zürich entlang des Flusses Limmat von menschlichen und mehr-als-menschlichen Agierenden (z.B. Fische, Algen, Kapitalströme, Technologien, Sound, Infrastrukturen, Gesetze, Klima, uvm.) gemeinsam "gemacht" wird. Im Rahmen eines kommentierten Rundgangs entlang eigens durch die Teilnehmenden geschaffener Installationen und einer performativen Sitzung im Sinne eines "Parlaments der Dinge/ Spezies" diskutieren und imaginieren wir zum Abschluss (Tag 3) auf pluriperspektivische und spekulative Weise, wer und was alles wie an diesem gemeinsamen Hervorbringungsprozess beteiligt ist und wie wir das "Machen" von Stadt(-natur) verstehen und vielleicht sogar beeinflussen können.

Event Artificial Intelligence and/for the Social Sciences
06SE615o544a / Seminar / 4,619

Description:

Business event contents:
Escaping artificial intelligence has become a complex task. Escaping the discourse surrounding AI is even more so. Whether we see it as a promise of progress, a driver of dangerous regression, a passing trend, or simply a tool, discussions about AI are everywhere. And even when we try to ignore it, AI often shapes our lives in ways we don't even notice. Because AI has become deeply embedded in both the discourse and practices of contemporary societies, social scientists are increasingly urged to take a position on it.
The premise of this course is that to truly grasp what is at stake with AI, we must first understand what AI actually is. This means exploring its origins, its history, and the intellectual movements that have shaped it. It also requires a concrete understanding of what contemporary AI algorithms do. We need to intuitively grasp the difference between expert systems and connectionist approaches, understand why Transformer architectures have revolutionized content analysis, and why neural networks are often said to be "better at prediction than explanation." Familiarity with key concepts-such as RLHF, train/test/dev sets, AGI, and zero- and few-shot learning-is also essential for anyone seeking to study contemporary societies.
The idea is also to create a space where we can collectively discuss and reflect on AI to better understand its use, its possibilities, and its risks. The course is truly centered on collective discussion, fostering critical and in-depth exchanges on these issues.
To achieve this, the course follows an original structure. It alternates between (few) technical sessions, where we will examine how AI tools function, and specialized sessions, where we will analyze the role of AI in specific fields (work, politics, science) and domains (surveillance, algorithmic recommendation). Given their central role in many debates and their widespread use in the social sciences, particular attention will be paid to Large Language Models (LLMs).
It is important to note that this is not a course on AI or machine learning, and no prior computing or statistical skills are required. However, a willingness to engage with technical concepts will be beneficial.

Notes:
By the end of this course, students will be able to:
1. Understand
   Explain the key concepts, historical developments, and technical foundations of AI in the context of the social sciences.
   Differentiate between symbolic AI, connectionist approaches, and machine learning methodologies.
1. Apply
   Identify which AI tools are best suited for different research problems in the social sciences.
   Critically assess the impact of AI in domains like politics, work, and media using empirical examples.
1. Analyze
   Evaluate the role of large language models (LLMs) in shaping discourse and decision-making.
   Identify biases in AI systems and assess their implications for social research.
1. Evaluate
   Debate the ethical and methodological challenges of AI in the social sciences.
   Develop independent research arguments on the societal impact of AI.

Event Summer School Ethnographischer Film WASSER
06UE506o403a / Exercise Group / 3,016

Description:

Business event contents:
Der Einsatz des ethnografischen Films als Forschungsmethode hat Tradition am ISEK - Populäre Kulturen. Die Summer School bietet eine konzentrierte zweiwöchige Einführung, vermittelt Grundlagen technischer und künstlerischer Art und erlaubt es den Studierenden, einen Film von 5-10 Minuten herzustellen und diesen an einer abschliessenden Filmpremiere Interessierten vorzustellen. Gearbeitet wird in Gruppen von drei bis vier Studierenden. Gemeinsames Thema der entstehenden Filme ist Wasser.

Wasser ist nicht nur überlebenswichtiges Element, wirtschaftlich genutzte Ressource und Lebensraum für viele Tiere und Pflanzen, sondern auch ein symbolisch und poetisch aufgeladener gesellschaftlicher (Be-)Deutungsgegenstand, Begegnungs- und Aushandlungsraum sowie Austragungsort politischer, ethischer und gestalterischer Debatten. Entlang von Wasser und Gewässern lassen sich viele Geschichten über Kultur und Gesellschaft erzählen.

Alle interessierten Studierenden reichen bis zum 20. März eine individuelle Ideenskizze ein, per Mail an rahel.grunder@uzh.ch. Die ausgewählten Ideenskizzen werden bis zum 8. Mai durch die Gruppen in Projektskizzen ausgearbeitet. Das Merkblatt zur Ideen- und Projektskizze findet sich unter dem Link: www.isek.uzh.ch/de/popul%C3%A4rekulturen/studium/merkblaetter.html (https://www.isek.uzh.ch/de/popul%25C3%25A4rekulturen/studium/merkblaetter.html)

Die Ideen- und Projektskizzen sind Voraussetzung für die Teilnahme an den vorbereitenden Veranstaltungen am 24. März und 12. Mai sowie an der Summer School.

Wir raten dazu, ein filmisches Porträt über eine Person zu machen. Beispiele von Filmen, die während der Summer School entstanden sind, finden sich unter: www.isek.uzh.ch/de/populärekulturen/forschung/stud/summerschool.html (https://www.isek.uzh.ch/de/popul%C3%A4rekulturen/forschung/stud/summerschool.html)

Unterrichtsmaterialien:
Kamerasets und Schnittplätze werden zur Verfügung gestellt. Gedreht wird in HD, geschnitten auf Final Cut X.

Notes:
Die Summer School findet vom 15.06 bis 27.06.2026 inkl. Samstage statt.

Der thematische Workshop zur Summer School findet jeweils am 24.03 und 12.05.2026 statt.

Event Herausforderungen der Nachhaltigkeitskommunikation
06SE254o113a / Seminar / 1,486

Description:

Business event contents:
Von Wirtschafts- und Politikakteuren wird heutzutage erwartet, dass sie sich nachhaltig engagieren. Jedoch haben spezifische Vorfälle und bestehende Voreinstellungen die Glaubwürdigkeit dieser Nachhaltigkeitsbemühungen oft in Frage gestellt. In dieser Lehrveranstaltung befassen sich die Studierenden intensiv mit dem Kernkonzept der nachhaltigen Entwicklung und den Herausforderungen, die bei dessen Kommunikation entstehen. Ziel ist es, eine Fallstudie einschliesslich der methodischen Ausführung zu erarbeiten. Ein zentraler Bestandteil der Veranstaltung ist die Gruppenarbeit an einem realen Praxisfall, bei der die Studierenden theoretische Konzepte praktisch anwenden.

Notes:
Es wird erwartet, dass die Studierenden zwischen den Sitzung eigenständig an ihren Projekten arbeiten und die Seminarsitzungen als Austausch nutzen, um den Projektstand zu präsentieren und das weitere Vorgehen zu diskutieren.

Geeignet für Studierende, die...

- intrinsisch motiviert arbeiten.
- gerne selbstorganisiert und kreativ agieren.
- Resilienz mitbringen und aus Fehlern lernen.
- Freude daran haben, sich eigene Aufgaben zu stellen.

Nicht geeignet für Studierende, die...
- Aufgaben nur auf äusseren Anstoss hin bearbeiten.
- Planbarkeit und Sicherheit über Eigenverantwortung stellen.
- von aussen klare Vorgaben und strukturierte Abläufe benötigen.
- keinen Zugang zur sozialwissenschaftlicher Forschungsfreude haben.

Event Auditory Biomechanics
07VUBME352 / Block Course / 325

Description:

Business event contents:
The human ear has evolved to perceive a wide variety of sounds, where the ratio in amplitude between the quietest and loudest sound can be more than 1:1’000’000. State of the art auditory research combines multi-disciplinary efforts from a wide range of fields such as physics, mechanics, fluid dynamics, biology, chemistry, neurology and others. Within this module you will get a basic background in the bio-mechanics of the hearing process and see some of the current research areas and challenges.
The students will do a practical project work with focus on modelling the mechanics of the inner ear, including hands on experimental work with physical testing and data processing (Learning and use of Matlab programming) to analyse mechanical materials properties. The student will summarize and submit their work in a scientific report.

Event Field studies on high mountain processes: Field course
07PRGEO411.2 / Praktikum / 1,027

Description:

Business event contents:
In the field course the students work in groups on their own field- projects related to high mountain processes and apply the methods and tools from the preparatory seminar. In the week following the field course the data will be analysed and the results of the project will be presented by the group in an oral presentation and a written, scientific report (counting 20% and 30%, respectively).

The field course takes place in the Witenwasserengletscher area (south of Realp) and we stay at the Rotondohütte SAC. A mid-week 1-day excursion in the nearer area will further widen the experience and understanding of high mountain environments.

Notes:
Attendance of the preparatory seminars (GEO411.1) in Spring Semester (FS) is compulsory for the field course.

Costs for the field course are approx. CHF 380.00 per student, excluding train ticket and subject to small changes. A general physical fitness and ability to hike and move around in mountainous terrain is required.

Note: field course, post-fieldcourse sessions are all compulsory - check your availability!

Event Fachdidaktik Pädagogik und Psychologie III: ‘Projekt Unterrichtsreihe’ und Projektunterricht im Unterrichtsfach PP
06SE090PP3 / Seminar / 993

Description:

Business event contents:
Im Zentrum des Seminars steht die Entwicklung einer Unterrichtsreihe zu einem unterrichtsrelevanten Thema des Schwerpunktfachs PPP. Sie arbeiten in Kleingruppen und transferieren die im Seminar FD-PP-II erarbeiteten didaktischen Hinweise und Erkenntnisse auf Ihre Unterrichtsreihe.

Entsprechend stehen diese Fragen im Zentrum:

- Worauf ist bei der Planung von grösseren Unterrichtssequenzen und der Erstellung einer Unterrichtsreihe zu achten?
- Welche Qualitätskriterien zeichnen Unterrichtsreihen aus?
- Welche Rahmenbedingungen ermöglichen Lehrpersonen den Schüler*innen ein aktives und kooperatives Arbeiten in grösseren Unterrichtssequenzen?
- Wie können Exkursionen und Studienwochen grössere Unterrichtssequenzen auf lernförderliche Weise bereichern?

Notes:
Sie haben das erste Modul 'Fachdidaktik Pädagogik Psychologie' bestanden, die Übungslektionen erfolgreich absolviert und das zweite Modul 'Fachdidaktik Pädagogik Psychologie' gebucht oder bereits bestanden.

Falls Sie noch nicht über alle fachwissenschaftlichen Voraussetzungen verfügen, erwerben Sie diese bzw. die durch die UZH verfügten Auflagen parallel zum Studiengang und bearbeiten die den Fachdidaktikkurs ergänzende Fachlektüre.

Die erste Veranstaltung und letzte Veranstaltung dieses Moduls sind obligatorisch. In der ersten Veranstaltung werden die Gruppen und Projektschritte vereinbart, in der letzten Veranstaltung wird über Praktika und über die berufspraktische sowie fachdidaktische Prüfung informiert.

Regelmässige Präsenz in der Lehrveranstaltung wird erwartet.

Event Forschungsseminar (Beginn HS 2025), Teil II
06SE226-513b / Seminar / 1,106

Description:

Business event contents:
Wenn in den letzten Jahren in der Öffentlichkeit Expert:innen zu Lernen zu Wort kommen, sind dies vorwiegend Psycholog:innen mit einem neurowissenschaftlichen Hintergrund. Lernen ist aus dieser Perspektive ein Prozess, der im Gehirn abläuft: Auf neuronaler Ebene werden Informationen so verarbeitet, dass sie dauerhaft abrufbar bleiben. Es existieren jedoch zahlreiche, sehr unterschiedliche Vorstellungen von bzw. Perspektiven auf Lernen: In der Bildungspolitik etwa das «lebenslange Lernen» der UNESCO, in der aktuellen Schulpraxis das «selbstgesteuerte» und «soziale Lernen», auf theoretischer Ebene dasphänomenologische Konzept «Lernen aus Erfahrung» oder in der Epistemologie die Grundsatzfragen nach den Voraussetzungen für Erkenntnis. Über die Zeit hinweg haben sich Vorstellungen davon, was Lernen ist und wie es funktioniert zudem stets verändert: Von Reiz-Reaktionsmodellen, über leibphänomenologische Theorien hinzu Kognitionspsychologie oder Vorstellungen des Gehirns als einer neuronalen Lernmaschine.
Das Forschungsseminar widmet sich der Geschichte und Gegenwart des Lernens. Im Zentrum stehen Fragen wie: Was hat dazu geführt, dass Vorstellungen von Lernen als neuronale Informationsverarbeitung heute dominieren? Welche pädagogischen und philosophischen Einwände wurden und werden gegen eine solche Sicht vorgebracht? Wie werden Lernprozesse in Pädagogik und Psychologie beforscht? Wie wurden und werden sie empirisch erfasst? Welche Rolle spiel(t)en unterschiedliche Auffassungen von Lernen in Bildungsreformen? Welche impliziten Vorstellungen von Lernen haben Akteurinnen und Akteure im Bildungssystem? Auf welchen Lernkonzepten basieren (aktuelle) Lehrmittel? Welche alltagsweltlichen Vorstellungen von Lernen lassen sich rekonstruieren? Welchen Zugang zum Lernbegriff haben andere Disziplinen wie die Biologie oder die (Computer)linguistik?
Ausgehend von diesen skizzierten Themenschwerpunkten werden die Studierenden im Seminar dazu angeleitet, eine eigenständige Forschungsarbeit zu konzipieren und durchzuführen. Die studentischen Forschungsprojekte sind entweder gegenwartsbezogen quantitativ/qualitativ ausgerichtet oder historisch angelegt.
Sie werden entweder anhand öffentlich zugänglicher Bildungsdaten, selbst erhobenem Datenmaterial oder recherchierten Archiv- bzw. Quellenmaterialien bearbeitet. Eine Zusammenarbeit mit der Fachstelle Methoden ist vorgesehen.
Aufgrund der weit gefassten Forschungsperspektiven können unterschiedliche Fragestellungen mit verschiedenen erziehungswissenschaftlichen Forschungsmethoden bearbeitet werden, so dass das Forschungsseminar eine grosse Bandbreite an Interessenslagen von Studierenden abzudecken vermag.
